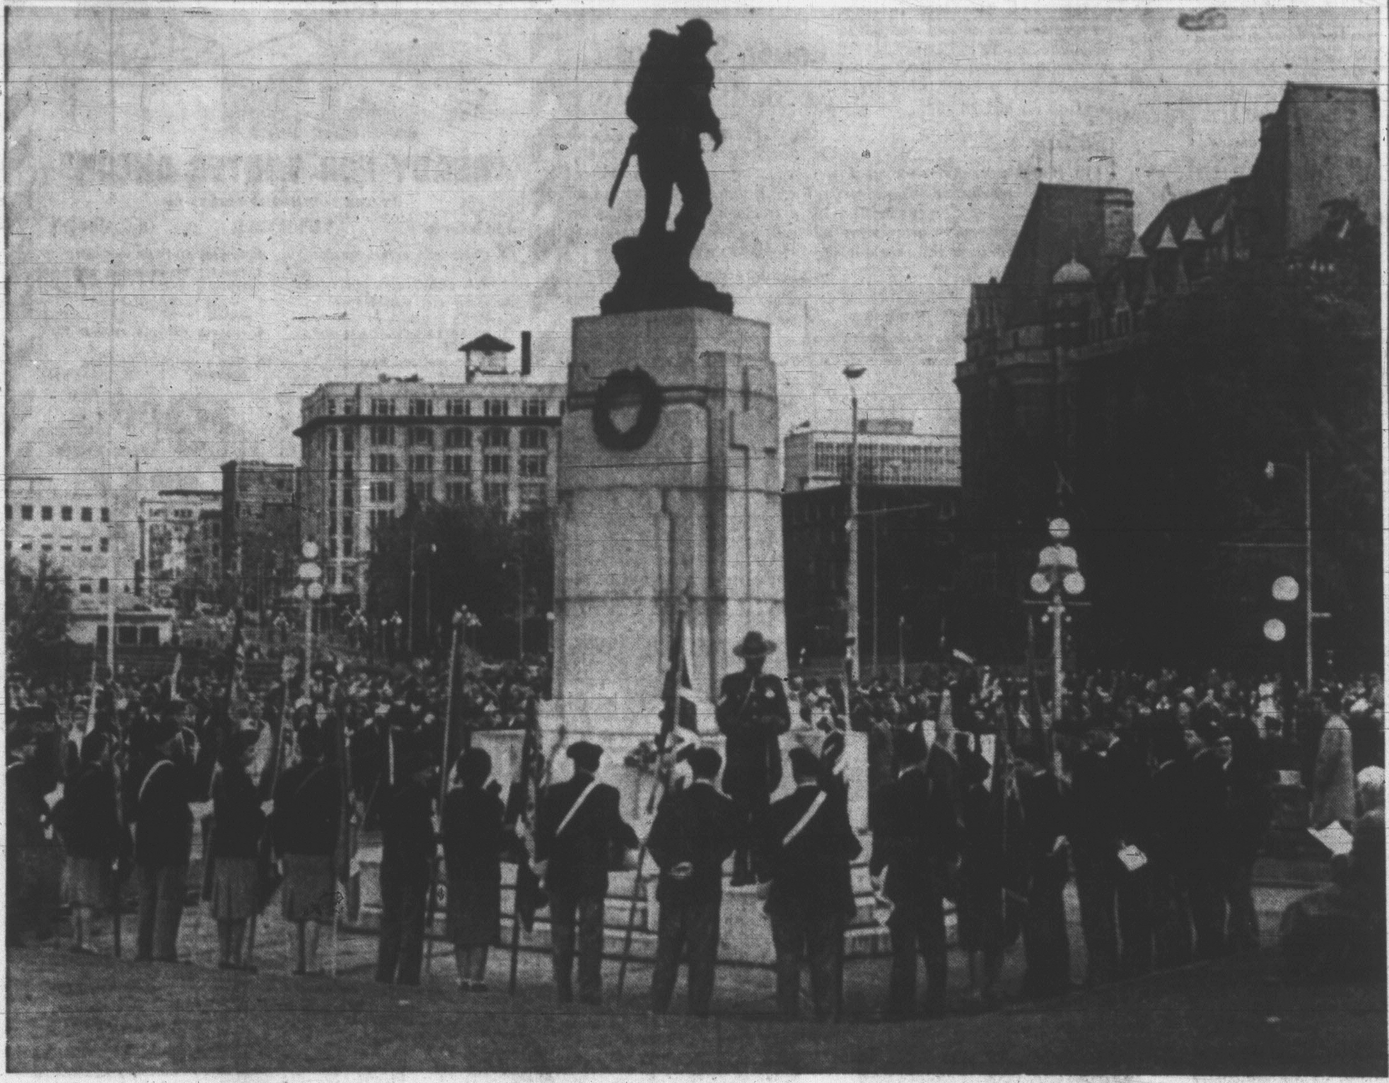
Britain Boosts Taxes On Incomes, Gasoline

HIKE INADEQUATE, CLAIM WAR VETERANS

OTTAWA (CP)—The 250,000-member Royal Canadian Legion today described as "grossly inadequate" the 10-per-cent increase in war disability pensions announced Tuesday by the government. (See story Page 8.)

In its annual submission to the cabinet, the Legion said the increase "falls far short" of the requirements of war pensioners as set out in previous briefs to the government.



MEN AND WOMEN of the Royal Canadian Legion gather at Victoria Cenotaph for annual Remembrance Day service organized by the Legion in memory of fallen comrades of the First and Second World Wars and the Korean War. Total attendance at the service was estimated at about 4,000. (See Pages 2 and 19.)

U.S. Decides To Abolish War Excise Tax

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has decided to recommend a 1965 excise tax cut that may approach $2,000,000,000. It would stretch the spending money of almost every person in the United States.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, an overnight guest at the LBJ Ranch near here, reported Wednesday that Johnson had agreed to a basic decision to abolish all $550,000,000 of excise taxes added to the retail price of cosmetics and toilet goods, jewelry, furs, luggage and pocketbooks.

These war-born taxes boost purchase prices by 10 per cent.

In addition, Dillon told a press conference, Johnson will ask Congress in January to reduce still other excise taxes that would add "a good bit more" to the total size of the proposed tax cut.

Dillon said the maximum possible tax saving would be $4,000,000,000. And he emphasized that such a figure was sure to prove too high.

At another point, he spoke of possible action on 65 to 70 different excise levies that net the government nearly $2,000,000,000 a year.

Most experts believe the total tax cut to be recommended by Johnson—and this decision still was up in the air — would amount to somewhere between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

Dillon said he thought "this would be a rather easy bill to pass" in Congress and he expects the proposed tax cuts to take effect next July 1.

Labor Budget Raises Pensions

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Britain's first Socialist budget in 13 years lifted the spirits of widows and pensioners Wednesday but caused stabs of pain among many others with its increased gasoline and income taxes.

The Tory opposition opened its main attack in the House of Commons today, following up Sir Alec Douglas-Home's initial comment that the budget is only the "tip of the iceberg" in Labor government taxation.

The general newspaper reaction is that the dose of strong medicine is no more powerful or distasteful than had been expected from James Callaghan, 52-year-old chancellor of the exchequer.

Delivering his autumn emergency budget, Callaghan said his main aims were to remedy Britain's big overseas trading deficit, combat inflation at home and apply taxation to ensure social justice for the needy.

SIXPENNY HOISTS

The budget slapped a sixpence (7½-cent) tax hoist on a gallon of gasoline, lifting premium prices to about 80 cents.

It also placed a sixpence increase on the basic income-tax rate, meaning that a married couple with two children and an income of £1,600 ($4,800) annually will pay £233 12s ($700.80) compared with the present £224 6d ($672.07). The new rate, effective April 6, means Britons will be paying 41¼ per cent of wages in tax.

Callaghan announced he will introduce a tougher capital gains tax in his main spring budget and will also propose a new corporation tax to replace the present 15-per-cent company profit tax and company income levy.

The budget did little to answer the big question of how long Prime Minister Harold Wilson, with a margin of only five in the 630-member House of Commons, is likely to continue before calling a new general election.

"No government would willingly face the country soon after putting sixpence on petrol and income tax," says the Conservative Daily Express.

TIPS MAY ELECTION

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph reports many Tories see the budget as the forerunner of an election next May or June.

"The main burden of the April budget is clearly intended to be borne by business and the investor, rather than by the individual wage or salary earner," says The Telegraph.

Callaghan said he is determined to plug tax loopholes and make sure rewards go to workers and diligent businessmen rather than speculators.

He said his measures were important "in creating the climate that will make possible the achievement of an incomes and prices policy. No country in

. . . 'no importance'

Lesage Dined By De Gaulle; Envoy Absent

PARIS (UPI)—Quebec Premier Jean Lesage was entertained at lunch by President Charles de Gaulle today but Canadian Ambassador Jules Leger was not invited.

Immediately after the Elysee Palace lunch, Premier Lesage drove to the airport where he boarded a plane for Montreal.

Diplomatic observers believed de Gaulle did not invite Leger because he still feels irritated over a statement the ambassador made while presenting credentials June 1.

In his statement Leger had hinted that France should keep out of Canadian internal problems.

Later Lesage said that de Gaulle has agreed to a considerable increase in cultural exchanges between Quebec and France.

At a press conference Wednesday, Lesage told French reporters extremists advocating Quebec's independence from the rest of Canada were "a little band of no importance."

Riot Squads Stand Ready

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Cabinet ministers tumbled out of bed before dawn today and hurried into meetings amid reports of unrest in the Argentine armed forces.

Without explanation, officials ordered police riot squads to their barracks — a standby alert.

SOUTH VIET NAM

Flood Toll Hits 5,000

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The most disastrous floods in more than 60 years swept across 10 provinces north of Saigon today and relief officials estimated 5,000 or more persons have perished.

U.S. aircraft defied downpours and Communist guerrilla fire to ferry supplies to the disaster area and to bring out refugees. The United States flew in more supplies from bases in Okinawa and the Philippines to help cope with the mounting disaster.

Officials estimated 7,000 square miles had been swept bare and isolated from the rest of the country. Thousands of persons were homeless, some areas were almost denuded of livestock, and bridges and railways were washed away.

Flood waters ripped out about 200 miles of the country's only north-south railway and arterial road between Saigon and the stricken area. The lines run to Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, the capital. Officials estimated it might take years to get these lifelines operating again at capacity.

Many of the victims were drowned when flood waters burst out of the mountains in Wuang Tin province, where relief officials estimated 14,000 houses were washed away.

A U.S. military spokesman said 1,400 homes were destroyed in Quang Nam province and 36,000 others were damaged.

DRAFT RING UNCOVERED BY POLICE

SAIGON (AP) — A military draft scandal showed up Wednesday among flood relief, political and other problems besetting South Viet Nam.

Police sources said they uncovered a ring, involving officials in the former government of Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh, that has sold exemption papers to South Vietnamese youths conscripted for military service against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The price for avoidance of duty in the U.S.-supported South Vietnamese armed forces, they said, ranged from the equivalent of $750 to $1,500. That would be too high for peasants, but within the means of wealthy families.

PAIR BLASTS PATH WEST

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI) — Two East German border guards machine-gunned a safe path through a mine field Wednesday and fled to the west, it was announced today.

West German customs officials at Northeim said the pair, a 25-year-old private first class and a 20-year-old private in the East German "people's army," were not injured as they sprayed bullets in front of them on their escape route.

Pension Test Set Before Flag Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A reliable informant said today the government plans to test how quickly the Commons is prepared to put the Canadian Pension Plan through the next legislative stages before starting the flag debate.

Debate on second reading—approval in principle—on the pension plan is expected to open next week in hopes of getting it into a parliamentary committee to which interested persons and groups can make representations.

An informant said that if it appears the plan can be put into a committee in four or five days the government probably will hold off the flag debate until toward the end of November.

U.S. Atom Sub Sparks Riots Across Japan

By KEVIN GARRY

SASEBO (Reuters) — Police today clashed with thousands of demonstrators throughout Japan protesting the arrival of the first U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to visit the country.

The 2,552-ton Sea Dragon nosed its way through heavy rain into the U.S. naval base at Sasebo and set off a wave of left-wing protest.

While 1,800 police dealt with some 2,000 socialists and students outside the base here, demonstrators in Tokyo broke the windows of police armored cars and blocked traffic on main streets.

National police estimated about 27,000 left-wingers staged anti-Sea Dragon demonstrations in 23 other Japanese cities today.

The demonstrations at Sasebo fizzled out before the strength of the police. They arrested 15 students who tried repeatedly to charge the 10-deep police lines 200 yards from the base's main gate.

Nine persons were reported injured in the Sasebo demonstrations.

WELCOME SKIPPER

The mayor of Sasebo, Japanese naval officers and U.S. embassy official were taken aboard the Sea Dragon to welcome the skipper, Cmdr. Douglas Guthe, 37, of Pawling, N.Y.

The security measure headquarters of Sasebo City collected sea water in the harbor to check on any possible radioactivity discharge from the submarine.

Later in the day about 100 members of the Sea Dragon's crew went ashore and entered the city in small groups, unnoticed by the demonstrators.

The officially-announced purpose of the visit was to provide shore leave for the crew of the nuclear-powered vessel.

The Sea Dragon, commissioned five years ago, has since sailed 140,000 miles, mostly under water.

As the demonstrators outside the base's gate kept up a barrage of chanted slogans, townspeople at Sasebo mounted a small counter demonstration with a fleet of cars led by a loudspeaker truck which proclaimed a "welcome to the U.S. Navy".

The leftists claimed the sub's visit is a step toward introduction of nuclear weapons into Japan.

LACK NUCLEAR TIPS

But Washington officials have pointed out the Sea Dragon and other attack-type submarines in the Pacific Fleet which may call in the months ahead are not armed with nuclear-tipped weapons. They presumably will be in the more distant future.

Canada Joins Appeal To Avert UN Crisis

(See story page 32)

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Representatives of Canada, Japan and Italy met with Secretary-General U Thant today to put forward a suggestion that would avert a preliminary showdown Monday on the United Nations financial issue.

They suggested the postponement, until about Dec. 8, of Monday's scheduled pledging conference for technical assistance programs.

The United States has threatened to withhold its annual pledge to these voluntary programs if the Russians refuse to pay up on overdue peace-keeping assessments.

A qualified source said the U.S. was "not unhappy" about the suggestion that the conference be put off.

NO STONE LEFT UNTURNED TO PROVE TON WAS SHORT

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—David Preece, who ordered a ton of paving stones for his garden, sized up what had been delivered and decided it wasn't enough.

He removed his scales from the bathroom, took them to his garage and piece by piece weighed the delivered stones.

"It took me 45 minutes to weigh them," he said. "And it was jolly hard work, but I proved my point."

Preece said he found the stones were 605 pounds short of a ton. He telephoned the quarry from which he had ordered the stones and told them of the shortage.

"They got a shock when I told them I used my bathroom scales," he said, "but they sent me another load of stones."

ENCOUNTER IN U.K.

Gad, Sir, It's a Mountain Lion

LONDON (AP)—A mountain lion stared down two British bobbies today and then took it on the lam.

The brief encounter occurred at Stoke Poges in Buckinghamshire, which thus became the fourth English county to be included in the beast's roaming area. He had previously turned up in Hampshire, Surrey and Sussex.

What a mountain lion is doing in the south of England is a mystery. It is native to North and South America but not to the British Isles.

There is some evidence that the roving animal has thought of trying to make it back to the Americas by plane—he has twice been spotted loping around the runways of an airfield at Farnborough.

GOLFERS STUNNED

Astonished golfers at the West Surrey Club in Godalming recently saw him sniffing at the 17th hole.

Near Horsham, Sussex, a woman found him scratching in her garden.

In each case the animal fled.

He turned up today in the Stoke Poges churchyard made famous by Thomas Gray in his poem, Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard. Two highway patrolmen saw him and stopped their car.

From a distance of 10 feet, the policemen stared at the mountain lion and the mountain lion stared at them. British policemen do not carry guns on their normal rounds, so there was nothing much the patrolmen could do.

The mountain lion finally strode off into a nearby meadow.

Armed police with tracker dogs were called to the area. They found paw marks of the five-foot cat but that was all.

Remembrance Day Crowds Grow But Some Old Faces Disappear

BY NORMAN CRIBBENS

Every year some of the old faces disappear, yet somehow the attendance at Victoria's Remembrance Day parade grows larger.

Some 4,000 men and women braved a chill wind to join the main service at the Cenotaph Wednesday and the turn-out of nearly 500 veterans drew a special vote of thanks from Col. H. E. S. Blades, parade marshal.

"I want you to know how much I appreciate your support," he said. "I thank you for it and I hope we shall all meet again this time next year."

Clem Gill, secretary of the Pro Patria branch, Royal Canadian Legion, struck a critical note. After the words "We will remember them" had been spoken by the gathering at the Cenotaph, he said:

"It is to be regretted that the affirmation just made here is not shared by many at home and overseas . . .

"It is therefore necessary—50 years after the outbreak of the First World War—to consider and furnish answers to three questions: What is the meaning of Remembrance Day? How should Remembrance Day be observed? How many of us realize its true significance?"

Mr. McGill said Remembrance Day should be the culmination of a year of remembrance and the start of a new year of remembrance.

"It is only by constantly reminding ourselves of the sacrifice made on our behalf that the present security can be maintained.

"Those of us who served in the two world wars and the Korean war should need no reminder. Those who have grown up since must be taught that it is as much their duty to remember the fallen as it is ours."

Oldest veteran on parade was Major William Garrard, 85, who served in the South African War with the 87th and 89th Royal Irish Fusiliers.

He has been on every Remembrance Day parade in Victoria since 1919.

"I joined up in Belfast in 1899," the slim, blue-eyed old soldier said, "and what an age ago that seems! I was privileged to take part in both the relief of Mafeking and the relief of Pretoria.

"That sounds pretty old-fashioned now but the basic values—courage and devotion to duty—were the same."

Major Garrard, who lives at 2724 Sea View, said this year's parade was one of the best he could remember.

Marching Time

"In other years we've had snow, sleet, hail and rain. Today we have real marching weather—clear, cold and sunny."

Veterans of the two world wars and the Korean war marched to the Cenotaph with men of the armed services, the women's auxiliaries and the cadet corps.

Crowds gathered on the steps of the Legislative Buildings on Bellevue and along Government as Rev. A. W. Gollmer conducted the traditional service.

A gun salute by the 5th B.C. Independent Medium Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, marked the beginning and end of the two minutes' silence.

Mr. Gill then recited Laurence Binyon's famous lines "They shall not grow old as we that are left grow old."

Pipe-Major Frank Knight and members of the Canadian Scottish Pipe Band played the lament Flowers of the Forest and the Band of HMCS Naden accompanied the singing of the hymn The Silent Tribute.

Prayers by Mr. Gollmer were followed by the hymn O Valiant Hearts and the benediction.

The Canadian Red Ensign was lowered during the sounding of The Last Post and raised during The Reveille.

Wreaths were laid on the Cenotaph after the singing of O Canada and the National Anthem.

All Mothers

Mrs. E. Margaret Bird, 470 Head Street, represented the bereaved mothers of British Columbia by placing a wreath in memory of her son, Robert Francis Bird, who was killed while flying over Germany on Jan. 17, 1943.

Wreaths were also placed by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes; B.C. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor R. B. Wilson, the reeves of Greater Victoria, heads of the three armed services, the RCMP, the Red Cross, the IODE, the women's auxiliaries and representatives of the federal government, the churches and the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The lieutenant-governor then took the salute from servicemen and veterans at a march past the Empress Hotel.

Similar observances were held throughout Greater Victoria.

Walter Cownden was master of ceremonies at a well-attended service at Saanich's Peace Memorial Gore Park, Shelbourne St. Prayers were offered by Rev. Harry Pike and Rev. Douglas Secondary School band directed by Robert Bergeson.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean, D.D., conducted the annual service in Pioneer Square organized by the Canadian Scottish Regimental Association and the attendance was up on last Nov. 11.

Salute

In Esquimalt, Archdeacon A. E. Hendy conducted a service in Memorial Park, opposite the municipal hall, and Commodore H. A. Winnett took the salute at a march past.

The Oak Bay Remembrance service in Uplands Park was conducted by Rev. Alexander Calder, Rev. H. J. Jones and Rev. R. O. Wilkes.

Services were also held at HMCS Naden; Sanscha Hall, Sidney; Sooke Cenotaph; Fulford Harbor and in St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral, Victoria.

E. BERLIN VISIT OVER UNTIL YULE

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners today passed through the wall for their last visits to East Berlin until the Christmas season.

Since Oct. about 600,000 West Berliners have entered East Berlin to visit relatives there under an agreement between the West Berlin and East German Government.

The agreement provides that visits may be made again between Dec. 19 and Jan. 3.

However, the communists today made a veiled threat to call off the agreement unless the West Berlin city government halts the free sale of East marks in West Berlin. One West mark buys three East marks on the free market although the East German Government rate is one to one.

Bed Probe Inconclusive, Says Martin

Health Minister Eric Martin Tuesday said he was disappointed with local investigations of the hospital bed shortage.

He issued a statement Tuesday suggesting investigations by a sub-committee of Victoria and District Hospital Administrators' Council was inconclusive.

The minister was also perturbed because the report's main points were made public before he was advised of the findings.

'DISAPPOINTED'

"I have not received a copy of the report . . . and therefore cannot comment on its contents, although I wish to say how disappointed I am to have this document released in this way, since I requested the report and expected it would be submitted to me . . ." he said.

He added that he had asked the probers to determine if existing hospital beds were being used to best advantage.

He said he had asked last June whether there should be more intensive screening of patients, more transfers of patients who did not require intensive treatment, from Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's to Gorge Road Hospital and Queen Alexander Solarium.

NO REPORT MADE

He had heard nothing in this regard, the minister said. The investigating committee, headed by Queen Alexandra Solarium administrator, John S. Holdstock, reported only that 160 more beds were required in acute-treatment hospitals. It left the problem of providing the beds and staff to service them, to a proposed Metropolitan Hospitals Planning Council.

Mr. Martin said he had pointed out earlier that 1964 would see an increase of 19,000 patient days care. He had anticipated an increase of 650 patients in the first four months of this year, but the increase was only 395.

He did not feel that Gorge Road Hospital and Queen Alexandra facilities were being used to capacity, while the average stay in the acute hospitals was longer.

It had increased from 10.8 days to 11.1 days, he said, referring to the first nine months of this year. Mr. Martin said if the average stay had not increased, 568 additional acutely-ill patients could have been accommodated.

Improvement, he said, was up to the medical profession.

LONGER STAY

"I am not suggesting these beds are being improperly utilized," he said. But he pointed out that doctors are letting patients stay in hospital longer.

"I am quite sure the doctors will co-operate once they realize what the situation is," said the minister.

He doubted that hospital waiting lists affect some 1,300 people. Many of those waiting have been assigned admission dates, he said, and should not be classed as "waiting."

. . . BUDGET

the world has yet achieved this, but great rewards await the country that can first secure such a policy."

A main object of the budget was to provide the legal background for Britain's recently-instituted 15-per-cent surcharge on imports.

Callaghan asked powers to run until Nov. 30, 1965, renewable for another year by parliamentary action. However, he said he intended to review the arrangements well before next November, with a first review probably next spring.

LEVY ON NEWSPRINT

Canada's supplies of newsprint to Britain will remain under the levy although Callaghan made exceptions of books, periodicals, ships and aircraft.

"It is not our objective to cushion British industry from competition," he said. "If British producers use the protective effect to raise their prices unwarrantably then we shall ensure that the price review body which is about to be set up will investigate and adjudicate on their actions."

The 6,500,000-member Trades Union Congress described the budget as fair and "sensible" but some union leaders said—in a comment that sounded ominous for Callaghan's incomes-policy hopes—that it may lead to new wage demands when the tax increase is felt next spring, just as union conferences are starting.

Callaghan predicted an overall deficit for Britain at the end of the 1964-65 year of up to £450,000,000, compared with the £791,000,000 predicted by the Tory government last April.

He placed at £130,000,000 the cost to the government of providing increases to Britain's 8,500,000 pensioners and beneficiaries of various types. The two-shilling charge on prescriptions under the health plan was abolished.

The pension for a retired married couple will be raised from $16.50 a week to about $19.50.

The weekly unemployment benefit will also be raised, from $10 to $12. Workers will pay a larger amount into the national insurance plan, which includes sickness and unemployment benefits.

Forced Work Blasted By UN Group

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—A special United Nations committee Tuesday accused large foreign-owned corporations operating in South-West Africa of using forced labor and asked the General Assembly to condemn them.

The committee on ending colonialism singled out Britain and the United States and asked that governments of these and other trading nations put pressure on companies to withdraw from the territory, which South Africa runs under an old League of Nations mandate.

U.S. delegate Dwight Dickinson voted against the report and said his delegation resented the allegation that Britain and the United States were the main supports of South African apartheid racial segregation.

Britain, Australia and Italy also voted against the report. There were 16 votes with four abstentions.

Interests named were: De Beers Consolidated, American oil millionaire J. Paul Getty, Tidewater Oil Company and American Metals-Climax.

Impaired Drivers Each Fined $350

A motorist arrested after he almost hit a power pole at Douglas and Bay Saturday night was fined $350 in city court Monday for impaired driving.

Harvey Moran, 420 Hillside, was also prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for six months.

Predrag Rumenovish, who recently came to Victoria from Eastern Canada, was also fined $350 for impaired driving.

However Magistrate J. A. Byers allowed him to retain his licence so long as he drive only on business for six months.

Rumenovich was charged after his car hit the sidewalk in the 100-block Dallas Road early Sunday. The impact snapped one wheel off his car.

Court Rules Island Man Must Plead

The B.C. Court of Appeal has ruled that Robert A. Foulis, Salt Spring Island, must plead guilty or not guilty to seven charges of fraud involving the sum of $238,550.

He will be asked to plead to these charges in city magistrate's court, but the date of the appearance has not yet been set. Magistrate William Ostler refused to quash the charges of fraud against Foulis and his ruling has been upheld by Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton in Supreme Court and by the Appeals Court.

The charges against Foulis are concerned with a scheme involving the buying and reselling of liquor to cabarets and cocktail bars.

Tot's Death Cause Can't Be Determined

The exact cause of one-year-old Shelley McCoys death could not be determined, an inquest was told Tuesday.

Hospital pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely said an autopsy was inconclusive into the death of the infant aughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCoy, 940 Jasmine.

She died Oct 5 in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

On the death certificate, death was tentatively attributed to aspirin poisoning.

The child was admitted Oct 3, and her breathing stopped when she was put in a crib in a children's ward.

She responded to mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

When pediatrician Dr. David Boyd was called in, tests were taken which showed an aspiring breakdown.

The father had told the doctor the child was given six or seven aspirins during the preceding 30 or 36 hours at home as treatment for a cold.

NOT EXCESSIVE

"I did not feel that was excessive at the time," testified the doctor.

Also treating the child at hospital was the family physician, Dr. R. N. Young.

Dr. Boyd told the jury he and Dr. Young had been considering every possibility rising from the child's symptoms.

He said there was a possibility encephalitis resulting in brain damage could have been a contributing factor.

The inquest is to continue tonight at 7:30 in the Saanich police courtroom.

Labor Survives Second Test Vote

LONDON (CP) — Britain's new Labor government survived an opposition motion of no confidence Tuesday night by a majority of 21 votes, its second major parliamentary test in two days.

The vote was 315 to 294.

Labor's official over-all majority in the House of Commons is only five. The government won Monday's test by six votes.

The second clash in what one newspaper terms the "phoney war" of the new Parliament came over the Conservative motion that Labor's program would damage Britain's modernization and imperil the well-being of the people. Liberals voted with the government against the Tories.

PERON LEAVES SPAIN, THOUGHT 'HOME-BOUND

MADRID (Reuters)—Juan Peron, former Argentine president now living in exile in Spain, has left Madrid and is believed bound for Portugal, usually reliable source said today.

The report came on the heels of lively speculation about the possibility that Peron was carrying out his promise to return to Argentina, which followed the departure earlier today of members of a visiting "committee for the return of Peron."

Peron's private secretary left Wednesday with a plane ticket to Chile, but disembarked at Buenos Aires, Argentina, where he told reporters he was travelling on "private affairs."

WHEAT CROP MAY BE LOST

Drought Hits U.S. Plains

DENVER (AP) — Drought is baking Colorado, possibly opening the way for disaster unless moisture comes soon.

Over the vast eastern plains of the United States cattle nibble at weeds and wheat lies on the ground unable to sprout.

High along the continental divide, many mountainsides which should be deep under snow lie bare in the sunshine, despite a new eight-inch fall in the southwest.

Water levels in reservoirs inch lower day by day.

"It is hard to estimate the potential for trouble which exists," Governor John A. Love told a reporter today in summing up the situation.

Underground water tables are dropping, but no one can tell yet just how much, said George Colburn, state ground water engineer.

Laurence Phelps of the Colorado department of agriculture has expressed fear the 1965 Colorado wheat crop will be almost a total loss. Usually wheat brings in $100,000,000.

Drought is nothing new to the plains — but this is the third year and the effect is cumulative. All of the state except northwest Colorado is dry, said Ralph Owens, assistant state engineer, but the southeast is hardest hit.

Even so, there are some bright spots.

Despite a bad wheat crop, irrigation helped bring in sugar beets, onions and melons and there was enough rain to grow maize and cane for fodder.

Court Orders Rhodesia Gov't To Liberate 17

SALISBURY (AP) — Rhodesia's high court handed Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government a sharp setback today, ruling that African nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo and 16 other Africans are being detained illegally in Gwelo Jail.

Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle and two other judges agreed that the Preventive Detention Act under which the 17 Africans were held is inconsistent with the constitution's declaration of rights.

The court ruled that the government's orders jailing the men should be cancelled.

Nkomo and his associates will not be released immediately, however. The judges suspended their order until Nov. 20 to give the government time to appeal to the Privy Council in London.

The government said it had not decided whether it would appeal.

Government lawyers had told the court that Nkomo and the others had been detained because the government feared their activities might result in a state of emergency.

"If they were released at this stage, that very state of emergency which their detention sought to avoid might result," one lawyer said.

Nkomo, 43, head of the nationalist People's Caretaker Council, has long been the target of the Rhodesian white-supremacy government.

He was arrested in April and ordered detained for a year on charges of stirring unest and disrupting the economy. He and his associates are held in a remote area of central Rhodesia.

When Prime Minister Smith sought to rally a show of African support for his plan to make Rhodesia independent under white rule, the British government rejected a resolution of support from a meeting of African tribal chiefs and headmen because Nkomo and the other nationalist leaders were not consulted.

Curtis Scotches Pussyfoot Charge

Saanich council has not been pushed around by the provincial government, says Reeve Hugh Curtis.

He rejects charges of "council pussyfooting" on the liquor store issue by council candidate Alan J. Newberry.

Mr. Newberry, one of 10 candidates seeking three council posts in the Dec. 12 municipal election, says Saanich should have had a liquor store by now but for council's allowing the senior government to push it around.

"The disproof of that is that we rejected the Borden and Reynolds rezoning at a public hearing," says Reeve Curtis.

The Liquor Control Board had agreed in principle to lease a store there.

The reeve says he believes Saanich still has a good chance of getting a liquor store "where we want it."

Pensions and Payments

THE LONG-AWAITED AND much discussed national pension plan is now before Parliament, with the government's hope that the legislation can be passed at this session for implementation in 1966.

While the principle of the plan appears to be generally accepted across the country, as well as many of its more detailed provisions, there is still a wide lack of information as to how the government's system will fit in with established company pension plans and private annuity programs.

The contributory factor is, of course, essential, and the compulsory aspect seems unavoidable if any plan for security in old age is to apply to as large a percentage of the population as possible. Financial provision for old age, beyond a necessary minimum in cases of unavoidable need, should be a responsibility of each income earner and not of the taxpayers at large. Because of human nature and the many who would be improvident, however, it is necessary for the government to establish a plan for old-age security and arrange for collections to support it.

To the existing basic payment of $75 a month, payable from tax revenue to every eligible citizen on reaching age 70, the new plan would add a maximum of $104 a month payable at 65, derived from a scale of contributions and resultant payments based on the individual's income. There are, in addition, provisions for survivors, who have not heretofore been considered in government plans. Quebec will operate a separate but similar plan.

But the feature which distinguishes this plan from earlier proposals is that benefits will increase with a rising cost-of-living index, and the maximum income on which benefits are based may be raised to conform to a rising national income.

There may be a time bomb in the provision that while existing old age security payments and those of the new plan may be raised to meet a rising cost of living, they cannot under any circumstances be reduced. A future long-term increase in the value of the dollar—a deflationary situation—would find pension payments at an unusually favorable level, although being paid for by deflated dollars. There is the point, too, that when the plan is in full operation, the millions of dollars of purchasing power which it represents should exert an upward influence on prices, so that an unending spiral of higher payments and higher prices is no doubt in prospect.

Another major element in the plan is the proposal to make the large accumulation of pension funds—estimated at $4 billions by 1976—available to the provinces as loans. The effect of some $400 millions a year distributed in this manner, and the uses to which the provinces will put it, have yet to be made clear. It is certain, however, that with adoption of the pension plan, Canada will enter upon a new era of social welfare and a new approach to provincial financing.

Peering Between the Lines

FEDERAL BYELECTION RESULTS are seldom accurate guides to overall national trends, but there are certain features of interest in Monday's contest in the Ontario constituency of Waterloo South which was won by Mr. Max Saltsman for the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Saltsman won handily over his Liberal opponent, a quite recent convert from the NDP whose nomination caused bitter dissension among Liberal supporters, as well as over the Conservative candidate who was attempting to hold the seat which had been won by his late father. Waterloo South has generally been a strong Conservative constituency.

National NDP leader Mr. T. C. Douglas has hailed Mr. Saltsman's victory as a "trend" toward his party in Ontario; National Liberal organizer Mr. Keith Davey said the result represented a repudiation of Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's obstructionist tactics in Parliament; while the disappointed Mr. Diefenbaker blamed the loss to his party on a swing to Mr. Saltsman by disgruntled Liberals.

In analyzing the results and comparing them with the previous election in the constituency, it seems safe to say that there is a measure of truth in all three statements.

The Conservatives dropped about 1,500 votes this time compared with the 1963 election when vote totals in the constituency were about the same as in the byelection, while the Liberals dropped approximately 3,500 votes. In a usually Conservative area this was a definite repudiation of Mr. Diefenbaker's policies, and certainly a heavy blow at the attempts of federal Liberal organizers to foist off on local voters a candidate whom they did not want.

How much of a trend there was toward the NDP is more difficult to say since Mr. Saltsman, a small businessman, exceedingly moderate in his politics and a popular Galt city alderman, was an exceptionally good candidate at a time when political dissatisfaction was rampant in the opposing parties. Some trend to the NDP there must have been in view of the gain of 5,000 votes from the last election. But it is not the sort of trend that can be relied upon in a general election.

A Start on Sex Education

A LARGE NUMBER OF PARENTS whose children attend a Greater Victoria school have approved a demonstration sex education lecture presented for their criticism.

This is scarcely a course in sex education. At the same time it is a start and the nature of the presentation was such that most fathers and mothers who were present will doubtless authorize its delivery to their Grade 8 students at Oak Bay Junior High School. Children of parents who object need not attend.

It is conceivable that a fuller course may develop from this beginning. In the meantime the lecture will obviously emphasize to parents their own responsibilities in this matter. One lecture alone cannot answer all the questions raised by the subject. It will be up to fathers and mothers to receive inquiries from their offspring with understanding and such elaboration in reply as they consider helpful to the children.

Here at least is the opportunity to develop a healthy attitude to sex—an antidote for the unfortunate information, often incorrect, which a child picks up when nothing more authentic is available.

Keep a Thing Long Enough . . .

IT'S A FAIR DISTANCE FROM Detroit to London, but there was a demonstrated unanimity of opinion in those two cities last week on the unlikely topic of Senator Barry Goldwater.

In Detroit, newly-elected Governor Romney of Michigan unexpectedly came out with support for the defeated presidential candidate after having withheld such support during the election campaign. Gov. Romney pointed out that although he disagreed with the Senator he respected him as a man, and that the Republican Party should not be in a hurry to retire its defeated leader to permanent oblivion.

In London, the managers of Madame Tussaud's waxworks, while removing Senator Goldwater's likeness from their public collection, made clear that his features would not be melted down.

"We will put him to one side," they said, "in case he comes in useful later on."

Which must be just about what Gov. Romney has in mind.

'Well Done, Thou . . .'

AT HUNTSVILLE, ALA., THE other day, reports the Associated Press, a band played and several hundred persons watched an interesting retirement ceremony.

They were attending a function at which the leading officials of Redstone Arsenal applauded the record of "Old Reliable", the missile that launched the first United States astronaut into a sub-orbital flight and which was now being relieved of its duties.

"Although the Army is not overly sentimental about equipment that has done its job," said Maj.-Gen. John G. Zierdt, the arsenal commander, "it is no more than right for us to pause for just a moment to give the Redstone a last salute."

If this "is no more than right" perhaps all workmen might "pause for just a moment" to figure out the style of greeting they should give the electronic equipment and computers which are taking over so much of the work at this dawn of automation. Not much chance for advancement for the employee who allows cybernetics to get mad at him.

FROM PARIS

By ANDREW MULLIGAN

De Gaulle—My Rules or No Game

M. COUVE DE MURVILLE, France's foreign minister, was asked bluntly in Parliament whether it was France's policy to withdraw from the Common Market and the Atlantic Alliance. He avoided an answer and left observers to ruminate on how President de Gaulle will play his hand between now and the New Year.

During the debate the Minister expressed France's dissatisfaction with the MLF (America's scheme for multilateral force) in public for the first time and threw some light on the French view of other key issues of the moment, notably the Common Market, European political unity and the Concord.

De Gaulle's dissatisfaction with NATO dates back to 1958, when he stated in a memorandum that French co-operation with NATO would depend upon France's equal role with the U.S. and Britain in having the power to veto the use of American nuclear power anywhere in the world.

European Defence

The multilateral force—a fleet manned by sailors of NATO countries, which is favored by the Johnson administration—would still enable the Americans to maintain control of the integrated defence system of the West. De Gaulle's policy has evolved since 1958. He appears to be actively against any defence system in Europe which is not totally European. He has stated that he might be willing to combine his "force de frappe" (his nuclear force) with similar forces in Europe (which could only mean Britain).

At one time that might have been possible. When the British Labor Government won power its coolness towards MLF gave the French a ray of hope, but it was wrongly interpreted. Britain, on defence matters, is American-orientated as ever and in the past few weeks less economically and politically drawn towards Europe. Even the Dutch and Belgians are regretfully suggesting that they are tired of holding the European door open for Britain.

De Gaulle's vision of a narrow Common Market, excluding Britain, now seems to be crystallizing.

Unfortunately for him "France's fundamental interests are now at stake because of Germany's hesitation in assuming her responsibilities and agreeing to fix her common grain prices." These were Couve de Murville's words. Germany is psychologically committed to the MLF and the French are sympathetic, but no more, towards Germany's plea for the American presence in Europe.

U.S. Alliance

On the other hand, the French, who are courting trade with the East, appear to be perturbed by a possible Russian reaction to German participation in the MLF. Even Dr. Adenauer, during his diplomatic "love affair" with President de Gaulle, was never prepared to sacrifice his alliance with the United States. Dr. Ludwig Erhard, his successor as Chancellor, would be even less so.

To the Germans military security is the prime factor while to the French a Gaullist Europe, with its own defence and foreign policy, is the objective. Accordingly, President de Gaulle has linked both these issues and is using them to precipitate decisions which may enable him to pull out of all foreign commitments with a clear conscience.

On the Common Market issue, cereal prices are to be fixed by Dec. 15, or France has threatened to withdraw. It will be three years before they become operative and it is more likely that the issue is being used as a lever to woo the Germans back into the European fold at the price of its disintegration. The basis of European unity remains Franco-German co-operation "as never before," said Couve de Murville. "If there are difficulties they must be swept away, not the treaty." The French maintain that the present Franco-German rift is entirely due to agriculture and Germany's hesitancy to implement the agricultural balance of the Treaty of Rome.

In a wider context, there are the questions of the Kennedy Round of tariff cuts. The French refuse to discuss cuts until common grain prices have been fixed. But again the French Foreign Minister went further when he viewed with distaste the lowering of European tariffs before European industry has shown itself capable of meeting American competition.

What, in effect, France wants is a narrow European defence policy, a European Common Market with full industrial and agricultural integration and a common foreign policy. If de Gaulle cannot get this he could easily decide to withdraw France from any commitments with the West and trade with Russia, China or Latin America.

Focus of Dissension

At NATO the multilateral force will be the focus of dissension, and in Brussels on December 15 it will be grain prices. The French Foreign Minister was quick to absolve France from blame for either the failure of the Common Market or the dissension in NATO. The former may be true but the latter is not. No leader has been so constantly or openly against the American presence in Europe and no one seriously doubts that France will opt out of both the Common Market and NATO if de Gaulle does not win the rubber. It is a highly dangerous and explosive game.

Strike Upsets Labor Procedure

THE costliest dispute in the history of the Australian automobile industry ended on October 30. It was between General Motors and five trade unions. It ended, after a month of fruitless haggling, with a secret ballot in which the men voted by an overwhelming majority to resume work on terms that amount to an agreement to let bygones be bygones and submit some of their claims to arbitration, others to negotiation.

The strike began on October 2, when 4,000 General Motors employees in the Port Melbourne plant stopped work in support of a claim for an industry allowance of $7.50 a week in excess of prevailing award rates for 8,000 workers in the company's employ. The claim is based on rising living costs and the company's admitted ability to pay. The cost would be more than $3 million a year.

Ultimately the dispute involved 18,300 workers in the five mainland states about a third of whom were stood down for lack of work. It has cost the company, its suppliers and its employees, more than $60 million. The company has lost $40 million in sales, its suppliers $18 million, its workers $5 million in wages. The five unions have been fined nearly $24,000 for disregarding the industrial court's order to return to work.

The calamitous conflict, in which neither side has won, has raised disturbing questions for the two million workers under federal awards, and for the entire country. When the strike started, neither the company nor the unions informed the arbitration commission, although the Arbitration and Conciliation Act required them to do so and to request the commission's mediation.

On the other hand, the company obtained an order from the federal industrial court to the five unions that their members go back to work. When this was disregarded, the company procured a fine of $1,250 against each union. Meanwhile, the federal government has looked on, publicly approving General Motors' refusal to yield to the strikers, but taking no cognizance of the failure of the company and the unions to resort to the processes of law provided to assist peaceful negotiation.

The strike has been more than a test of strength between the company and a group of powerful unions. The fundamental issue raised is whether Australia is to continue to base her industrial relations on a long-established system of conciliation and arbitration, or whether this is to be replaced by free-for-all collective bargaining.

The unions issued the challenge. General Motors declared its resolve to fight until the unions referred their demands to the arbitration commission. The official view at Canberra was that if the company yielded to a shotgun demand, it would touch off more such demands, more strikes and more out-of-court settlements, until the whole process of fixing and enforcing wages and working conditions was in jeopardy — and an incipient inflationary spiral received a perilous impetus.

The federal court of conciliation and arbitration, established in 1904, was split in two by the Menzies government in 1956. A conciliation and arbitration commission was set up to prevent and settle industrial disputes and determine wages and working conditions, and a federal industrial court was established to enforce the commission's decisions.

The commisison has done much to allay industrial unrest, especially by encouraging direct negotiations between employers and unions. In the last six years, while disputes before the commission have almost doubled in number, the number of working days lost has increased by 20 per cent. But the proceedings of the industrial court contradict the apparent reliance on the commission for the settlement of disputes.

Since 1956, fines imposed on unions have steadily increased, until this year 91 fines imposed on 14 unions have exceeded $67,000; and unions have been ordered, since 1956, to pay more than $89,000 as their share of employers' legal costs.

There has lately been a wave of strikes for payments in excess of those awarded by the arbitration commission. The penal provisions of the law have probably contained strikes, and union leaders have sometimes been glad to be able to cite the threat of penalties as a counter to militant pressures within their unions.

But unionists in the mass resent the penalties as a restriction upon what they regard as their fundamental right to strike.

The Australian Council of Trade Unions asked the government last April to repeal the penal provisions on the ground that employers were using them to evade conciliation. Employers insist that there is not, and never has been, a right to strike within a compulsory arbitration system.

Leave It to Courts

The shock and bitterness felt and expressed by the people of Mission and Mission City over the reprieve granted by the federal cabinet to Kenneth Lloyd Meeker, the convicted sex slayer of a 12-year-old girl, will be felt by all decent people across Canada.

Meeker had been convicted and sentenced, two appeals to higher courts had been rejected and the original verdict upheld. Yet all this is thrown aside by Prime Minister Pearson and his cabinet.

The crime was committed on June 9, 1963. The trials had taken from that date to November, 1964, that is a full year and five months, during which time the evidence had been gathered and sifted, weighed and considered, and finally a verdict reached. Yet the cabinet lightly brushes all this aside and after a few hours discussion commutes the sentence.

These men had not heard the evidence. They had not examined any witnesses. All they had done was to take a few hours out of the time that should have been devoted to the task of running the country, to read a transcript of the trial and appeals. On this scanty appraisal they reverse the decision of the original court, and two courts of appeal.

It is high time this power was taken away from the federal cabinet and the administration of justice left where it belongs—in the courts.

Conflicting Events

Last week two events of great interest, and major importance to the better life of this city, took place almost simultaneously.

One was at the City Hall, and was graced by the presence of His Honor The Lieutenant Governor.

The other was the opening of the Maltwood Museum at Royal Oak, the gift of a most munificent donor: John Maltwood.

Mr. John Maltwood and his late wife, a most distinguished sculptress, have done much to enhance and preserve the beauty of this area.

Many of us would have liked to have been there to see the opening of his beautiful house, and honor the memory of his most talented wife.

What a pity these events did conflict.
Can we not arrange otherwise?
Surely it is largely a matter of thought and foresight.

Recognizing China

After viewing CBC-TV's excellent documentary "Seven Hundred Million," one ponders once more the incredible fact that the U.S. won't allow China into the U.N., where her point of view deserves to be heard.

Certainly the world has everything to gain by having a better means of talking to the Chinese, a great people resurrecting themselves under the only system that has worked for them.

Those who talk "freedom" seem to overlook the most important freedom . . . eating!

If most of us had a choice of starving under Democracy or eating under Communism, we'd be Communists, too . . . and love it!

Women and the CBC

Mr. Ouimet, president of the CBC, was quoted in your paper Nov. 5, as saying the declaration by Canadian Women concerning CBC "is not the view of women generally" . . . because . . . "women's organizations of Canada refused to support it."

Mr. Ouimet is quite right. This declaration is not sponsored by a single national organization. It is a ground swell of public opinion surging up from every corner of the country, signed by thousands of concerned women.

Of course many senior officers of national organizations are taking a strong stand as will be seen by the list of sponsors which includes 30 women from organizations such as W.C.T.U., Girl Guides, Local Council of Women, Senate, Alberta Cabinet and unions. For example, Mrs. Ward Markle, president of the Ontario Council of the Catholic Women's League, says, "There is an awful lot of good in the CBC, but in the past year there has been a tendency to over-emphasize that which I think unworthy of our national television channel . . ."

We think Mr. Ouimet should be concerned with what the users of this public corporation are protesting. The signers would not have taken this step (a) if Mr. Ouimet had heeded the hundreds of letters deploring this tendency, and (b) if we did not care about the CBC TV and want to see it take its rightful part. We think the CBC has a magnificent role to play in Canadian life.

Re Space Yes! Staff No

I am one of many RNs in Victoria, married with children who would like to work two or three days a week, part time, while the children are at school.

I have applied several times, but was turned down with this reply: "We can not place you, unless you work at least four hours a day — a five-day week — and take the days off that we assign."

I went to considerable trouble to be registered in B.C. as have others. I feel certain that we "part time nurses" could soon staff a few empty wards, and shorten the waiting list.

Inconvenient Gunmen

This is the silly season, when the woods and hedgerows are bristling with guns, and trigger-happy talk turns to the tagging of deer — the season when the world hereabouts is stuffed with hunting widows whose husbands are out in the wilds shooting each other.

Some of us, less doughty, do our duty by simply taking the family for a trip to Goldstream to see the salmon struggling at the end of their life-cycle.

But only to find ourselves held up for inspection in long lines of traffic by very polite policemen with a duty to perform, putting their pressure on the gunmen who illegally sport arms with tagless spoils.

If only we could see the salmon at some other season when gun licenses are not for sale.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

A friend of mine has many stories to tell of a small granddaughter who visits her frequently.

Best one to come my way centres around the romps the two have when they are together.

At the height of this play, the wee girl will often take her grandmother's hand, hold it in her own, then look up and say, "Gran, now we have a quiet time."

This means that grandmother sits down by the window and she climbs on her knee.

During the next few minutes no words are said. The two remain still, their eyes on the clouds that drift across the sky or on the flowers that nod at them from the garden.

Finally the little girl gives a long, satisfied sigh and says, "Now we play again!"

★ ★ ★

No doubt, through this simple exercise in relaxation, wise parents are trying to teach a small child the value of learning to live with herself.

They vision a day when she will be part of a grown-up world that will make many demands on her time. They know the rush and turmoil that goes with such demands and they hope to create in the mind of their small one a buffer state that will help her, when she is a woman, to meet such pressures with ease and assurance.

A "quiet time" may seem hard to achieve in the crowded hours of our days, but men and women who manage it, face responsibilities in a much more relaxed way than those who rush madly from one duty to another, without pause.

In that time they close the door of their minds to the day's program, mentally take the telephone off the hook and shut out the rush and noise that surrounds them.

Then, they let their thoughts drift away to some secret place, far removed from the every-day world.

It could be the lake where a happy vacation was spent or a stream where a fish was caught. It could be a field where wild iris bloom beside grey rocks on a sea-girt coast; the hum of bees in a field of clover, the thought of music or a flight of birds across an early morning sky.

★ ★ ★

Even a few seconds of this kind of thinking will bring men and women back to the responsibilities of their work, relaxed and refreshed.

Like the small girl who visits her grandmother, they are ready to "play again."

Many years ago I found a bit of poetry that expresses this idea perfectly.

"Close your eyes and open your mind.
This is the peace you long to find.
See how the water runs slow and deep;
Hear how the forest is lulled to sleep,
Hushed by the song of the twilight breeze,
Lazily rustling the leaves of the trees.
Watch while the darkness comes creeping through,
Trailing its drapery over the dew.
This is the peace you long to find -
Close your eyes and open your mind."

In this mad rush we call modern living, it would be well to plan a few moments in each day to learn to live with ourselves.

"A "quiet time" as the little girl calls it, in which to close our eyes and achieve peace of mind.

Poland Convicts Author Of 'Slandering' Nation

WARSAW (AP) — Polish-born American writer Melchior Wankowicz, 72, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment after a Polish court convicted him on charges of slandering Poland abroad.

Under a Polish amnesty issued last July, Wankowicz' term was cut to 18 months in prison.

Wankowicz entered the U.S. in 1949 and became an American citizen on June 14, 1956.

Upon retiring, Wankowicz returned to Poland in 1962 but retained U.S. citizenship and carried a valid passport.

Wankowicz' best known work is the novel Monte Cassino which is based on Free Poland fighters with the Allies in Italy during the Second World War. Wankowicz served as a correspondent with the unit.

Last March in Warsaw he was among 34 Polish authors who signed a document accusing Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz of direct and indirect censorship.

The Communist government accused him of transmitting abroad for publication false information harmful to Poland.

He was arrested Oct. 5 under a Polish law which makes it a crime for anyone to "harm the interests of the state" by writings and photographs judged to "lower the prestige of the state's authorities."

FLUORESCENT MARKS TRAP THEFT SUSPECT

NEW YORK (AP) — Fluorescent markings on a small package Wednesday netted a suspect in the disappearance of six emeralds worth $152,000. Federal authorities arrested a customs entry clerk, Madell Collins, 42, who has worked for the customs department 17 years. Officers said they found some of the fluorescent markings on Collins, who denied any connection with the missing gems.

NATURE ON THE ISLAND

By DR. CLIFF CARL

Wood Eaters Invade Harbors

In the sea, as on land, there are few creatures that eat wood, but those that do are a real headache to man, forcing him to spend great sums of money each year to counteract their work.

Carl

The marine wood-eaters are members of two different groups, the molluscs and the crustaceans. The only features they have in common are that both live in seawater and both eat wood. In all other respects they are extremely diverse.

The molluscan members are commonly known as shipworms or teredos. These are really clams that have taken up an extraordinary way of life and have become so modified that they superficially look like worms in general body shape. Usually they are enclosed in wood with only a portion of the tail showing, consequently it is necessary to do a careful job of excavation in order to examine a shipworm in its complete form.

If you do go to this trouble you will find that the animal has a long, fragile body, part milky-white and part jelly-like in texture.

★ ★ ★

The head end, the part farthest from the entrance hole, is capped with two shells ridged to form cutting teeth on the leading edges. The shells, of course, together with other body features that are not so obvious, identify the creature as a mollusc, a bivalve classified along with the clam, the oyster and similar shell-fish.

The tail end is armed with two feather-like structures of limy material which act as plugs to keep unwanted visitors from entering the burrow. They maintain their position at the entrance, while the main part of the animal grows along the burrow it creates in the wood.

★ ★ ★

The boring is done by the shells which rasp away the wood by a flaring action. The sawdust so created is swallowed and used as food, but in addition some food is obtained from plankton carried into the excavation by the current of water which is maintained for respiration.

The burrow in which the animal lies is lined with limy material which may be especially thick where the tube nears the surface of the wood. Nearly all the tunnels follow the grain and are therefore roughly parallel to one another but no two join each other and none is branched.

If conditions are favorable, a shipworm may excavate a burrow three feet long before the end of its second year of life, and a piece of timber such as a pile will be completely destroyed by relatively few borers.

Like most other bivalve molluscs, shipworms spawn by discharging eggs and sperms into the water. The resulting larvae swim free for several weeks, at the end of which time each is enclosed in a tiny double shell.

At this stage the larvae must find wood or perish. If it happens to settle on a suitable surface it immediately burrows in, making a pin-size hole which becomes the entrance to the tunnel which then is its permanent home.

Shipworms are found in all seas but they appear to be most abundant in harbors. This may be because there is more wood available for them in such areas or because they were originally brought into such ports by shipping. In any case most harbors of the world now have these pests to contend with.

★ ★ ★

They may not have been so widely distributed in the New World in the past, but shipworms were certainly present in Europe and were a real menace to the old-style wooden ships. Builders in the early days were well aware of the damage caused by shipworms and consequently sheathed their hulls with copper and pitch. Despite these precautionary measures many a sailing craft literally fell apart after a year or two of service, forcing their crews to find their way home as best they could.

Nowadays copper is still used as a deterrent to these pests but in the form of a highly toxic paint which is applied to the ship's bottom. This adds greatly to the maintenance costs of ships since the paint is expensive and must be renewed each season, which involves hauling the ship out of water.

Shipworms are also a hazard to logs held in booms any length of time. To ward off their attack scientists have come up with a chemical that is reasonably successful but it too has to be renewed at regular intervals.

Several species of these pests are found throughout the world. The one best known in Europe was called teredo from a Greek word meaning wood worm. Our species, being somewhat different, was given a different scientific name and was known as shipworm. But lately the true teredo has been discovered in British Columbia.

It is now present in one or two areas only, but chances are it will become as numerous and troublesome as its cousin.

Send questions in natural history to Dr. Cliff Carl, in care of the Times.

HOME GARDEN

Landscape Can Be Cut Down to Size

By HILDA BEASTALL

Large scale plantings which prove of unusual interest may be successfully reproduced in smaller areas if a careful hand and eye are used in planting.

Hilda

Early this month on a quiet day after a heavy rainfall I came upon an unexpected scene so enchanting that I trust the impression to last through many a full day.

Soft yellow sunlight shed a mellow glow over an open area, perhaps a couple of acres, surrounded by Douglas firs and cedars.

Sloping away to a rocky knoll from a low-lying, swampy piece of ground, lay all the tints and tones of the fall season as it blesses our coast.

The lowest section glowed with the pink and red tints of edible blueberry bushes.

YOUNG HOLLIES

Above these, where drainage was good, were large blocks of brilliant orange-tinted Berberis erecta, three feet in height, side by side with handsome young holly trees no more than six feet high.

The shining broad green leaves of the hollies contrasted beautifully with the deciduous berberis and blueberries, adding a permanence to the scene which will remain long after the crop of exciting scarlet-berried twigs are cut for Christmas.

Reproduced in a garden, even with a different group of shrubs of the same general coloring, such a planting has the possibilities of year-round interest, pleasure and satisfaction.

Canadian Papers In Healthy State

TORONTO (CP)—A trade magazine has taken a close look at newspapers and decided they're in good health and may even be on the verge of a boom.

A report, in a 44-page special section of marketing, turns up these facts and figures:

There are 112 daily newspapers in 86 Canadian cities compared with 96 papers in 1941.

Total circulation in 1964 is 4,313,316 compared with 4,190,890 in 1963.

On a typical day, seven out of 10 Canadian adults, 20 years old and over, read a daily newspaper.

Despite radio and television, people keep reading newspapers. Canadians will spend about $82,500,000 this year to get their daily papers.

Canadian dailies will end this year with at least a six per cent increase in national advertising lineage. Revenues are estimated at $191,000,000 with "good prospects" for $200,000,000 next year.

Color advertising in dailies increased about seven per cent in the first six months of this year.

Seven cents is the most common price for a newspaper with 10 cents the next most frequent price. A total of 41 papers sell at seven cents and 31 to 10 cents.

The report says people could not get along without newspapers. Interviews carried out in New York City during the 1962-1963 newspaper strike, showed "people seemed to feel that their lives lost meaning without newspaper reports."

Boeing Sales, Profits Show Solid Gain

SEATTLE (AP)—The Boeing Co. has reported sales of $1,459,539,000 and net earnings of $32,315,000 or $4.02 a share for the first nine months of this year.

In the same period last year the aero-space firm's sales were $1,314,314,000 and net earnings $14,045,000 or $1.75 a share. This was at a time when heavy development costs were being charged off.

For the third quarter this year sales were $436,507,000, and net earnings $11,147,000 or $1.38 a share, down slightly from the second quarter. Based on current delivery schedules, company president William M. Allen said, sales should increase in the fourth quarter.

Allen said unfilled orders Sept. 30 this year totalled $1,985,000,000 compared with $1,815,000,000 Dec. 31, 1963.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Dec. 11 to stockholders of record as of Nov. 17.

Plastic Pipe Firms Fined For Price-Fix

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen plastic pipe manufacturers and 11 individuals were fined a total of $295,500 Tuesday of federal price-fixing charges.

The defendants earlier entered no-contest pleas.

Biggest fine imposed was $47,500 against Carlon Products Company, Cleveland. Its president, William Abramowitz, was fined $19,500.

Other defendants included Republic Steel Corp., fined $20,000; U.S. Rubber Company, fined $22,500 and B. F. Goodrich Company $25,000.

Republic's assistant sales manager, Howard M. McDaniel, was fined $2,000 and David T. Skowlund, in charge of sales development for Goodrich, was fined $1,000. The indictments did not name an individual for U.S. Rubber.

The companies were charged with conspiring to fix prices and spell out conditions for the sale of three types of plastic pipe between 1956 and 1960.

FORD SETTLES STRIKE AT ONE OF NINE KEY PLANTS

Parts Shortage Hits Canadian Labor

By The Canadian Press

A contract settlement was reached Wednesday night at one of nine key Ford Motor Company plants struck by United Auto Workers' Union members to back up local-level demands.

A Ford spokesman in Detroit said the settlement was at the Louisville, Ky., assembly plant. He added that the company did not plan to post work schedules until the union members ratify the settlement. The ratification meeting has been set for Friday.

The settlement followed a layoff by Ford of 500 workers. The firm said several thousand others face furloughs by the end of the week because of the plant strikes.

Those laid off worked at the Canton, Ohio, force plant and the Rawsonville, Mich., parts plant.

A company spokesman said the layoffs were partial and that the plants were continuing to operate. He added that if the eight remaining strikes are not settled quickly, 4,100 workers at Ford's Lorain, Ohio, assembly plant will be laid off by the end of the week.

The strikes began Friday. Ford and the United Auto Workers have negotiated a national contract, but the local strikes involve at-the-plant working agreements which supplement the national pact.

CANADIAN LAYOFFS

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Ford of Canada will start laying off workers at its assembly plant here by the end of this week because of strikes at key Ford plants in the United States, the company said Wednesday.

About 6,000 workers are employed.

A company spokesman said the U.S. walkouts, in nine plants because of local conditions still not covered by new labor contracts, will result in cutoffs of vital parts soon.

He said the plant hopes to be able to continue turning out passenger cars for the rest of this week, and to maintain truck production into some time next week.

The announcement gave no definite schedule of layoffs, but said they will depend on how inventories of key parts hold up. Inventories are being juggled to keep the assembly lines going as long as possible. The company said engine production and stampings will continue as scheduled at Windsor, Ont., at least for the present. Parts turned out there will be stockpiled.

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Some 300 employees of the General Motors of Canada Limited, sewing and cutting department, most of them women, were told not to report to work Wednesday because of a shortage of parts, but a GM spokesman said they could be called back this week.

The layoff is due to other departments not maintaining a balanced production, he said.

He criticized Local 222 of the United Auto Workers (CLC) for refusing to work overtime until a new contract is signed. The union's contract expired Oct. 31.

Last Sunday some 7,500 employees voted overwhelmingly to go on strike if necessary if negotiations now in progress break down.

'Hutch' Never Turned Temper On His Players

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, former manager of Cincinnati Reds who was harder on his office furniture than his players, died in hospital today of chest cancer.

FRED HUTCHINSON
. . . dead at 45

The 45-year-old Hutchinson showing some improvement, was allowed to go to his home on nearby Anna Maria Island last Saturday. But his condition deteriorated rapidly and he was returned to the hospital in an ambulance Tuesday.

With his health failing fast, he had stepped down Oct. 19 as manager of the Reds. The job went to Dick Sisler, who became acting manager when Hutchinson went on sick leave Aug. 13.

Hutchinson, baseball's Manager of the Year in 1957 for his second place finish with St. Louis Cardinals and again in 1961 for a pennant winner at Cincinnati, felt the first pain of his illness last Christmas.

SUCCESSFUL PITCHER

Hospital tests confirmed the presence of a malignant tumor, but he continued to direct the Reds until illness forced him to quit.

He left the club in August to enter hospital in Cincinnati and never returned to his job.

Before becoming a manager, Hutchinson was a successful pitcher in the minors and with Detroit Tigers. His major league record of 99 wins, 71 losses, might have been better had he not missed four seasons, 1942 through 1945, in military service.

As a manager, Hutchinson was sometimes rough and tough, sometimes cool and patient.

When his temper flared, he took it out on the furniture in his clubhouse office, not the players.

Later, he would get together with offending players, one at a time, for a private discussion of their faults. Because he never exposed one to public embarrassment, all his players liked him.

Hutchinson, a native of Seattle, won 25 games for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in his first year as a pitcher.

His best pitcher years at Detroit were 1949, when he was 15-7, and 1950, when he was 17-8.

After taking over the Reds management, Sisler called Hutchinson in Florida to tell him that he hated the condition under which he got the job.

"Don't worry about that," Hutchinson replied. "Just give 'em hell."

Anti-Doping Plan Carries Heavy Fines

ROME (AP)—A new anti-doping program, drawn up after the pep pill scandal that rocked Italy's national soccer championships last season, goes into effect Sunday with the major league teams facing fines of up to $160,000 for using illegal stimulants.

Sports officials began to work on the new program last year after five players on the Bologna team were charged with taking stimulants.

General measures in the new code were approved in September. Since then administrative details have been worked out and the entire control system will begin to function Sunday.

There are three main points to the new program:

Heavy cash fines, ranging from $16,000 to $160,000 can be imposed on soccer clubs whose players are found guilty of using illegal stimulants.

Coaches and trainers no longer will be subject to suspension but rules suspending players who use drugs remain in force.

A doctor will be present at every major league game and a flip of a coin will determine whether a club's players are to be tested.

Sonny's Ready For Open Door

Sonny Liston predicted today he would recapture the heavyweight crown on a knockout over Cassius Clay at Boston Monday night "whenever the door opens."

Former champion Sonny explained, "When you're trying to knock out a man like Clay, it's like knocking on the door of somebody's house and waiting for them to open the door. I'll take Clay out just as soon as he opens the door."

Part of Liston's eagerness to recapture the title was explained by one of his quotations after he had finished his last serious boxing session of five rounds.

One of the 32 sports writers at the workout asked him if it felt much different to be an ex-champion than when he wore the crown.

Sonny said seriously, "It certainly does. You know those self-operated elevators? They don't even stop for me anymore since I lost the title."

United Blasts T-Birds As Confidence Returns

Thunderbirds 2, United 4

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Centre-forward Jim Jamieson slipped back into the lineup Wednesday, confidence came a-creeping back, and Victoria United unleashed its best scoring punch of the Pacific Coast Soccer League season.

United, which had managed only four goals in five previous league starts, matched that sum in 90 entertaining minutes Wednesday as the Victorians bowled over University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 4-2.

It could have been 6-2 or 7-2 just as easily.

Frank Grealy's blue-and-white Uniteds gave up the first and last goals at Royal Athletic Park, but in between they dominated the field with a peppery and nippy attack. Poor shooting off good chances cost United a few more goals.

'GOALS WILL COME'

You can't knock United for some of those off-the-mark shots because the main thing is the Victorians are shooting.

"The goals will start coming now," Grealy predicted after Wednesday's workout. ". . . If the boys continue to play that way. The main thing is, they're getting in for those good chances."

Jamieson, recovered from a kidney injury that has kept him on the sidelines since the start of the season, scored the goal that ignited Victoria's attack. Ash Valdal, who turned in an extremely useful game from his inside position, Dunc McCaig and Roy Hamilton scored United's other goals.

IMPORTANT VICTORY

A pair of insides, Phil Brown and Harvey Thom, scored UBC's goals before a Remembrance Day turnout of about 600 fans.

Victory, United's second of the year, came at an important psychological moment. It lifted Victoria out of the league cellar and put United in excellent position for a run at the top.

United's next three games, in order, are against the always-troublesome Canadians, North Shore and Columbus. The three Vancouver sides have to step into United's back yard, starting with the Canadian visit this Saturday.

Jamieson's return Wednesday seems to have solved United's centre forward problems. Although still out of condition, Jamieson made several fine moves that opened UBC defences. As well, his mates played with a confidence and coolness that was lacking earlier in the season.

Royals Take Over Top Soccer Rung

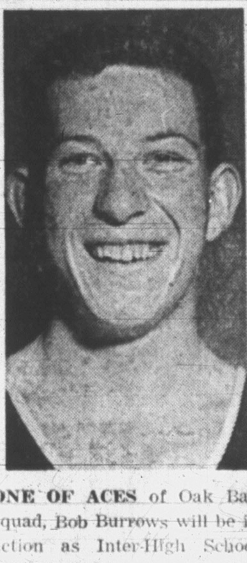
VANCOUVER (CP) — New Westminster Royals moved into first place in Pacific Coast Soccer League standing Wednesday by defeating North Shore Luckies 2-1.

The victory was the fifth in seven games for New Westminster and gave it 10 points, one more than the teams tied for second — Vancouver Firefighters and Columbus.

Inside left Sigi Gohringer gave Royals a 1-0 lead with one minute remaining in the first half. Leftwinger Metro Gerela put the Royals ahead 2-0 with five minutes gone in the second half.

Leftwinger Ed Cannon took a long downfield pass with 10 minutes left in the game to get one goal back for North Shore, but Royals easily held off further threats.

Mounties Get Bid From PCL



ONE OF ACES of Oak Bay squad, Bob Burrows will be in action as Inter-High School Basketball League opens Friday night. Burrows and mates will meet Esquimalt at 8 p.m. at Oak Bay High gymnasium. Second teams from same schools will tangle in preliminary game at 7.

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Nat Bailey, well-known Vancouver restaurant and hotel operator and president of the now-defunct Vancouver Mounties, said Wednesday this city may well support an entry in the Pacific Coast Baseball League in 1965.

Bailey met here with Dewey Soriano, PCL prexy, in an effort to work out the arrangement for Vancouver's return to organized baseball.

Following his meeting with Soriano, Bailey said the PCL chief had offered the Mounties the opportunity to re-enter the league, but had stipulated that this city show a healthy pre-season ticket sale before the move was made.

"Dewey offered us a working agreement with one of three major league clubs," Bailey said. "The league would require a heavy pre-season sale from us as an indication we would not end up in a mess.

"Dallas will not operate in 1965 and the league president (Soriano) invited Vancouver back in," Bailey said.

Bailey said the Mounties would likely open a pre-season ticket and re-organization drive about the first of December.

Open Tennis, Anyone?

LONDON (UPI) — The All-England Club, organizers of the annual Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships, is ready to propose that the 1965 tournament be "open" to professionals.

But sources said the bid will be thrown out by the British Lawn Tennis Association, to which the proposal will be made. "To all right-thinking people the proposal is a good one, but there is little likelihood that the LTA annual meeting will agree to let Wimbledon defy the world," the source said. "The LTA feels that a Wimbledon breakaway would throw the game into complete confusion."

This is the second attempt by the go-ahead Wimbledon committee to stage "open" tournaments. In 1961, when the last proposal was considered, the LTA gave its support. But many LTA members now feel that such a move now would be "inopportune and dangerous."

An LTA official said, if Britain pressed the resolution, it would "in effect be an ultimatum to the international federation, of which we are members.

"That could result in Britain being barred from the Davis Cup and leading players from other countries banned from playing at Wimbledon," he said.

Herman David, chairman of the All-England Club committee, said since 1959, when the All-England Club first voted in favor of admitting professionals, "we have been overwhelmingly in favor of open tennis—and we still are.

"So it is right that we should propose it again."

Bucks Have Talent But Not Sympathy

Seals Thumped By Buckaroos

San Francisco Seals' manager Bud Poile was talking trade in Portland Wednesday, and it would appear he went to the right place.

Portland's Buckaroos, it would seem, aren't suffering from lack of talent.

Despite the fact Portland's stock has been depleted as a result of injuries to defenceman Jack Bionda and winger Larry Leach—a pair of key men—the Bucks are sitting atop of the Western Hockey League parade today.

The Bucks made it to first place Wednesday night, picking on Poile's floundering Seals to chalk up a 7-2 victory before 6,830 Portland fans.

BLADES TRIUMPH

Meanwhile, in the only other game played Wednesday, Los Angeles Blades climbed back on the victory wagon and took over third place by clipping Vancouver Canucks, 5-3.

Poile, who cut his roster to 17 by optioning Gerry Oulette to Minneapolis of the Central Pro League, wants a winger. He's ready to deal off one of his centres.

No names were mentioned, but Poile plans more talks with Portland manager Harry Glickman before the 'Frisco team moves on to Vancouver (Friday) and Victoria (Saturday).

Portland added to its stock this week by acquiring forward Dick Van Impe from Cleveland Barons of the American League.

PERRAULT PEPPERED

Poile must have been impressed Wednesday. The Bucks hammered 41 shots at Seals goalie Bob Perrault in a rough game marred by two fights.

Cliff Schauutz paced Portland with two goals while singles went to Pat Stapleton, Andy Hebenton, Art Jones, Bob Ertel and Tom McVie. Charlie Burns and Al Nicholson scored for 'Frisco.

At Vancouver, Willie O'Ree made liars of persons who suggest the Los Angeles speedster is a "good-skate, no-score" winger. He rapped in two goals, both picture-play efforts, to pace Los Angeles.

GETS NINTH GOAL

O'Ree, who counted twice against Victoria the previous night, now has nine goals for the season.

He scored No. 8 at 7:51 of the second period Wednesday, taking Brian Smith's pass before breaking away to skate in alone on Canuck goalie Gilles Villemure. His ninth came at 2:53 of the third period during a Blade power-play.

Smith, Gord Haworth and Warren Hynes scored the others for Los Angeles.

'Little Leafs' Lead the Way Over Summit

Victoria 4, Los Angeles 3

By DOUG PEDEN

Victoria Maple Leafs have finally vaulted the first big Western Hockey League hurdle and it was the "little guys" who gave them the shove over the summit.

Around the professional hockey circuits they say that the first 10 points in any season are the hardest to acquire and this winter the Leafs have become convinced the theory is packed with truth.

Despite mighty labors and a series of exciting games, the Leafs found points as elusive as a spooked bunny. Breaks were going against them and the men of coach Rudy Pilous were losing close ones—five by one goal. When they did pick up the early victories, it was usually the "big" line of Lou Jankowski, John Sleaver and Gordie Redahl that handled most of the scoring.

Then the law of averages went to work Tuesday night before the largest Memorial Arena crowd of the season. The puck was bouncing for Victoria and the 2,667 paying customers watched the Leafs finally climb to the 10-point plateau by nipping Los Angeles Blades 4-3.

And it was the "little guys" of the Victoria attacking units that swung the heaviest punches.

The big line did fire one tally, Redahl streaking in with Jankowski's pass to score Victoria's second goal, but the less-publicized forwards were the ones who wrecked the Blades.

Blades' First Break Also Last One

Rookie Rollie Wilcox, persisting in pursuit of the puck and catching goalie Jack Norris napping, after Brian White had given the Blades an early lead, scored Leafs' first one.

Redahl scored his, then Dick Lamoureux, breaking out alone on a relay from Bill Shvetz, drilled his first goal of the year to make it 3-1 early in the second period. Before the period was over, Larry Keenan had pushed the puck neatly into the side of the net after veteran Ed Mazur had alertly snared a loose puck.

Leafs presented White with his goal as Claude Labrosse turned the puck into his own net while trying to clear the shot. But, for a change, that was about the last big break that went against the Victorians.

Fleet Willie O'Ree was the only Blade able to beat goalie Al Millar after White's gift.

The Blades found some amazing ways to miss great chances as they dropped their third straight game on Victoria ice.

Norm Johnson was the biggest offender, somehow pulling the puck wide when three feet in front of a yawning net.

Scoop Played Solid Game In Goal

But when the Blades got their shots on target they found Millar at his best. "Scoop" came up with some great moves as he blocked a total of 40 shots, including 16 in the blazing third period when the Blades did everything but pull even.

O'Ree slashed through for two goals in the first eight minutes of the final period and from there it seemed a question of whether or not the Victorians could hold out.

They made it with their usual all-out effort but they needed luck to stay in front. From the Victoria angle, the final period would never pass as a classic in hockey tactics, but as a spectacle it was superb.

Through the closing stages the Leafs appeared too eager for goals when they should have been making sure they were in position to defend the skimpy lead. The big sin came in the final minute when Norris had been lifted for a sixth attacker. Most of the Leafs were caught around the Los Angeles goal and four Blades broke out with only one Leaf back.

But the over-eager visitors lost control of the puck on that one. They also failed to cash in on a Victoria penalty for too many men on the ice with 11 seconds remaining, but gave the patrons palpitations by firing three close misses in the final, wild flurry.

Maple Leafs, still hoping to acquire a player or two from the parent Toronto Maple Leafs, make their next start Saturday night at Memorial Arena against San Francisco Seals.

Piersall Tops Comebacks In Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Piersall, 34, the volatile outfielder who slipped quietly from the big league baseball scene before the end of the 1963 season, has been chosen the American League's comeback player of the year for 1964 in the annual Associated Press poll.

Piersall, a 14 - year major leaguer, batted .314 in 87 games for Los Angeles Angels last season. He was unconditionally released by the Angels Sept. 17, 1963, and re-signed by that west coast team as a free agent after a spring training trial.

In 1963, Piersall also played for Washington Senators and New York Mets. The latter club released him July 27, when his batting average dropped to .194 for 40 games. He was picked up by the Angels.

Montreal Falls To Hot Huskies

CALGARY (CP) — Edmonton Huskies, led by fourth-year quarterback Tony Rankel, thumped Montreal Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs 48-27 Wednesday to become the first western team to capture the Canadian junior football title three years in a row.

The distinction was gained at the expense of the Maple Leafs who the Huskies edged 7-3 in 1962 and walloped 47-3 in 1963.

Hamilton Wildcats won the title in 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1951.

Huskies, who built up a 35-0 lead before Montreal got on the score board late in the second quarter, amassed 407 yards rushing and 114 passing to earn the Regina Leader-Post Trophy, emblematic of Canadian junior football supremacy.

THREW STRIKES

Rankel, who graduated from junior ranks at the end of the game, plunged two yards for one touchdown in the first quarter, completed touchdown passes of 14 and 12 yards to halfback Gil Mather in the second, and threw another 14-yard touchdown strike to halfback Gordon Lund in the third.

Lund broke over tackle and raced 52 yards to score a touchdown in the opening quarter and added another touchdown on an eight-yard scamper in the final quarter.

Fullback Ross Bradford crashed over from nine yards out in the first quarter. End Jon Sterling was good on five converts and passed to Bradford for another point after touchdown.

Sooke Hunter's Goat Trophy Close to Record

A Sooke woman has earned a place in the record book of famous hunters.

Hunting near Smithers in August, Mrs. Velma Goudie, 2060 Church, downed a mountain goat with a head that scored within 2½ points of a Boone and Crockett world record.

Mrs. Goudie's trophy, shot on Telkwa Mountain, scored 54¼ points, which placed it in a four-way tie for second place behind the record total of 56¾ points.

Whitey Wheels To Greet Boss

HOUSTON (UPI) — Whitey Ford, New York Yankee pitcher whose hurling arm troubled him at the season's end, bounced back from surgery Wednesday. He took a wheelchair ride and greeted his boss, Johnny Keane.

Ford had a two-hour operation Monday to remove some nerves in his left arm that were causing spasms which cut down the flow of blood. Doctors said he will be in shape to pitch next spring and for many seasons to come.

Worsley Spectacular As Montreal Snaps Skein; Leafs, Rangers Win

Canadian Press

It took Gump Worsley a year, but he finally made the return trip to the big time.

Twelve months ago the pudgy netminder was shipped out to the minors through no fault of his own. Sidelined with an injury, he watched Charlie Hodge steal his job and keep it all season.

Now the skate is on the other foot. Hodge is on Montreal Canadiens injured list and Worsley is making gestures towards recapturing his old position.

The Gumper, playing his first National Hockey League game in a year, turned in a superb performance Wednesday night and sparked Montreal to a 4-1 triumph over Chicago Black Hawks. The win was Canadiens first in five games.

Toronto Maple Leafs, meanwhile, snapped Detroit's unbeaten streak at nine games with a 3-1 victory and New York Rangers handed Boston Bruins a 4-2 setback in the other two NHL games played.

DETROIT ON TOP

The results left Detroit atop the standings with 16 points while Montreal and Toronto closed in with 14. New York jumped into fourth with 13 points, leaving Chicago behind with 11 and Boston deep in the cellar at six.

Claude Provost powered the Montreal attack with a goal and three assists while Worsley held the Black Hawks off in the first period and stopped several dangerous shots in the finale.

Ralph Backstrom, Dave Balon and Gilles Tremblay tallied for Montreal in the second period. Balon got the winner after Phil Esposito of Chicago tied the score briefly in the middle frame.

Provost's goal, his seventh of the season, came near the end of the rough-house game, which saw Referee Bill Friday hand out 19 penalties.

Worsley, who has performed brilliantly with Quebec Aces as they make a run-away of the American Hockey League race, came up with spectacular saves as the Hawks pressed late in the game. He was exceptionally sharp on drives by Bobby Hull, Johnny McKenzie and Chico Maki in the closing minutes.

PAPPIN SCORES

At Toronto, Jim Pappin left the bench for the first time in several games and scored the goal that beat the Wings midway through the final period. Don McKenney counted for Toronto in the second and Bobby Pulford scored into an empty Detroit net with nine seconds left in the game.

Toronto's Terry Sawchuk, playing in the nets against Detroit for the first time since they surrendered him in last summer's draft, turned back 30 of the Wings 31 shots with a crowd of 14,155 cheering all the way.

Jacques Plante was in goal again for New York as the Rangers capitalized on two-goal performances by Camille Henry and Earl Ingarfield to climb into a contention for a playoff position.

Although outshot 34-29 by the Bruins before 13,892 New York fans, the Rangers grabbed a 2-1 first-period lead and were in command most of the way.

'King Rainier,' Emil Sick Dies

SEATTLE (AP) — Emil G. Sick, 70, prominent Pacific Northwest and Canadian brewery operator and long-time owner of the Seattle Rainiers Baseball Club, died early Tuesday.

Sick had been in failing health for some time and entered a hospital three weeks ago. He suffered a mild heart attack in February, 1963, at his winter home in Palm Springs, Calif.

AS CLERK

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Sick began his business career as a shipping clerk in his father's brewery in Lethbridge.

He opened his own brewery here in 1933 and built it into one of the largest in the northwest under the "Rainier" name, with subsidiary companies in Spokane and Missoula and Great Falls, Mont.

He also headed breweries in Lethbridge, Edmonton and Regina.

Sick was chairman of the board of the Sick's Rainier Brewing Company, the keystone of his brewing empire.

The Fritz Sick memorial swimming pool in Lethbridge was a donation by the family.

The funeral will be held in Seattle.

Atlanta Signs 25-Year Pact

ATLANTA (AP)—Milwaukee Braves have signed a 25-year contract to begin playing baseball in Atlanta's $18,000,000 stadium in 1966.

The contract was signed late Tuesday in Chicago by Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the Atlanta-Fulton County Recreation Authority, and Braves' officials.

The contract signing took place two days before it was scheduled. Atlanta and Braves officials apparently were apprehensive that Milwaukee County officials might further delay the plans to move to Atlanta by securing another court order restraining the Braves from signing any agreement until the end of the 1965 season.

COURT ORDER OUT

The officials already had secured a court order restraining the Braves from signing a contract to play in Atlanta in 1965.

Atlanta officials apparently haven't given up on getting the Braves in 1965, however. A proviso of the 85-page contract states:

"In the event the club is unable to transfer its franchise to Atlanta . . . for the 1965 baseball season because of an enforceable order of a court of last resort, the authority shall not permit the stadium premises to be used for major league baseball during the year 1965 and the term of this agreement . . . begins on Jan. 1, 1966, and ends on Dec. 31, 1990."

Meanwhile, in Milwaukee, the county board voted unanimously to send a delegation to Washing, D.C., to meet with officials about the prospects of starting an anti-trust action against the Braves and other National League clubs.

Kelso Never Mightier; Breezes to Laurel Win

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Kelso ruled the turf today as American champion for the fifth straight year and one of the great thoroughbreds of all time after his brilliant victory Wednesday in the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International.

Year-end ballots have not been collected and tabulated as yet and Kelso's unprecedented status as "horse of the year" five times in a row is "unofficial."

But so was his victory in the International after he charged across the finish line four and one-half lengths ahead of arch rival Gun Bow. Jockey Walter Blum, who rode Gun Bow, claimed a foul against Kelso and for about 10 anxious minutes there was a chance Kelso might be disqualified.

That would have put him second as he was in 1961, 1962 and 1963. But the stewards declared the race was truly run and Kelso got his justly earned victory.

The enemy forces did not object. Eddie Neloy, who trains Gun Bow, said, "John Gaines, Harry Alberts (owners) and myself saw the movies of the race and while Kelso did come over we feel that the stewards were justified in leaving the result as it was."

SHAME TO STOP HIM

Kelso's race was so brilliant that thoughts of retiring him immediately probably have changed.

Owner Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, who set two objectives for Kelso this year at the start of the season, said, "I can't say anything definite about whether he'll run again. I haven't decided. But this will probably be his last year of racing. Yes, this was the most exciting of Kelso's races. You know how much we wanted to win this one."

Mrs. Dupont and trainer Carl Hanford are determined not to keep Kelso in training too long. He is a gelding and thus has no future as a stallion.

"He was tremendous," exclaimed Hanford after the race. "He is in such wonderful condition it would be a shame to stop him now."

FASTEST-EVER TIME

The objectives set for Kelso this year were Round Table's money-winning title and victory in the International.

When "Kelly" won the Jockey Club Gold Cup he reached the first goal and the winner's purse of $90,000 in the International now has raised his lifetime earnings to $1,893,362.

For a while this year it looked as though Kelso was through—that age finally had caught up with the seven-year-old. In his first seven races he had won only two overnight purses. Then he won the Aqueduct Handicap, was second by a nose to Gun Bow in the Woodward Stakes, and won the Jockey Club Gold Cup for the fifth time.

Only the International was left and Laurel officials mustered seven other horses from seven countries, including Gun Bow, to run against him in the mile and one-half race.

Kelso responded by running the fastest mile and one-half ever clocked in America — 2:23 4/5.

SOVIET HORSE THIRD

The crowd of 37,800 responded lustily to his effort. They yelled themselves hoarse as he went across the finish line with a struggling, straggling field behind him.

Kelso paid $4.40, $2.40 and $2.40 in winning for the 36th time in 56 races. Gun Bow paid $2.60 and $2.20 while Aniline of Russia, which finished nine lengths behind Gun Bow, paid $3.80.

Biscayne of Ireland was fourth, followed by Belle Sicambre of France, Primordial of Venezuela, Veronese of Italy and Ryu Forel of Japan.

you too, can be a wine expert!

The wine-wise person in today's modern way of life knows that the selection of wine to accompany any food is purely a matter of personal choice.

The idea that the only socially acceptable use of wine is restricted to certain specific wine and food combinations is pure myth if you like it — drink it!

Matching foods and wines is a matter of taste — not of color — and there is only one simple rule to wine drinking . . .

Such combinations as in the chart below are an excellent starting point for the fun and pleasure of experimenting to find your own favorite wine/food combinations. However, they should not be considered as rules which must be followed, and even the serving temperatures are subject to personal preference.

GLASSES: Wine may be served in any type of glass, but stem glasses are specially designed for wine and add a touch of gaiety. Champagne and sparkling wines are best, and most fun, when served in champagne-type, hollow stemmed-glasses.

STORAGE: Store your wines in a cool, dry place, away from direct light.

You'll find it convenient and satisfying to keep several types of wine on hand.

New Approach To Science In Schools

The "laboratory approach" to secondary school chemistry is due to start in B.C. schools next September, curriculum consultant James Cairnie said today.

The move is part of a revolution in teaching the three public school sciences — chemistry, physics and biology — that has been launched since the Chant report and spurred on by space-inspired developments in all scientific areas.

Physics 11, for Grade 11 course built around new concepts, began this fall, and physics 12, for Grade 12, is expected to be introduced next fall.

It will be at least a year before the new course in biology can be started, Mr. Cairnie said.

Broadly, the changes in science teaching are due to the wealth of scientific knowledge being produced today.

TOO MUCH

"There is just too much to allow youngsters to assimilate it. Besides, in five years, the facts they are taught today are outdated," Mr. Cairnie said.

"We are interested in establishing scientific attitudes in youngsters by having them discover for themselves the fundamental concepts and structures making up physics and chemistry.

"We are not so concerned with immediate applications because in a rapidly changing world immediate applications are going to be outdated.

"Understanding is what we are striving for. As the world of science changes, the youngster can adjust to it . . . developing attitudes of inquiry, searching for relationships, for truth in science."

AT FRONTIER

He compared the position of a researcher who works at the frontier of scientific knowledge, with the student in lab and classroom, working at the frontier of his own knowledge.

In this way, the student learns for himself the basic truths about the science he is studying.

The emphasis on laboratory work lets him do this, but teachers are no longer so concerned about "pretty" lab report books and are not as critical of those who get the wrong answers to lab problems.

"It is felt there is value in him having done the work, whether the answer is right or wrong," Mr. Cairnie said.

But developing new curriculums is still a problem. It is hard to know "what to provide the youngster of today in order to cope with the world 10 or 20 years from now."

Dean Urges Close Study Of Issues

A plea for involvement in community problems was issued Sunday by Robert Wallace, dean of administration at the University of Victoria.

There were tremendous world and local problems that required answers and involvement in higher education was necessary for people to study them.

"Everyone has to study to be an intelligent voter," Dean Wallace told the annual weekend education institute at the Union Centre.

URGENT NEED

"There was an urgent need to equip people to solve such problems as starvation and leisure."

The institute attracted 40 persons, about the same as last year, and education committee chairman John Nicol said he was "very pleased" with the seminar.

Among those taking part were Dr. I. D. Pal, professor of economics at Uvic; Clive Lytle, research director for the B.C. Federation of Labour; and Canadian Labour Congress officials.

Mr. Nicol said a "quite worthwhile" innovation was made with students questioning and then discussing problems with Mr. Lytle, rather than him lecturing.

Planned Visit Of Destroyer Cancelled

USS McGinty, one of three United States ships scheduled to visit Victoria this month, will not be coming here, the navy announced Tuesday.

The destroyer was scheduled to arrive here Saturday for a two-day recreational visit.

Still due Saturday is the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Klamath, an Owasco class frigate type patrol gunboat. She is armed with one five-inch gun and four 40-mm anti-aicraft guns.

The 254-foot Klamath carries a complement of 15 officers and 116s enlisted personnel but will also have 150 auxiliary personnel on board.

Due Nov. 16, also for a two-day visit, is another cutter, the USCGC Mallow, an Iris class buoy tender. She is 180 feet in length and carries a crew of six officers and 38 enlisted men.

He'll Try to Net New Gems For His Potato Crown

By HUMPHREY DAVY

PENDRAY
. . . fair competitor

If a competition to elect a potato king is ever held on Vancouver Island, 39-year-old John Pendray of 4160 Blenkinsop Road will stand a good chance of winning.

The grower, who operates a 60-acre potato-dairy farm beside Blenkinsop Lake, has twice won second and third place in netted gem competitions at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

And he's trying again at the fair which opens Friday.

The competitions are open to growers from all parts of Canada and the United States. The entries come from such big potato growing areas as Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and the New England states.

But Mr. Pendray is regarded as a potato expert for other reasons. One is that he is the only foundation certified netted gem potato seed grower on the Saanich peninsula. This means incidence of disease in his crops is exceedingly low.

His crops every year has to pass federal inspection tests before being registered as certified seed.

Most of his seed potatoes eventually wind up in Victoria gardens.

While Mr. Pendray doesn't claim any prowess as a grower, his annual yield per acre speaks for itself. It averages about 16 tons—about nine tons more than the average national yield. His total tonnage for 16 acres is about 200 tons.

"I've got the right soil for potatoes," he said. "That's more than half the battle for growing successful crops. Other factors are the weather and application of fertilizers to make up for soil deficiencies.

Mr. Pendray said the quality of this year's crop is good, though production is down a little.

In the Fraser Valley, Washington, Idaho and Alberta, the yield per acre is much less.

This has resulted, he said, in producers receiving better prices for their crops—$83 a ton compared with $60, last year.

FIRM PRICES

He expects the prices to remain firm for the rest of the year as the price structure is based largely on costs of imports. B.C. is not self-sufficient in potatoes and lower yields in the Fraser Valley will mean more imports from other provinces and the United States where production is also down.

But potatoes are only a sideline with Mr. Pendray. His main business is operating a dairy farm. He has 100 head of Holstein. About 50 are milkers. They supply him with about 200 gallons of milk a day.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Pendray two years ago took over the farm from his father, Charles, now retired.

Despite the long hours he spends on his work, he still finds time to take an active part in farming activities. He is president of the Island Farms Dairy Co-Op and is a director of the Saanich Plowing Match Association.

EMBEZZLEMENT IN FLATBUSH

NEW YORK (AP)—A platinum blonde teller was charged Wednesday with having embezzled $67,540 from a Brooklyn savings bank in the last 18 weeks.

Gladys Lavina Heinsch, 27, was arrested Tuesday at the bank in Flatbush where she worked.

Routine auditing disclosed the shortages.

Accused Named In Bomb Try

HYTHE, Alta. (CP)—James Guiltner, 34, of Dawson Creek, B.C., was charged with attempted arson Monday after a man made an attempt to light a gasoline bomb at a district hockey meeting Sunday.

He was remanded until November 16 without plea. Bail was set at $500.

Guiltner turned himself over to Police Chief A. R. Bell Monday after an all night search.

Guiltner, a suspended member of the Dawson Creek Canucks hockey team, had made a presentation to the South Peace Hockey League executive Sunday with a view to have the suspension lifted.

Atlantic Run Planned By Russians

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union has plans to open a trans-Atlantic passenger liner service which would serve France, the United States and Canada, U.S. sources said Tuesday night.

The Russians appeared to be planning to open the service toward the end of next year, but the ship they will use has not yet been built, the sources said.

They said no special negotiations would be needed as American ships call at Soviet ports.

Soviet minister of Merchant Marine, Viktor Badayev, said last March that East German shipyards were building a fleet of cruise liners for the Soviet Union.

"It is our dream to have them operate on a Soviet-American line between Odessa and New York," he added at that time.

Name of the Canadian port to be used in the service was not mentioned.

Dog Salmon Persist As Coho Run Eases

During the past few weeks the life cycle of another generation of coho was completed as they returned to their birthplace and died.

Early this fall the coho and other salmon left the waters of the Pacific to return to the fresh water streams they left four years ago. And as they fought their way up Goldstream River spectators lined the banks each Sunday to watch the annual event.

Sunday more than 3,000 people crowded into the area leaving their cars parked for a mile in either direction and eating the refreshment booth out of hot dogs.

It was the largest crowd to date this year and park ranger Freeman King described it as a nervous day for the fish. They darted from shadow to shadow in the hopes they would not be noticed.

The main run of the coho is over but the 10 to 15 pound dog salmon are still working their way up from the lower pools.

And as the coho spawn and die the seagulls and the ravens move in to clean up the debris, and the trout are on the hunt for eggs.

It is expected that this nature show in Goldstream Park will continue until the end of the month, and on Sundays the Solarium Junior League will continue to be on hand with its mobile refreshment booth.

New City Plan For Deciding Tax Exemptions

City finance committee Tuesday prescribed a formula for curing the annual aldermanic headache of deciding which groups should receive tax exemptions and how much.

A special committee meeting adopted a recommendation by city manager Dennis Young that a series of clear-cut guide lines be laid down for deciding tax exemptions to be applied for churches and private schools.

If council ratifies the proposal, it will go into effect next year and affect 56 churches and nine private schools in the city.

Notices will be sent to all groups affected by the change so that they can re-apply next year for exemptions under the new set up.

Under the proposal, public hospitals and senior citizens' housing complexes would continue to enjoy their present total exemption from city property taxes.

But the churches and private schools, which have individually obtained exemptions under varying conditions, would be treated uniformly.

PARKING PROVISION

Church buildings and the property on which they stand would be exempt plus an area of land equal to one car parking space for each 15 seats. Private school buildings and the land on which they stand would be exempt plus an area for parking and playground calculated through the provincial department of education manual on public school ground minimums.

Mr. Young said an analysis of the present hodge-podge of tax exemptions showed the proposed formula would: increase the number of totally-tax free churches from 10 to 21; add to the existing taxes, although nominally for the most part, for 32 churches; and lower the taxes of three churches.

For private schools, the formula would: increase the totally exempt from three to five; add taxes to the levy paid now by three others; and make one school pay for the first time.

MUCH ARGUMENT

Mr. Young pointed out to the committee that churches now only account for 1.82 per cent of the city's assessment roll and private schools for only .29 per cent but an inordinate amount of time and argument ensues every year to decide the specific exemptions of each church and private school.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the uniform approach to all applicants had much to commend it and he moved its adoption.

"I would be delighted if we adopted some sort of formula because in the past it has been a very hit-and-miss affair causing a lot of arguments," said committee chairman Ald. A. I. Curtis. "We need a formula that will treat all equally."

Earlier, committee heard Joseph McKenna, QC, argue for more exemption on a driveway alongside St. Andrew's Cathedral and playgrounds at St. Louis College and St. Patrick's School. The proposed formula would raise the exemptions slightly for the church and St. Louis College but lower it fractionally for the other.

IWA Officers Re-Elected At Duncan

DUNCAN — Weldon Jubenville and his slate of officers have been returned to office in Duncan Local 1-80 of the International Woodworkers of America.

The results tabulated Friday showed the Jubenville team won easily over a slate led by Ernie Boulet and Percy Clements.

Mr. Jubenville remains president with Fernie Viala, first vice-president; Paul Ross, second vice-president; Del Pratt, third vice-president; Ed Linder, financial secretary; Carl Stevens, recording secretary; William Millburn, warden; Harvey Dubeck, conductor; Jagir Jill, six-year trustee; and Jack Mumm, local safety director.

HOFFA HITS THEM ALL

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa has called the just-elected Democratic administration "a bunch of hypocrites."

Hoffa spit fire at opponents from the time his plane set down until he left a new $250,000 Teamsters Hall on the north side.

He attacked the federal courts, the Democrats and Republicans alike, big business, other labor unions, the entire U.S. government, and apathetic union members.

He hit hard at existing state and federal laws, at all news media and attempted to discredit the administration's "war on poverty."

Hoffa was here to dedicate the new Teamsters hall.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1964—PAGE 15

Arthur Mayse

The Americans have their Thanksgiving still to come, a festival so late in November that one turkey is still fresh in memory when the next doublebreasted monster arrives drumsticks-up at the table.

We Canadians, less or more lucky, have only weekends to interrupt time's flow until Dec. 25. That suits me fine! Perhaps now we can settle down to a few long-delayed minor projects which somehow or other have been shoved aside since spring.

We have a couple of rooms to paint . . . and if earth hasn't sufficiently rewarded the genius who invented paintrollers, I trust heaven will.

Excellent though fibreglass has proved itself, we've never yielded to it in the matter of flyrods. Our fine old lightweight sticks need minor attention which will consume several evenings. There are colored silk windings to be renewed and the rods could stand varnishing.

Susan's boat had a busy summer; it could use seam compound and a slap of marine white.

We may not get around to all those worthy endeavors, but it gives us a comfortable feeling to review them, while the paint is still in the cans and before we discover someone forgot to clean the brushes after our last bout.

★ ★ ★

These weeks before holiday joys and worries overtake us are precious for other reasons.

The pace slackens; the garden will be less a thorn in the conscience, because who can rake and sweep and delve when the rain-gales slash in from the Pacific. On those late afternoons and weekends, the whipping, streaming world is best shut out by walls and roof and firelight.

So we will read a lot, and talk a lot, and see the friends who have been busy as we since spring. We will walk, too — not in Gordon Head where a couple out strolling must dodge cars and traipse the soggy road-strip — but in Oak Bay and Beacon Hill.

We lack a dog these days and a dog is needed to give such walks their full flavor. But we'll admire other people's pooches, and renew the amiable argument as to whether our next should be a sturdy working type or a daschund like the one who lives down the road.

★ ★ ★

The run of easy weeks will, I hope, bring a further gift. This is the opportunity for leisured thought.

Busy modern life tends to scamp us in that department; and too often, we must think on our feet and hope our answers turn out right.

I find myself today with no satisfactory compromise worked out between the mores of my generation and the new one. If a man must attempt the Roman riding of two horses, it's well if his foothold be secure on each back!

I would like to weigh these two worlds as best I can, and perhaps stumble at least a little way toward a conclusion.

But somewhere short of boredom, I expect we'll put heavy thinking aside, and start haggling out a properly wide trail to the bluffs above the home cove.

We like such work, especially when we burn as we go, advancing foot by foot against our pocket jungle of ocean spray and Pacific willow.

Some afternoon when the sky sits low and the tang of greenwood smoke is sharp in rainy air, we will come upon one or other of the lost evergreen buried deep in deciduous growth. It will be about nine feet tall and probably flat on one side.

But if it isn't—if it happens by lucky chance to be a nicely-pyramided little tree fit for tinsel and glitter. I'll knot a strip torn from a red bandana around a branch and we'll keep that tree in mind.

89.2 Per Cent For United Appeal

Greater Victoria United Appeal campaign today reached a total of $368,228, which is 89.2 per cent of the objective of $410,000.

On Friday, Nov. 13, five foster mothers will collect funds at the corner of Yates and Douglas from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. They are Mrs. Marian Peacey, Mrs. Edith Green, Mrs. Alice Mayzes, Mrs. Bessie Light and Mrs. Barbara Salter.

MY SHATTERED NERVES and shattered windows moans homeowner Hans Norby after Remembrance Day experience he hopes he'll never have again. (Ryan Bros. photo.)

War Dead Salute Breaks Windows

Esquimalt's Remembrance Day observance became a shattering experience for at least three householders.

Following local tradition, a 105-MM. Howitzer was fired at 11 a.m.

Departing from tradition, the detonation shattered at least 16 windows in three nearby houses.

Army officials today were still trying to determine what went wrong. They suggested atmospheric conditions might be to blame; but a contributing factor might have been that this year for the first time, the gun was pointed away from, not into, memorial park.

In past services, the gun was pointed facing the park but this year it was set up facing north on Drake Street.

Major Edward Hobbs, adjutant at Work Point Barracks, said the rocky ground of the area and atmospheric conditions could be determining factors.

WILL PAY

"We have received no official damage claims yet, but if we do and they are found valid, the defence department will pay the damages," he said.

Hardest-hit house was at 1262 Park Terrace, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hans Norby.

"Ten windows were broken—three after the first round and seven after the second round," Mrs. Norby said.

"Most of the glass flew outside but several pieces were found inside. One sliver was imbedded about three-quarters of an inch in a tree six feet from the house.

"We were lucky no one was around at the time."

Mrs. Norby said municipal works crews boarded up the windows soon after the blasts, leaving several of the rooms in darkness which she termed "an unnecessary nuisance."

Three double-paned windows were shattered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hennon, 1264 Park Terrace, where glass also pitted the family automobile.

Two medium-sized panes were broken by the shock waves at 609 Drake St., owner by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Badyk.

Farmers Ask Medicare For Everyone

B.C. farmers today asked the Cabinet to extend to all citizens the government medicare scheme already in operation for civil servants.

The advisory council of the B.C. Farmers Institute urged extension of the B.C. Government Employees Medical Service.

A spokesman said this is the first time the farmers have made such a pitch for medicare.

The farmers were presenting their annual brief to the Cabinet.

The GEMS plan currently covers approximately 45,000 people, including members of the Legislature and their families.

Premiums are $10 a month for married people and $4 for a single person.

The government pays half the premium.

The farmers suggested this scheme be extended to all members of the public.

It would be adapted to allow employers to pay half of the premiums.

10-MEMBER GROUP

The scheme is run by a 10-member commission, half appointed by the government, the other five elected.

The farmers' delegation was led by Arthur Shelford of Omineca, uncle of Social Crediter Cyril Shelford who represents that area in the Legislature.

Their brief also urged the government to set up a land utilization board which would coordinate the use of Crown lands for industry, agriculture, forestry, recreation and highways.

Such a board is needed in B.C. immediately, the farm brief said.

The brief also asked for a greatly increased program of rural electrification.

Rustlers Said Running Wild In Province

Vigilantes rode into Victoria today to ask Chief Marshal W. A. C. Bennett to be harder on the rustlers.

From the ranges of B.C.'s interior cattle country came the advisory council of the B.C. Farmers Institutes.

They asked Premier Bennett for higher penalties to be imposed on cattle rustlers.

They said rustlers are running wild because of the light sentences they get if caught.

B.C. laws provide up to five years in jail for stealing strays and up to ten years for rustling cattle from pens or regular grazing lands.

But magistrates in the interior are only imposing minimal fines.

Burned-Out Family Fund Begins Again

A fund to help a burned-out mother and her seven children has been started—by the same trust company that ran a fund the last time she was burned out.

Cash donations for Mrs. Christine Crosby will be accepted by the saving department of the National Trust Company, 727 Fort.

Mrs. Crosby's home at 2741 Victor went on fire about 3 a.m. Tuesday, burning clothes, furniture and household linen.

"We will attempt to meet whatever needs there are in the way of clothing, blankets and food from our own funds," says assistant city welfare administrator Gerry Sommers.

The family has been on welfare for over a year.

Mrs. Crosby and her children were driven by fire from their home at 1020 Queens on July 2. National Trust then started a fund to help her out.

Employees are kicking off the fund with cash donations themselves.

Sheriff Sale Planned For Mural Building

The new building with the exotic Mexican murals on Fort Street near Cook is to be sold at a sheriff's auction here next month.

The building, which was opened by Premier Bennett on Aug. 20, 1963, is owned by Victoria Financial Centre Ltd.

Its sale by the sheriff has been ordered in County Court to satisfy a judgment against the owners favor of Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd., the main contractors.

The court fixed a minimum upset price of $720,000 for the building, which will be sold at a public auction in the sheriff's office at Victoria Law Courts before the middle of December.

"The sale will be advertised across Canada," a spokesman for the sheriff's office said today.

The building is fully occupied; there is a licensed restaurant in the basement and the RCMP recently rented two floors of office space.

The Montreal Trust Company, a beauty parlor, a barber shop, and several doctors occupy other parts of the building.

When it was completed last year, a fierce controversy arose regarding a colored mural made up of 16,000,000 tiles which was put up on the Fort Street facade.

ONE-MAN SHOW

The mural was designed by Andres Salgo, a Hungarian artist now living in Mexico, whose one-man show at Victoria Art Gallery caused a sensation in 1959.

He was commissioned by Victoria doctors J. G. Patterson and J. W. E. Hunt to design, construct, ship and assemble the four-part mosaic, which some art critics described as "deplorable."

Gala Welcome For Linda

A proud and excited crowd will line the streets of Sidney, Sunday afternoon, as they welcome home their own village queen, Linda Douma — Miss Canada 1965.

The reception for the fairybook princess, who was named Miss Canada in Toronto last week, will begin in Vancouver at 1 p.m., when she will be met at the airport by John Callard, president of the Sidney Lions Club.

Plans are to charter a plane from Vancouver to Patricia Bay airport. Provided the Miss Canada Productions Ltd., sanction the charter flight, the five-foot-nine-inch beauty queen will be back home at 1:20 p.m.

Accompanied by Mr. Callard, Miss Douma will be met at the airport here by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Douma and family, A. A. Cormack, chairman of the Sidney Village Council, Mrs. Cormack and Mrs. Callard.

From the airport the welcoming party will proceed to Sidney in a motorcade, and on Beacon Avenue the North Saanich high school band and the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club band will join the march.

The parade will terminate at Sanscha Hall where Miss Joan Gardner, who was Miss Sidney in 1964, will present a bouquet to Canada's new beauty queen.

At the request of Miss Douma a public buffet-style reception will be held in the hall in order that all the children in the district may take part in the fanfare.

Youth 15, Dies On First Dive

'Pal' Near Drowned In Rescue Attempt

DOUGLAS GILLAN
. . . scuba enthusiast

Douglas Gillan died on his first dive.

The 15-year-old Mount View High student drowned in about 40 feet of water off the Dallas Road waterfront just after noon Wednesday.

He would have been 16 on Nov. 24.

Douglas, of 160 Burnside East, was dragged from the ocean by his "buddy" on the dive, James Nuttall, 22, of 1744 Lee.

Nuttall nearly drowned while making the rescue and was still exhausted from the ordeal today.

Firemen were at the scene with a resuscitator by the time Nuttall towed Gillan to the shore.

Both divers were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Nuttall was treated for shock and asphyxiation.

His young companion was dead on arrival.

Navy divers tested Gillan's rented air tank today, and said it worked properly.

Wednesday's fatality culminated more than a month of SCUBA diving enthusiasm on the part of Gillan.

"He'd been after me for a long time to let him try it," said his father, C. R. Gillan.

Doug tried it . . . and Nuttall this morning told The Times what happened.

"We went in just before noon, off Holland Point," said Nuttall.

With them, standing on the shore as spectators, were friends David Beaumont, 3958 Douglas, and David McGregor, 668 Canterbury, and Nuttall's brother-in-law, Allen Brasch, 1231 Pandora.

"I showed Doug how the gear and tank worked and how to drop the weight belt in a hurry," related Nuttall.

"The sea bottom there is smooth, and I thought it would be a good place to start.

"We went out, and I held his hand all the way.

"After a while, I surfaced because I had cramps in my legs and we started to go back to shore.

LOST FLIPPER

"Doug told me he'd lost one of his flippers.

"I told him to head for shore and I'd dive for it.

"I went down, and I couldn't find it. When I came up, I couldn't see Doug.

"I shouted to the guys on the shore, and they said he'd gone down again.

"We looked in towards the shore and around some rocks and we still couldn't see him.

"I told the boys to get an ambulance. I knew something was wrong.

"I saw a spot of yellow in the water and I thought it was the flipper he'd dropped, so I went down for it.

"The yellow spot was Doug's helmet.

"He was about 40 feet down.

"I dropped his weight belt. I brought him up and put his head on my shoulder.

"I think he was still alive then.

"I started to take him in to shore and there was no strength in my legs or body.

"I fainted some time before we got to the beach."

Brasch had telephoned for an ambulance and the two other youths pulled the divers from the water just as the inhalator crew arrived.

On the crew were first-aid men Jack Gillies and Doug Chudleigh, and firemen Ray Woodbine, Bob Christianson and Bill Stark, led by Lieut. Edward Ball.

Mr. Nuttall said: "I'd kept saying 'no' to Doug when he asked me to take him out, but you can only say that to a friend for so long," he said.

"It was the first time Doug had ever been out," said his father.

Surviving are the mother and father, a brother, Paul, 11, and grandparents, aunts and uncles.

McCall Bros. are in charge of funeral arrangements.

CRY OF HUNGER AGAIN HEARD

As familiar as the cry of hunger in a Korean village is the cry of Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova in Victoria for money to buy food.

Ever since Dr. Hitschmanova organized the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada in 1945, she has conducted an exhausting campaign for funds to feed, clothe and educate children in Europe, Asia and the Far East.

Her job is rewarding. Each year Canadians enthusiastically respond to her appeal, and she is able to return to these faraway countries and see children clothed and housed, who were previously starving urchins in the streets.

But her job is never ending. Each year she sees new babies crying out for food.

Next Wednesday Dr. Hitschmanova will be here to tell you about her recent trip abroad—to tell you what your money has already done in the past—and to tell you what you can do in the future.

The meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Kirk Hall, 680 Courtney Street, 7:30 p.m.

Topic of Dr. Hitschmanova's address will be Tomorrow Without Fear.

Aldermen were holding their first council meeting today in the new legislative wing of City Hall but not in the council chamber.

The meeting was being held in the main committee room instead because Mayor R. B. Wilson is out of town at a special Union of B.C. Municipalities executive meeting.

First session in the new council chamber has been scheduled for Nov. 23 and will include an invocation and other ceremonies to mark the event.

Ask The Times

Q. Can private schools in B.C. hire teachers without teaching qualifications? I mean teachers with no professional teaching qualifications at all.

Also, are these schools under obligation to teach the required work as specified by the public school inspectors? R.K.

A. Teachers without qualifications can be hired by private schools as they are responsible for the hiring of their staffs.

Private schools are not required to teach the curriculum laid down by the department of education but most of them realize the advantages of doing so.

Many private schools are also inspected by department of education personnel, although this is not required.

MOTORBIKE RIDERS BEWARE

There's a Victim for Every Accident

By PETE LOUDON

If you're driving a car and have an accident, there's a 50 per cent chance someone is going to be hurt.

But if you are driving a motorcycle, keep the splints and iodine handy. For every reportable accident so far this year, someone has needed a doctor.

This is the essence of statistics received today from the Motor Vehicles Branch. They underline a growing concern by safety officials over the trend to motorcycles.

In the last year there has been a 100 per cent increase in the number of motorbikes on the road, largely because new foreign imports mean a boy can put himself on wheels without a heavy cash outlay.

You can buy a small machine for under $400, insure it for $25 and obtain 100 miles of highway time for the price of one gallon of gasoline.

There are 7,936 motorbikes on the road today, most of them light, low-cost machines. Between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30, there have been 275 accidents reported which involved motorbikes.

The accident rate has doubled with the number of machines on the road and its comparable to the accident rate among cars.

But where there were about 10,600 people injured in 23,000 motor vehicle accidents, there were 301 persons hurt in 275 motorcycle accidents.

Police are scratching their heads and wondering whether the heavy influx of motorcycles doesn't indicate a need for some special laws.

For instance, there is no regulation now which says a motorcycle rider MUST wear a crash helmet. Helmets can cut injuries up to 40 per cent according to the experts.

And there's the problem of testing drivers. Anyone who holds a car driving licence is qualified legally to straddle a motorbike and take to the highway, whether or not he has ever driven one before.

Only the person who applies for a motorbike licence but who never has held a car licence, is subject to a test on his machine by the testing bureau.

There are places where you may rent a motorbike by showing a car operator's licence, whether or not you have ridden a motorcycle before.

Victoria traffic inspector Brooke Douglass today said: "We don't like to think of inexperienced riders on the street without examination."

But they are there.

He favors a law requiring crash helmets. But there isn't one.

The accident rate probably will bring these things about — after many more riders are injured.

In the meantime, it's up to riders and drivers to take care.

Khrushchev Backer Gains Re-Election as Czech Head

PRAGUE (Reuters)—Antonin Novotny was re-elected president of Czechoslovakia for another five years at a special meeting of the National Assembly (parliament) today, the Ceteka news agency reported.

Novotny became one of the few men to lead both party and state in a Communist country when he was elected president in 1957, following the death of Antonin Zapotocky.

At that time he retained the key post of first secretary of the Communist party which he has held since 1953.

Novotny, 59, has been known as an uncompromising supporter of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who was replaced Oct. 15.

The son of a bricklayer, Novotny was trained as a locksmith and later was employed in various factories as a worker.

He became a member of the Communist party in 1921, the year of its foundation in Czechoslovakia.

NOVOTNY
. . . five more years

During the Nazi occupation he worked in the underground organization of the Communist party. He was arrested in 1941 by the Gestapo and imprisoned in various jails and concentration camps.

After the liberation Novotny became leading secretary of the Prague regional committee of the Communist party.

In 1951, on the recommendation of the president and party first secretary, Klement Gottwald, he was appointed to the secretariat of the party's central committee when the secretary-general, Rudolf Slansky, was arrested on charges of treason and "Titoism."

When Gottwald died in 1953 and was succeeded by Zapotocky as president, Novotny was entrusted with the management of the central committee and later appointed to the vacant post of first secretary.

Conservative MP Fails In Bid to Force SIU Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A Conservative member of Parliament tried unsuccessfully Tuesday to adjourn the regular Commons debate to discuss activities of the Seafarers' International Union Ind., the union's alleged donations to Liberal members of Parliament and the disappearance of deposed SIU boss Hal Banks.

Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) said there was an urgent need for such a debate. It was "imperative to the public interest and the maintenance of law and order." He referred to newspaper stories that said the SIU had made campaign donations to certain Liberal candidates and that Ron Basford (L—Vancouver Burrard) had admitted he received help from SIU members.

Mr. Nielsen said that if some of the allegations were well-founded it might mean some seats in the Commons are "occupied improperly."

Prime Minister Pearson said if the Conservatives were sincere in wanting to pursue the issue they could give their consent to the passing of a resolution on the order paper that would empower the committee on industrial relations to examine the maritime union trustees "concerning the acts performed and the facts found in carrying out their duties."

In an apparent reference to Monday's byelections, the prime minister said the Conservatives' attempt to raise the SIU issue was "today of all days—any port in a storm."

Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled the motion out of order on the grounds there was "no real urgency." The resolution would provide an occasion for debating the subject, he said, and just because a story is carried in newspapers "doesn't make it that much more urgent."

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said the SIU issue is more important than the redistribution bill or the flag question. It involved the breakdown of the government's moral fibre.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) said while important, the issue was not an urgent matter. Members of his party knew for months that election contributions had been made by the SIU.

Singing Separatists Give Caouette Rally Rough Ride

United Press International

QUEBEC CITY, Que. (UPI)—A Creditistes rally featuring party leader Real Caouette Wednesday night broke up in bedlam as some 40 separatists who had invaded the meeting drowned out the singing of "O Canada" sung in French.

The shouting, booing separatist sympathizers then dispersed into the streets of the working class district where the rally was held, vastly outnumbered by some 200 Creditiste supporters some of them anxious for a fight.

But except for shoving and pushing and the impact of wet snow which had begun to fall, the crowd soon dispersed, ending a stormy meeting which several times threatened to erupt in fisticuffs before breaking up at 11:30 p.m.

Earlier, the fiery Creditiste leader had won over the separatists, who had roundly booed his introduction, when he touched on subjects supported by the separatists themselves.

But having won them over, he lost them again when in a tumultuous question-and-answer period following a whipped-up speech, as he angrily shouted down a questioner who disagreed with Ralliement des Creditiste theories.

YELLS, SHOUTS

"I have known you for 20 years," he shouted to his questioner, "and you are as crazy now as you were 20 years ago."

This led to a furious round of boos, yells and shouts and Caouette over the din of the crowd announced the three-hour long rally was closed and began singing "O Canada."

As he led the crowd into "O Canada" the separatist sympathizers broke into loud booing.

Old Regiment Holds Parade For Final Time

VANCOUVER (CP) — One of Vancouver's oldest regiments, The Irish, said goodbye Wednesday at the place where they were born.

At a little park on Vancouver's east side, site of the regiment's first camp, some 200 members lined up for Remembrance Day services before fewer than 100 spectators.

The Irish — Vancouver Regiment of the Irish Fusiliers of Canada—will stand down shortly, a victim of military cutbacks.

Wearing their distinctive blue berets with towering green hackle, they paraded to Grandview Park, where the regiment was raised in 1913.

Their simple ceremony was held miles from the regular Remembrance Day observances at the cenotaph in downtown Vancouver.

The Irish fought through the First World War as part of a special Irish unit. In the Second World War they were a reserve battalion in Jamaica and supplying men to frontal battalions as required.

At present, the regiment is on call for civil emergencies and in case of war alert would be in charge of civil defence on Vancouver's north shore.

Col. D. F. Spankie, former Irish officer and regimental historian, is preparing a brief to the defence department requesting the regiment continue as an operational unit.

Jobless Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Auto industry layoffs triggered a 40,000 increase in unemployment to 258,000 between mid-September and mid-October. A joint report today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the labor department put the mid-October jobless rate at 3.7 per cent of the labor force. It was 3.1 per cent in September and 3.9 in October of 1963.

Record Bars Jail Worker From Canada

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bill Sands, prisoner rehabilitation specialist who helped lead a drive to save Caryl Chessman from the California gas chamber, Wednesday bitterly denounced officials who barred him from Canada.

Sands, 44, was denied entry into Toronto Tuesday night because of a prison sentence he served 25 years ago. When he was 19, Sands served three months for second-degree robbery at San Quentin prison where he met Chessman.

"I was very shabbily treated. I was interrogated by one man who was acting as judge and jury," Sands said in a news conference here about the Canadian experience. He said the incident may have resulted from a recent expose of alleged brutality in Canada's penal system.

Sands, who became a successful businessman, author and lecturer after his prison release, helped spearhead the widely publicized but unsuccessful effort to spare Chessman, convicted "red-light" murderer from death. Sand's wife witnessed the execution at Chessman's request and later wrote articles favoring an end to the death penalty.

Sands said he went to Toronto to take part in a program on rehabilitation of criminals for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. but officials of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration ordered him aboard a plane to Cleveland. He travelled from Cleveland to Chicago.

"When they (the officials) learned reporters were waiting to meet me at a news conference, they called back my plane, which was already in the air," Sands said.

PANEL CONCLUDES

Zoning Vital for City

Zoning is the instrument for a transition from frontier to urban society, a four-man panel on community planning concluded during a meeting Tuesday night at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

Panel members were L. E. Pope; Tom Loney, municipal planner for Saanich; and Stan Hiscock, chairman of the Metchosin-Langford advisory planning commission.

Moderator Dr. G. R. Elliott, head of the economics department at Uiversity of Victoria, summed up conclusions of the discussion as:

Unlike frontier days when a property owner could seek an individual solution to his needs, today's citizens must consider the effect of his actions on the community at large;

Changes in legislation are needed to permit municipalities to buy blocks of land and control their development instead of the present limitation under which councils can only buy land for civic purposes;

Finally, electors who value planning should cast their ballots for council candidates of like mind.

Defector Says China Seeking African Role

NEW YORK (AP)—A young Communist Chinese defector says Peking regime is far more interested in bringing communism to Africa and Latin America than to Southeast Asia.

In an article in the current issue of Look magazine as told to Quentin Reynolds, Tung Chi-ping, 24, a Chinese diplomat who defected in the African state of Burundi May 26, says:

"There is a saying in Peking and in the Communist diplomatic world that Mao Tse-tung can take over Southeast Asia any time he wishes by making six phone calls.

"Mao is wasting little money and little propaganda in that part of the world. He is far more interested in the communization of Africa and Latin America."

Tung, who was assigned to Burundi as a French interpreter, says Peking had hoped to use the little Central African country as a beachhead for the conquest of the neighboring Congo. He says the Chinese embassy there had handed vast sums to anti-government Congolese rebels led by Gaston Soumialot.

Tung also says that when Premier Chou En-lai visited Egypt a year ago "he gave President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt $50,000,000 and the Algerian rebels the same amount."

Soprano Erika Kurth will be the guest artist and Walter Cownden will serve as master of ceremonies.

THE FINEST HOURS
Sir Winston Churchill
Odeon Theatre

This remarkable documentary is largely composed of newsreel shots and old photos covering Churchill's life from his birth at Blenheim Palace, London, on Nov. 30, 1874, to his triumphant return to power in 1951.

It is also a reminder that, while he is now secure in the affections of the British people, Sir Winston was twice rejected by them. He was thrown out of office for 10 years before he took over the wartime leadership in 1940, and later suffered defeat in the first post-war election of 1945.

That was the time when H. G. Wells wrote: "Let him go before we forget what we owe him."

But for most of its 145 minutes, the film is a ringing tribute to Churchill as writer, painter, member of parliament, historian, cabinet minister and war-time prime minister.

★ ★ ★

It was produced by his American freind, Jack LeVien, who makes no effort to restrain his enthusiasm. The result is a skilful compilation of newsreels, official war records and some specially filmed material of recent vintage, including shots of Churchill's country home and the innumerable souvenirs it contains.

The film had its Victoria premiere on Remembrance Day and a large audience, including many veterans, responded enthusiastically.

They particularly enjoyed the sequence in which Churchill is seen toddling down an airstrip in North Africa trailing an incongruous umbrella behind him.

Another shot, never shown publicly before, catches him happily zipping and unzipping a new siren suit.

★ ★ ★

There are candid references to Churchill's fondness for good whisky and old brandy, and his angry outbursts against Hitler and Mussolini sound grimly humorous in retrospect.

Of Hitler he says: "This bloodthirsty guttersnipe, this montrous product of former wrongs and shames." (An apparent reference to the Treaty of Versailles.)

Of Mussolini, when he entered the war on Hitler's side: "The hyena in his nature broke all the bounds of decency and even of commonsense."

Many of the newsreel shots have been tinted so that they harmonize with the new color material and the continuity is remarkable in the circumstances

The effective background music was composed by Ron Grainer, a young Australian living in England.

PLAYHOUSE

Scenery Held Vital To Cafe

Victoria's civic square committee Tuesday asked for estimates to replace a solid wall with glass in the McPherson Playhouse restaurant so that patrons could see the centennial fountain.

Architect Alan Hodgson opposed making a change and said it would be costly. He said the solid wall was designed as a roof support and as a foil to the nearby glass-walled foyer of the theatre.

'VIEW VITAL'

"Nonetheless we feel a wider view of the square and the fountain is vital, aesthetically and economically," said Mayor R. B. Wilson. "Patrons of this restaurant are going to want to see the square."

City manager Dennis Young said everything possible should be done to make the restaurant attractive because "a series of restaurant bankruptcies could do more damage to the square than possibly anything else."

GOVERNMENT TO HELP

Indians Fight Poverty

Two governments and an Indian band are waging a war on poverty in northwestern B.C.

The 1,500 residents of Port Simpson, the provincial education department and the federal Indian affairs branch are each paying one-third of the costs of an expert who will try to cure the community's social ills.

Port Simpson is about 30 miles north of Prince Rupert.

Eleven social scientists have applied for the $695-a-month job as community counsellor.

"This will be an adult education project by which the people will try to discover how to improve their social and economic position and how to make the best of their human and other resources," an education official said.

He said the idea is based on the U.S. war-on-poverty drive.

PILOT PROJECT

It is to be a pilot project, and if successful may be tried elsewhere in B.C., the official said.

The local Indian band is rich from recent timber sales, but anxious to improve itself.

The main goal is to train people in skilled trades and find jobs for them.

"Education through community development is an experience in which the energy and ambition of a people can be inspired by confidence in the opportunity and possibility of sustained success," the education spokesman said.

Student Leadership Seminar Set Tonight

A 12-part seminar featuring two panel discussions and talks on all aspects of student activity within the university will be held tonight in University of Victoria student union building.

The student leadership seminar is designed to lend continuity to the operation of campus organization from student council downward through athletics and clubs.

Student leaders from the senior secondary schools are invited in order to help them appreciate the nature and responsibilities of student government at the university level.

Alma Mater Society president Mrs. Olivia Barr will lead off at 7 p.m. with an address on student government generally.

Uvic registrar Ronald Jeffels will follow, speaking on the administration's view of student government.

Panels, led by ex-AMS president Larry Devlin and assistant professor Alfred Loft, of Uvic athletics board, will discuss How the Alma Mater Society Operates, and athletics on the campus.

Spokesmen for pre-professional, political, religious and cultural groups will speak, followed by a coffee break.

Second half of the seminar, scheduled to end by 10:30, will include discussion of university publications, their history and operation, and including the radio society; national and international student organizations; special committees; the student union building, and activities board. Mrs. Barr will make the summation.

Beer, Wine Started Evening, Court Told

An Esquimalt sailor, charged with attempted rape, said in B.C. Assize Court Tuesday that he drank a little wine and six to eight beers before picking up a 17-year-old girl in his car.

Daniel Stanley Fletcher, 20, had pleaded not guilty to attempting to rape the girl and of indecently assaulting her on Aug. 18 last.

Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart testified that, when he questioned Fletcher on the matter on Aug. 19, he denied trying to rape the girl.

Fletcher told the court the girl agreed to go for a drink with him after work. He picked up her and two friends and dropped the friends off at their homes after a drive.

Then he said he took the girl home. On the way they stopped at a school playground and had a drink of wine. Both were sitting in the front seat of the car.

Fletcher said she then got out and started to go home but he asked her to come back and she did. He said there was some love-making with her consent but no intercourse.

Fletcher denied dragging the girl back to the car.

"She went along with me; I did not force her," he said.

His defence counsel, Alan Bigelow, moved that the charge of attempted rape be dismissed for lack of evidence. But Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton ruled that there was enough evidence for the jury to hear.

The hearing continued today.

Paris-Bonn Feud Eased by Accords

PARIS (UPI)—Western diplomats said today that two encouraging developments in Franco-West German relations may ease the crisis threatening the western alliance.

Differences between President Charles De Gaulle and German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard over the American-sponsored multilateral nuclear force (MLF) and common market farm prices had been sowing discord and creating worry in NATO circles.

However, Erhard's Christian Democratic Party voted to delay West German participation in MLF, which would defend Europe by staffing 25 NATO vessels with mixed-manned crews and nuclear arms.

DE GAULLE OPPOSED

United States officials had been pressing Germany to sign the MLF treaty soon, but De Gaulle has been opposed to the force, maintaining that it would perpetuate U.S. domination of European defence and divide the European allies.

In Brussels, French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville shelved the agricultural dispute with Germany, saying that lack of agreement on farm prices should not impede agreement in Brussels.

Foreign ministers of the six common market nations are meeting there to shape a common front for negotiations with the U.S. in the forthcoming "Kennedy Round" of tariff talks.

Tension over the MLF dispute had increased to the point where France was reported considering withdrawal of its troops and equipment from the NATO force, though retaining protection under the U.S. nuclear umbrella.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists say they have developed a rocket to plant rain-making crystals in hail clouds. They say they also are using crystals to get rid of fog.

Grass Roots Cultivated By NDP Team

The New Democratic Party is conducting a province-wide grass roots organization drive to try and recover from the setbacks of the last B.C. election.

Nine MLAs are fanning out across the province on speaking tours.

The party is advertising for a full-time provincial organizer with a salary of up to $12,000 a year.

Eleven local constituency associations are making an "every member" canvass, to bolster the party war chest.

Federal party organizer Russ Brown is in Vancouver now helping the campaign.

Last month the NDP conducted a series of policy seminars across the province in another effort to whip up enthusiasm.

LOST TWO SEATS

In the September, 1963, election, the NDP lost two seats, dropping its membership in the legislature to 14, and many of its surviving MLAs suffered a large cut in votes.

The touring MLAs will mostly visit ridings not represented by the NDP in the legislature, party secretary Ernest Hall said.

Mrs. Lois Haggen of Grand Forks-Greenwood is covering the southern part of Vancouver Island.

She will speak at a public meeting Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. in Woodsworth Hall here.

She will meet Saanich women NDP members Nov. 17 and speak to the Young Democrats Club at the University of Victoria Nov. 19.

She will also attend a number of NDP social gatherings in private homes.

'MAXIMUM SHAPE'

Provincial Leader Robert Strachan will tour lower mainland contituencies next week.

"The campaign is geared to put our membership in maximum shape by the end of the year," Mr. Hall said.

ON BREATH TESTS

Code Change Supported By Bonner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Tuesday breathalyzer tests are not completely reliable in checking impaired drivers, but he would welcome federal government action to enforce them through the Criminal Code.

He said it would be an abuse of constitutional rights if the provincial government took action on its own.

He was commenting on a request from the B.C. Peace Officers Association for compulsory breath, urine and blood tests.

"They are on sound ground when they talk about amending the Criminal Code," Mr. Bonner said.

But to impose breath tests as a condition of licensing drivers would be wrong, he added.

Mr. Bonner said breath tests at best could be no more than aids for witnesses testifying against drivers charged with being impaired.

SAFEGUARDS

"The test requires quite a number of safeguards," he said.

A driver tested immediately after taking a drink would not register sufficient intoxication to be considered impaired.

A test 20 minutes later, however, when the alcohol had been partly absorbed in the bloodstream, might prove impairment.

But a test taken an hour later, when the alcohol was completely absorbed, might show an tirely different reaction.

Mr. Bonner said the question of amending the code has already been discussed with federal law officials.

But he said the prospects are remote for any amendment in the present "confused" condition of Parliament.

Party Strategist To Speak To B.C. Tories

One of the Conservative party's top national strategists will be guest speaker at the provincial party convention Nov. 21 in Burnaby.

Dalton Camp of Toronto, president of the Progressive Conservative Association, will speak at a banquet in the Villa Motor Inn.

Provincial leader Davie Fulton is scheduled to speak on Canadian Unity.

There has been much recent speculation about Mr. Fulton's future plans. He has been urged by some followers to bid for the national Tory leadership, though he has denied any such intention.

It is expected he will make another statement at the convention.

The Women's Progressive Conservative Association will hold its convention on Nov. 20.

One of the major issues of their meeting is expected to be the result of a year-long survey of welfare policy.

. . . DOT WEST SAYS . . .

Swiss steak is usually made from rump, round or chuck. Some like it thin, some like it 1½" thick—some like to use a meat tenderizer on it—some like to pound flour into it to tenderize it. MANY prefer a Swiss steak cut 1½" thick and after browning, simmering until tender-cooked in its own juices.

SWISS STEAK
(1 lb. serves 3)

Cut the meat into serving-size pieces. Season with salt and MALKIN'S pepper on both sides. Dredge with flour on both sides, using about 3 tbsp. flour for each pound of meat. Heat a heavy frying pan and grease it just enough to prevent sticking of the meat. Turn the meat into the hot pan and sear it quickly on one side, turn it to the second side, sear it just as quickly and turn it back to the first side and reduce the heat to simmer to finish cooking. Add one cup brown stock, consomme or bouillon for each two servings of Swiss Steak. On each serving of Swiss Steak spread one teaspoon horseradish. Cover and cook at simmering heat until the steak is tender, about 1 to 1½ hours. Remove meat to a warm serving platter and keep warm for serving while making gravy.

Serve with brown gravy made by using the recipe for Brown Sauce and substituting 2 cups of Swiss Steak drippings for the 2 cups brown stock called for in the recipe.

TIPS: Remember to brown the steak well—that is one of the secrets to a good brown gravy.

Make more Swiss Steak than needed for one meal—it reheats well. Vary the flavor with each time of serving: Substitute ketchup or chili sauce for the consomme, and omit the horseradish, if desired.

'Coffee Corners' Proposed

A committee of students claims University of Victoria needs stimulus for intellectual atmosphere.

Just back from an international meeting in Moscow, Idaho, the committee is preparing a report calling for:

- Discussion-provoking "coffee corners."
- More controversial, spirited professors (backing a view of Uvic president Dr. Malcolm Taylor).
- Criticism of the professorial method, now lacking in some cases the opportunities for discussion.
- More faculty participation with students speaking out on controversial or public affairs.
- Possible revival of the "anti-calendar," listing critical analyses of professors and their courses.
- More student activities aimed at forum and seminar discussion, with more special speakers available to the whole student body and more films embracing art forms, science and travel.

TO COUNCIL

The report is being filed with student council by senior students Jim Bigsby, Rick Ogmundson and Carolyn Speakman and student union building proctor Dick Chudley, who attended the Association of College Unions meeting in Moscow.

Recommendations for intellectual stimulation form only one quarter of the report, with the rest relating to student programming.

Copies will be given to administration and faculty.

The report states there is danger of students and faculty remaining aloof after lectures, with the former gathering in the student union building or cafeterias, the latter in faculty lounges.

There should be at least one informal coffee spot in each major building that will encourage students and professors to continue classroom discussion, the report says.

Some professors tend to dictate their lecture material, rather than stimulating classroom discussion, it is claimed.

Students and faculty should take part in discussion on such local matters as air pollution and joint services, which are real problems of society.

The university is a community of thinkers on all matters, practical and abstract, the report states.

'Somewhat Astonished' Says Crump

Canadian Pacific Railway is studying a critical telegram sent Sunday by Liberal MP Ron Basford.

Board chairman N. R. Crump said he was "somewhat astonished" at the tone of the telegram. He sent a reply saying the matter would be considered.

The company's president, R. A. Emerson, said the Vancouver-Burrard MP's telegram was phrased in "somewhat lurid tones."

Vancouver exported more than 200 million bushels of grain expeditiously this year and this didn't suggest congestion on the waterfront.

Mr. Basford likened CPR to "a princely duchy which can operate without consideration of the needs of the city it is supposed to serve."

'STAGNATION'

He urged the company to review its policies on land use and track usage in False Creek and along Burrard Inlet, saying the railway's policies were creating "a collar of stagnation" around the industrial centre of Vancouver."

CPR owned or leased more than two-thirds of the False Creek area and should take more than two-thirds of the blame for the "chaotic condition" in the city's downtown core.

'Don't Send India Reactor' Canada Told

KARACHI (Reuters) — Pakistan wants Canada to refuse to supply a proposed nuclear power reactor to India until India agrees, to international inspection of its use, the Pakistani foreign ministry said Monday.

Pakistani journalists were also told in a press briefing that Canada may be asked to prevent India acquiring control of plutonium separation from the reactor which Canada provided India in 1954.

Canada was to establish a new reactor at Rajasthan under a 1963 agreement.

Official sources said Pakistan expressed concern to Canada about alleged Indian plans to make atomic bombs, which would violate India's pledge to Canada.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Edgar Bergen sounds a bit preachy nowadays . . . but he makes sense, as preachers frequently do.

He's lecturing around the country on the need of humor . . . saying all great men have been able to laugh . . . and blasting away at "tuxedo comedians" . . . at "those suave intellectual boys who are afraid to look silly."

"I'm glad the Beverly Hillbillies have done so well," Bergen told me at the 21 Club.

I looked around to see if anybody'd overheard. My goodness! Some of our intellectuals wouldn't be caught dead watching the Beverly Hillbillies. Others would be caught dead watching them, but that's the only place they'd be caught.

Bergen, 61 now, preaches that "Those sick comedians and sick playwrights can't relax and enjoy life . . . they can't laugh.

"We used to go to shows to see pretty girls and hear beautiful songs," he said.

"We'd come out saying 'Life isn't so bad. I can go back and face the job again.'

"Now we see a play and we groan. Our only consolation is, 'Well, at least I'm not as mixed up as those people.' "

THE GREATEST

Naturally, Bergen chiefly admires the greats of yesterday . . . W. C. Fields and Fred Allen . . . who were on his radio show when Charlie McCarthy was the greatest thing in America.

Those were the days when W. C. Fields would snarl at the dummy:

"If I had a shotgun, I'd make a cribbage board out of you!"

Charlie was such a sensation that when Bergen, Charlie and Dorothy Lamour arrived at Grand Central, it was like the Beatles coming to town . . . some 25 years ago.

In putting together an NBC 55-minute NBC radio show embracing the best excerpts from his famous programs, Bergen has concluded—like Ralph Waldo Emerson or somebody before him:

"It's not enough to make a success of business—and make a failure of living."

He claims the wealthiest tycoon isn't successful if he can't laugh—especially at himself.

Don't think from all this that Bergen walks only with yesterday. One of the most talented comedians of all time, he believes, is: Jonathan Winters.

"Some great comedians have ad libbed hilarious lines," said Bergen. "Jonathan Winters can and does ad lib a whole routine!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Anthony Quinn is flying here to discuss a one-man B'way show, writeen by Norman Corwin . . . There'll be off-B'way companies of "Hello, Dolly!" — in Israel and Italy . . . Veteran entertainer Connee Boswell's coming back into show business with a cafe act . . . There'll be 15 new recordings on the market this Christmas of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" . . . Anne Bancroft'll make more than $500,000 from "The Pumpkin Eater," the high salary of her career.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "When put to the test, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness."—Elbert Hubbard.

EARL'S PEARLS: The first rule in Russian elections is, "Never ask for a recount."

Arthur Maisel listened to some of the current rock 'n' roll singing idols, and sighed, "Did you ever think you'd long for the good old days of Elvis Presley?" . . . That's earl, brother,

Special Treatment For Bright Pupils

By JACK HUTTON

A controversy is simmering in public and secondary schools across Canada that is likely to become more heated before it ends.

The question: how far should we go in catering to the best brains in our school systems?

Several weeks ago a 11-year-old boy entered Michigan State University in the United States, apparently capable of handling any course that his far older classmates were tackling.

How many similar students are there in Canada, possibly sitting at the back end of a country classroom or bored to tears in a city class that never seems to go fast enough?

Two or three? Even this small number is a terrible waste if we could aid these students further and later reap the benefits of their accelerated work.

Read Shakespeare

I remember one student (I won't embarrass him by mentioning his name) who entered Grade 2, skipping Grade 1 entirely, four years ago. His teachers were amazed that their new charge had read all of Shakespeare's works!

While the other youngsters concentrated on learning the basic multiplication facts, our friend busied himself with creating theories about the sun's energy and heat sources.

The lowest mark on his report card that year was for writing. But that was understandable. He'd been typing since he was 4-years-old and found writing too slow.

That facility with the typewriter got him in trouble more than once, I remember. He became a devoted fan of give-away offers in the newspapers and magazines and wrote all over the continent.

Finally a stamp company decided it should have payment for "free" offers our friend hadn't ordered. A New Jersey lawyer was startled to receive a letter which read: "If you don't stop sending those nasty letters, you may be sued for persecuting a 5-year-old boy. That's me."

I used to hear from my friend occasionally but he hasn't written for years. And I often wonder how he's doing.

Two Thoughts

There are two schools of thought about giving special treatment to the bright student. First, many Canadian teachers still believe that separating bright students from the others creates a form of snobbery and does them more harm than good.

(I can't agree with this. After all, we separate those who are good at woodworking, typing, car mechanics and other skills.)

I was in Winnipeg several years ago when "major work classes" were first established. And I still remember vividly the controversy that swirled up over giving these selected students enriched academic work.

The second school—and I like to think this is the majority now—believes the time has come to stop pretending that we all proceed at the same pace. Some of us are better in some subjects. Others shine in other areas.

Several different ways are being used to meet this challenge. Some school systems believe in acceleration, pushing students ahead one grade at a time as they seem to be ready.

Others believe in enriching the work of selected students rather than pushing them ahead of their own age level. A great many school systems use a combination of both methods, starting this as early as kindergarten.

It all boils down to one conclusion: we can't afford to waste any of our resources in 1964. And our schools are our most precious resources.

Our Fans

The letter of a Halifax reader praising the recorded work of the Animals brought a deluge of rebuttal from angry Beatle fans—most of them, curiously, from Winnipeg.

Typical was this letter: "How dare you print that hogwash written by Miss Marshall! We would be pleased if she jumped in a lake and why don't you join her. Signed: A Beatle Fan Club."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Diane Tedder, age 14, of Tulsa, Okla., for her question:

What is an angstrom unit?

The Fahrenheit temperature scale is named in honor of Gabriel Fahrenheit who made the first thermometer. The volt unit of electrical pressure was named in honor of Alessandra Volta, who made the first chemical battery. The angstrom unit was named in honor of a Swedish astrophysicist who measured the miniature wave lengths of light.

The yard is the right unit for measuring cloth, and we measure the length of a road in miles. Both these units are too small for measuring the distances of the stars, and for this whopping job astronomers use a whopping unit called the light year. All these units are far too clumsy for measuring the infinitesimally tiny wave lengths of light, miniature atoms, molecules and the thinner-than-thin membranes of living tissues.

The angstrom unit is one of the units invented for these and other microscopic measuring jobs. It was named in honor of Ander Jonas Angstrom who, in the last century, did pioneer work with the spectrum. Scientists the world over use the metric system to figure their complicated math problems—and the angstrom unit is based on the meter. It is one 10-billionth part of the standard meter. If we could slice a meter into 10 thousand-million equal parts, each submicroscopic section would be an angstrom unit.

The length of such a tiny unit is hard for our minds to grasp. The meter is equal to 39.37 inches, which makes it slightly longer than a yard. It is divided into 100 centimeters, each of which is a little shorter than half an inch. There are 10 millimeters in the centimeter, and the angstrom unit is a 100-millionth part of a centimeter. The wave lengths of visible light range from 3,800 to 7,800 A.U., angstrom units. The diameters of most molecules range from 3 A.U. to 230 A.U.

Studied Spectra

Infinitesimal lengths also may be measured in millimeters, microns and millimicrons. In the metric system, the prefix milli is coined from an older word for 1,000, and micro comes from a Greek word for a million. The millimeter is a 1,000th part of a meter, and the micron is a millionth part of a meter. There are 1,000 millimicrons in a micron, and if you figure that there are a million micromicrons in a micron, you are correct. If you use the basic data of the metric system farther, you will discover for yourself that there are 10,000 A.U. in a micron and that a micromicron is 100 times longer than an A.U.

Ander Jonas Angstrom studied the spectra of the sun and the glimmering aurora. He identified certain blazing gases from the vivid bands of color that flash across the rainbow spectrum and he was the first to discover the presence of hydrogen in the sun. But Angstrom's measurements of wave lengths were off by one part in 7,000 or 8,000. The meter he used happened to be slightly shorter than the standard meter of the metric system.

* * *

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Mike Weiser, age 12, of Great Bend, Kan., for his question:

Why cannot the giraffe make a sound?

The gentle giraffe we see in the zoo is a quiet fellow with nothing at all to say for himself. For this reason we take it for granted that the giraffe and his family are speechless animals. But this is not quite true. The giraffe has vocal cords and a voice. However, even in the wild state, he is not a very talkative animal.

But there are times when he utters a sound or two. Male giraffes have been heard to bellow at each other, though rather softly. The mother giraffe makes a mooing sound to call her baby. And Junior is the noisiest member of the family. When lost or scared, the leggy young fellow blares like an unhappy calf.

China Holding Upper Hand

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

China's team in Moscow seems to have the new Soviet regime over a barrel in the struggle over what direction world communism will take.

Premier Chou En-lai and his delegation forced a concession from the Kremlin in return for extending the current chilly truce in the dispute. From its strong bargaining position, China appears to have forced the Kremlin to back away from its plans for a December meeting of international Communist leaders to prepare for a world meeting.

Instead, there are to be Soviet-Chinese talks in Peking early next year. But in the long run, this concession means little.

The talks this week accomplished little beyond temporarily halting the barrage and counterbarrage of villification which flew between Moscow and Peking in Nikita Khrushchev's time. This ceasefire now may last into 1965, or at least keep the battle in a minor key.

But up to now the new Soviet leadership under Leonid Brezhnev as Communist party first secretary and Alexei Kosygin as premier seems to have failed in an important respect to meet the Chinese price for anything approaching real peace.

While talks went on in Moscow, Peking's propaganda laid down peace conditions in no uncertain terms. The conditions are harsh and probably never can be met by the Russians.

The Peking People's Daily, the voice of the Chinese party, warned that the Soviet Union, if it wants to restore unity, will have to support violent revolution everywhere, regardless of risk.

Peng Chen, a power in the Peking politburo, said in a speech this week that "victory of the people's revolution will not come as a matter of course," a pointed warning that Russia would have to stop dragging its feet and disregard risks of war involved in supporting violence.

The Chinese make these points: The Soviet Union must refrain from dictating to other parties. The People's Daily said Moscow must treat Peking as equal, and "it is only when these principles are strictly observed, not only in word but in deed, that the unity of the international Communist movement can be strengthened."

Moscow must purge from power all who supported Khrushchev. The People's Daily called Khrushchev "chief representative" of "modern revisionism," clearly meaning that many more remain in the Soviet party.

The Chinese leaders insist the world Communist split was no fault of theirs, indicating that if there is to be a cure, it is up to Moscow.

BOYS SET FIRE TO CHURCH SCHOOL

'Revenge on the Priests'

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teen-aged boys admitted Wednesday that they set fire to a Brooklyn Roman Catholic school to get "revenge on the priests" who had punished them for drinking wine, police said.

Police said the boys, 15 and 16, admitted they had been drinking Tuesday night before they slipped into the school's cafeteria and set fire to papers stuffed under the benches.

The blaze burned out the cafeteria, two classrooms and a library and forced the closing of the school.

The youths had been suspended from all parish youth activities for drinking.

NUCLEAR DISARMERS picket RCAF Station Comox. These two men took it in shifts with two others to parade outside the base's main gate this week. The group of UBC students spent a 24-hour vigil at their posts. In picture are Dick Woodsworth (left) and Randy Enomoto, both fourth-year honors students. The two others are asleep in a car. They are objecting to storage of nuclear arms at the base. (Photo by Flett Studios.)

Peace Marchers Quit Short of Cuban Goal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eight peace marchers who planned to walk from Quebec City to Cuba called it quits Wednesday, 18 months after they began and 400 miles short of their goal.

"The impression we made on the public conscience is far more important than the physical act of reaching Cuba," said Bradford Lyttle, 36, co-ordinator of the march.

"We succeeded in our intent."

The marchers, sponsored by the Committee for Non-Violent Action, left Quebec on May 26, 1963. They arrived in Miami, footsore and weary, a year and three days later.

Their announced destination was the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo, Cuba, a goal denied them by enforcement of a U.S. state department ban on travel to Cuba.

All along their route they demonstrated against the travel ban, against militarism, against racial discrimination and for "friendship and understanding between peoples."

They were jailed in Albany, Ga., for almost two months after an integration demonstration. In Miami, Cuban refugees threw red ink on them.

The marchers bought a used 24-foot motor launch for $1,600, spent another $1,400 fixing it up and finally, two weeks ago, set out from a Miami marina for Havana and Guantanamo.

The boat, carrying Lyttle and four others, got only a few hundred yards out into the choppy water of Biscayne Bay before it was stopped by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter.

The boat was towed back to a coast guard station, but the marchers refused to leave their vessel. The next day they were hauled bodily out of the launch, put on trucks and dumped outside the military reservation.

They'll return to their homes early next week, Lyttle said.

Ontario Negroes Ask End to Segregation

COLCHESTER, Ont. (CP) — Colchester South Public School Board has set further meetings to consider a brief presented Monday by Negro parents in school section 11 who charge segregation and unfit conditions in the school system.

The brief demanded a commitment by the board that Negro children from SS 11 be enrolled at other schools in Colchester South by Jan. 1. The parents claim conditions at the school are unsanitary and unfit for children.

Part of the segregation claim is based on the premise no white child, although there are some who reside in the section, ever sought admission to attend SS 11, and that white children walked by the school to attend another about one mile away.

Earlier Negro teachers of SS 11 dismissed as "unfounded" allegations that the school trustees were discriminating against the school.

POOR CONDITIONS

The brief presented Monday criticized the Ontario department of education for allowing substandard conditions to exist at SS 11. It stated toilet facilities were poor and children had to carry drinking water to school in jars at one time.

Board members said they needed time to consider the charges and would set a date for another meeting with a committee of the parents within the next few days.

Colchester is about 20 miles southeast of Windsor.

Plea Goes Out For Instructors In Calisthenics

More than 100 boys and girls between the ages of five and 12 enjoy calisthenics every Sunday afternoon in the backyard at 865 Kindersley, or in the gymnasium at HMCS Naden.

There are many more boys and girls who would like to do the same but there are no more instructors available.

Classes are held each Sunday between 2 and 4 p.m. and volunteer instructors may pick and choose the Sunday most convenient for them to work.

It does not require an expert gymnast to qualify for the job. What is needed most is someone willing to supervise and guide the children in their exercises.

Anyone wishing to help should phone 384-4372 after 6 p.m.

Veterans Given Pension Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—On the eve of Remembrance Day, Veterans Minister Teillet announced in the Commons Tuesday increases in pensions for virtually all veterans receiving benefits.

Mr. Teillet said supplementary spending estimates would be placed before the Commons shortly and all increases would be made effective as of Sept. 1, 1964. The increases are expected to cost the government another $33,750,000 a year.

The announcement also came on the eve of an annual submission to the cabinet by the Royal Canadian Legion.

PENSION ACT

The increases cover veterans receiving benefits under the Pension Act, the War Veterans Allowance Act and the Civilian War Pensions and Allowances Act.

War disability pensions, received by some 200,000 veterans, their widows and orphans, will be increased by about 10 per cent. The maximum now is $2,160 a year. A total disabled veteran also receives an additional $720 annually if married and $324 for one child.

CHRONICALLY ILL

Allowances for chronically ill veterans will be increased, with the maximum payable jumping to $3,000 annually from the present $1,800.

War veterans allowances, which cover some 50,000 veterans and about 25,000 widows and orphans, will be raised to $94 a month from $84 for single persons and to $161 from $144 for married persons.

These allowances are limited to veterans or dependents who meet qualifications on income limits. The announcement said the maximum permissible outside income for persons under this program will be increased to $1,596 a year for a single recipient from $1,296 and to $2,664 from $2,088 for married recipients.

'Rude Noises' Banned

BLANTYRE, Malawi (UPI)—An official of the ruling Malawi Congress Party announced Monday that anyone making rude noises or signs as Malawi Premier Hastings Banda passes by in a motorcade will be "reported and dealt with" by the authorities.

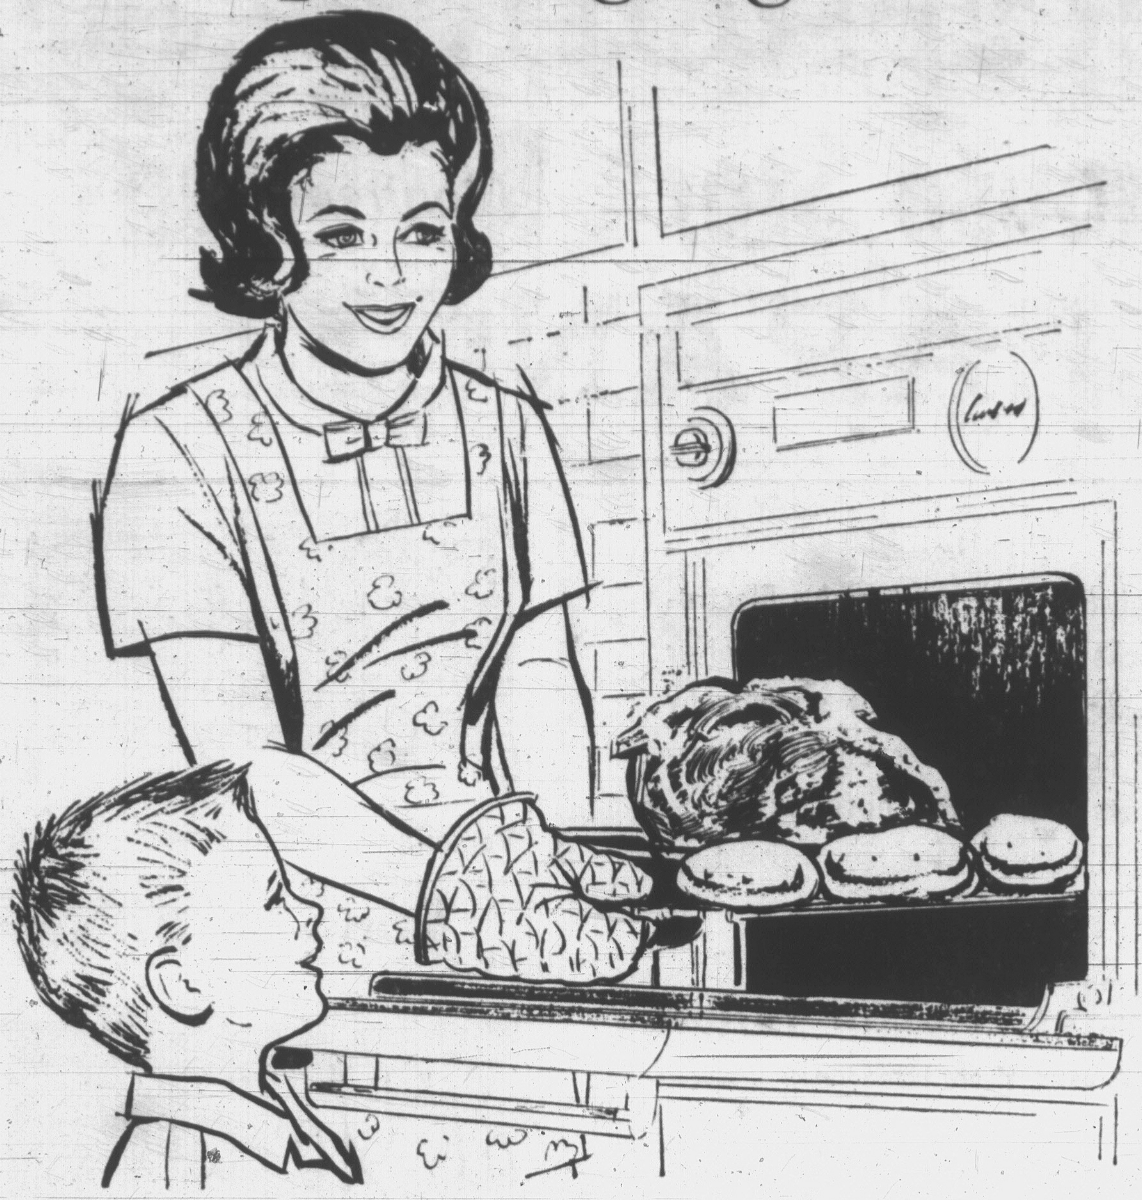
Proper 'Aging' Makes the Difference in Woodward's Meat



We start out with the finest beef in the country when we buy it, but just buying good beef isn't enough. Beef must be slowly aged under just the right conditions of temperature and humidity to be perfectly tender and flavourful when you buy it. That's just what we do. For fourteen days (not just 10 like some markets) we gently age our beef to perfection. For this weekend's menus choose your favourite cut at Woodward's.

PIGEONS PANIC

Pandemonium Reigns In Trafalgar Square

By Judy Richardson

Trafalgar Square will never look the same again—to my eyes at least.

Richardson

Before Guy Fawkes' Night, the name conjured up a picture of fountains, lions sprawled around the base of a column that soars up and up until Nelson perched at its top must feel like the nose cone of the latest rocket at Cape Kennedy and masses of tourists, convinced they must be covered by masses of pigeons in order to have their pictures taken.

But then someone suggested that sometimes the English get together in Trafalgar Square and "Watch out, the meeting is apt to be a bit explosive."

With no pun intended, that is what it was like on Nov. 5, the date the English traditionally celebrate the foiling of Guy Fawkes" Gunpowder Plot in 1605. On that occasion, says a handy little reference book we bought on a recent visit to Madame Tussaud's Waxworks, five of the conspirators intending to blow up the Protestant Houses of Parliament were killed resisting arrest and eight executed.

Proof of the increased population of England, 100 people were arrested at this year's celebration (or 79, if you take another newspaper's more conservative count).

The Telegraph went on to say: "The majority were charged with discharging fireworks, two with assaulting police, three with paddling in the fountain, and three with insulting behavior."

Linda, myself and friend Tom (for protection) joined the "crowds of thousands" about 8 o'clock. Most of them were being kept constantly on the move on the sidewalk around the square by an almost, or so it seemed, equal number of policemen directing them to "Move along please." Eventually we found a staircase not cordoned off by helmeted "bobbies" and descended into the mass.

Attention was focused on the fountains where two black leather-clad teen-agers had begun to frolic. (The boys are wearing their hair so long and the girls so short that it's less confusing to lump them all under one heading!)

The number gradually increased as more and more decided to take a shower fully-clothed. One girl had come prepared. She stripped to a bathing suit, but only after the rest of her clothing was thoroughly soggy. We, in our long underwear, extra sweaters and scarves, shivered in sympathy from the vantage point we had found on a bench near the wall—far away from any playful splashers.

Teen-Agers Take Over

The crowd was predominantly teen-age. Girls screeched and ran from firecrackers thrown into the midst of the mob. Policemen occasionally dragged offenders off by the scruff of the neck, although we never really knew why. A few girls were carried off and the ambulance sounded several times, but I think they had just fainted rather than been hurt by an exploding firework.

The television cameras appeared sometime during the night, much to the delight of those capering in the fountain near us. But they missed the main performance of the evening. This was given by a youngster wearing a motorcycle helmet that had been transformed by a red plume into the chariot-racing headgear of a Roman centurion. He climbed into the upper bowl of the fountain and tried, as many had done, to stifle the fountain's geyser by sitting on it. But in the attempt to stop the gush of water, he discovered it was more fun to direct it. Some of his efforts were much more picturesque than the ordinary display. And the ones that failed as the tremendous pressure upset his balance drew laughter from the whole mob. It was a great evening for attention-seekers, provided they didn't mind a little water.

Tiring of the mob around 10, we headed for Piccadilly and a cup of hot chocolate. There was a new sound on the streets—the indignant chunkering of hundreds of displaced pigeons.

Bannier, Mr. Walter McConville, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stan Moore and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ford.

Having fun going over some of the items that will be sold at a Mother Goose Fair, to be held at St. Philip's Anglican Church Hall, Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. are, left to right; Mrs. J. W. Loader, Mrs. A. E. Loft, Mrs. H. C. F. Elliot, who will open the affair, and Mrs. R. O. Wilkes. Afternoon tea and children's refreshments will be served. Stalls will feature dressed dolls, clothes, stuffed animals, home baking, aprons, hats, plants, flowers, preserves, candies, knitted items, novelties, jewelry and a fish pond. General conveners are Mrs. S. Hayward and Mrs. W T. Armstrong.

Newlyweds Will Live in Montana

The strains of the United States Air Force theme song, "Off We Go Into the Wild Blue Yonder," played by Al Denoni's orchestra, followed Alec Kenneth Wright Smith, USAF, and Mrs. Smith when the couple left the White Eagle Hall for a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore., and their new home in Glasgow, Mont., following their recent marriage.

The bride, Ruth Doreen Levert, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Leon Levert, 1219 Lockley Road. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elias Kent Smith of Portland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length silk brocade gown in antique white, made by Mrs. L. Brown. The bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. A two-tier veil, trimmed with lace, misted from an aurora borealis tiara. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

White baskets of gold, bronze and white chrysanthemums and yellow ribbons decorated First United Church for the ceremony at which Rev. Robert J. D. Morris officiated.

Soloist, Stan Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Bell-skirted gowns in Oriental blue were the choice of matron of honor, Mrs. R. Lindal, sister of the bride; maid of honor, Miss Patrica Burch; and bridesmaids, the Misses Karen Smith, sister of the groom, and Gail Levert, sister of the bride. All wore toning headpieces of organza and velvet roses, trimmed with net, and heart-shaped silver pendants, gift of the bride and groom. They carried cascade bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

Flower girl, Donna Shoemaker, Seattle, wore a frock of yellow chiffon over taffeta and a heart-shaped silver locket, gift of the bride and groom. She carried a basket of yellow roses, gold chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Don Shoemaker, Seattle, was best man and Robert Lindal, Bruce Lindal and Tim Freed, Portland, were ushers.

A four-tier wedding cake, made by the bride and decorated by Bert Merrit, centred the bride's table at the reception. The cake was topped with wedding bells.

Charles L. Moore proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

For travelling, the bride donned a three-piece double-knit suit of cranberry red.

NO OPERA HOUSE

Singer Pans Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—It's "amazing that a city like Montreal, which considers itself cultural, hasn't got an opera house," says soprano Micheline Tessier.

The Paris-born singer who has lived most of her life in Canada and who began singing professionally six years ago in Germany said "just about every little town in Germany has one."

"Why do they have to spend all that money on chemicals, ships and armaments and so little on the arts?"

Miss Tessier, wife of Le Devoir music critic Gilles Potvin, travelled to Israel in late summer with her husband for that country's music festival.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Something's Wrong!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My only brother died in California a few years ago and was cremated. When I visited his widow this summer, I asked to be taken to the place where my brother's ashes were kept. She opened the door of a closet which was crowded with junk, old luggage and boxes jammed in every which way. Finally she unearthed a shoe box and said, "Here it is." I was speechless. I didn't even open the box, but handed it back to her. I was shocked that my beloved brother's ashes were kept in such a place. I cut my visit short, but it's been on my mind ever since and I don't know what to do about it. My sister-in-law goes to church regularly and says grace before meals. Please put my mind at ease with some advice. Am I overly sentimental?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: No. Apart from your sister-in-law's appalling lack of respect of her husband's remains, something else is cockeyed here. There are laws governing cremation and the disposition of ashes. They are either placed in an urn and kept in a bona fide cemetery, put in a mausoleum-type building, or buried in the earth (like a casket) with a marked grave. Ask your sister-in-law how come your brother's ashes are in a shoe box in her closet?

DEAR ABBY: My second wife and I have been married for 15 years. My first wife died. I had eight children by my first wife and none by my second. When my children introduce me to any of their friends, they say "This is my father . . . and this is Mary." Mary has gone all out to be a good mother to my children and she has been a wonderful wife to me. All the children are married and have children of their own, so they could call us "Grandpa and Grandma." Or they could refer to Mary as their stepmother, or even "Mrs. So and So." What procedure should I use to get my children to refer to my wife in a more respectful manner?

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: Why not call your children together and ask that they refer to your wife in a manner more pleasing to you? I vote for "Grandma" for the children and see nothing wrong with "Mary" the rest of the time.

DEAR ABBY: That Tampa funeral director who said the one who cries the loudest at a funeral is usually the one who did the least for the deceased during his lifetime doesn't know what he's talking about. My husband was killed in an automobile accident in July, and I don't know who cried louder, his mother or me, but everybody at the funeral will tell you it was close. He was the pride and joy of his mother's heart, and there was nothing in this world I wouldn't have done for him. I don't remember what I wore to the funeral but my sister-in-law told me later that I wore my heavy winter coat (in July) And I couldn't tell you who rode where in the funeral procession. All I can remember seeing was that hearse ahead of me. Gee, that Tampa man's letter burned me up.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Reporter Wins Battle Against Frowsy Floors

By Penny Saver

With the Christmas holidays looming near on the calendar, Penny took a look around the house to see what decorating should be done before the seasonal stampede. Like most housekeepers, she wanted to keep the house looking neat and tidy for visitors and people who would be dropping in during the holidays.

One look at the kitchen floor and Penny knew it had to go. The tiles were scarred and covered with little nicks and scrapes from the heavy traffic it had endured over the years. So Penny went shopping for a floor-covering which would look nice and yet bear up well under the strain of everyday hard use.

The store I was in has a new asbestos vinyl tile which has a raised surface to give a pebbled effect. It is easily washable and because of the rough surface, doesn't show marks easily. Tile can be laid in an instant by the household handyman. One square yard is priced at $2.70.

Another distinctive surface which would be ideal for the rumpus room is a wood grain design.

When Penny had solved the floor problem she found the kitchen cabinets would have to have a complete face-lifting. A coat of paint would look better, but the cracks, breaks and nail holes would still remain to give that unfinished look. And Penny's cabinets are made of a natural wood finish which she didn't want to destroy by paint.

She found a putty stick which will fill all blemishes on any natural or stained wood. The stick comes in all wood finish colors. You just put it on, wipe off the excess and it dries almost immediately with no marks left. Putty costs 49 cents a stick.

If the ceiling of a room is starting to crack or look dingy, Penny also found a ceiling tile which will soundproof your room while it beautifies it. Tile comes in two shades—white and pearl—and has a rough texture. It sells for 20 cents a square foot.

Planning on doing any redecorating before the holiday rush begins? Then call Penny at 382-3131 and find out where she shopped.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Neglect Your Neck While Beauty Building

The neck is one of the first spots to give a woman's age away. I wonder why they say "give a woman's age away." It doesn't give it away. It pins it on her and often exaggerates it!

Lowman

If any of you have been "sticking your neck out" let me give you some suggestions and exercises to correct the damage done.

The first thing to remember is not to stick your neck out. Posture has a tremendous effect on the appearance of the neck. The chin should neither protrude forward or duck into the neck. It should be carried parallel to the floor. Then push towards the ceiling with the top of your head. Try this and you will feel the stretch of the vertebra of the neck and can see the lines disappear or lessen.

So, improved posture is the number one medicine. Many women have young faces and old necks. One reason for this is that many of them do not give their neck the same careful lubrication to which they treat their face. The neck, as well as the face, is exposed to the weathering and aging processes. Treat it with care.

If your neck is sallow, the use of a complexion brush to stir up circulation is sometimes helpful. Many women find a circulation cream beneficial for the same reason.

Exercise is also important. Sometimes the muscles are stretched by poor posture and often they have become shortened. The tendency is to shorten as the years pass. A woman who had the most youthful neck I have ever seen (and she hadn't had face lifting) did this simple exercise regularly.

Lower your head backwards as far as you can, low enough to feel the pull under the chin. Raise your head. Do this slowly. A few times each night will do the job.

Here is another for firming the neck muscles. Assume correct posture. Place the palms of your hands on your forehead. Push forward with your head as you resist with the hands. Hold for six seconds. Relax.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Is Your Chinline a Pain In the Neck?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 10. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Teacher of Handicapped Children Spearheaded Drive for a Centre

REGINA (CP)—Leda Jean Davis started teaching handicapped children in the butler's pantry of a renovated Regina home 19 years ago.

"At that time some people couldn't see the point of teaching a handicapped child."

But since then, partly through Mrs. Davis's efforts, attitudes have changed, and when she retired this year she left a post at a modern, well-equipped centre.

"I'm proud of my kids," she says. "I'm thankful I've been allowed to see my students go on to university or vocational training and then take their place in society."

Her first classroom was the butler's pantry of a house used as branch headquarters by the Junior Red Cross. Classroom hours were two hours a day.

"I'd go home frustrated for I felt I couldn't accomplish anything with the children in this short time."

She launched a campaign for longer teaching hours for her disabled children and in 1947 won support from the board of education for a normal school program.

She taught as many as 16 youngsters in grades 1 to 8—"not much different from country schools."

In 1949 the Junior Red Cross moved to Regina General Hospital and she got a bigger classroom and more children.

In 1953 she moved to the Regina Physical Restoration Centre and was given added staff. Eventually she was required only to teach high school grades and look after administration.

Heirloom Kilt Worn by Small Ring Bearer Adds Scottish Touch to Recent Marriage

A family heirloom kilt and red vest worn by ring bearer, Master Ian Trepanier, added a Scottish note to the recent wedding ceremony in Augborg United Church, Hagensborg, B.C., that united Elizabeth Janet Cameron and John Fisher Dunbar.

The young boy carried the rings on a white satin cushion.

Petite Anne Trepanier was flower girl for her aunt in a white chiffon frock highlighted with a red sash. She carried a basket of heather.

Matron of honor, Mrs. D. Trepanier, sister of the bride, wore a gold crystalette gown with gold accessories and corsage of white gardenias.

Rev. R. Boulger officiated at the double-ring ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cameron of Bella Coola, B.C., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunbar, 2849 Heath Drive, Victoria.

White chrysanthemums at the altar decorated the church and pews were marked with nosegays of heather. Organist was H. Giles and soloist, Mrs. H. Schuetze, sang "Because" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace and net that featured a bateau neckline trimmed with pearls. Sleeves ended in lily points. Her shoulder-length bouffant veil pouffed from a pearl tiara. She carried a Bible belonging to her maternal grandmother. It was topped with a spray of white gardenias and heather.

Best man was Wayne Saugsted and guests were ushered to their pews by Don Trepanier.

Piper Tom Harvey piped the couple into Colonial Hall for the reception that followed. The bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake, decorated with pink rosebuds and flanked by white candles in silver candelabra, and silver vases of tiny pink roses and pink heather. Norman Saugsted proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on a honeymoon trip down the Oregon coast, the bride wore a royal blue knit suit with otter-toned accessories, blue feather hat and corsage of white gardenias.

Gravity Variation Blamed For U.S. Space Mis-Fires

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space scientists here have expressed doubt that any truly mysterious forces are involved in the reported temporary joggling of U.S. satellites out of orbit as they pass over the Solomon Islands in the southwest Pacific.

They said there are long-known variations in the earth's gravitational pull at various parts of the planet's surface—including a fairly large one in the Solomons area. These could explain the transient deviations of satellites from their average courses not only above the Solomons but above certain other parts of the globe, the scientists said.

They pointed out in interviews that one of the missions of all spacecraft is to help fill in large gaps in science's knowledge of the vagaries and caprices of mother earth's gravitational pull at different sites.

Better understanding of this could aid in such things as prospecting for oil and minerals, more precisely mapping the world for peace-time and military purposes and improving air and water navigation.

A report that American satellites are wandering temporarily off their celestial highways as they whizz high above the Solomons came this week from Dr. George P. Woollard, director of the Hawaii Institute of Geophysics. He is one of the world's leading authorities on gravity deviations, known technically as "anomalies."

FINDS IT MYSTERIOUS?

The reports appeared to indicate that Woollard, while attributing the deviations to excess gravity, though there was something mysterious about it.

Scientists here when asked to comment on the report, said they thought there might have been a misunderstanding of some sort. They said Woollard certainly is aware of the anomalies in the Solomons area, although he may now be seeking more precise detail about it.

Meanwhile, scientists associated with the U.S. space program, including Dr. Robert Newton of the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory, said there has been no evidence of any American satellites going off course beyond the normal deviations expected from gravitational oddities.

Air force sources provided a similar report on their military and scientific satellites.

Newton said virtually all satellites pass over the Solomons at one time or another.

Discount Rate Hiked

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden raised her discount rate to five per cent from 4½ per cent Friday in an effort to counter an expected downward trend in this neutral nation's trade balance. The increase is effective immediately.

Soviet Union Rejects New U.S. Plan in UN Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union's UN delegate has dismissed as "empty" President Johnson's overture to resolve the deadlock over financing of UN peacekeeping activities.

Johnson in a message Wednesday said the United States is willing to resolve the U.S.-Soviet dispute "in any number of possible ways . . . consistent with the UN charter."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko told reporters that Johnson's statement was "an empty thing" and that his government would not budge from its position.

The Soviet Union refuses to pay $52,600,000 in arrears for The Congo and Middle East peacekeeping operations. It charges the assessments are illegal because they were approved by the General Assembly rather than the Security Council where the Russians have a veto.

The United States has vowed to strip the Russians of their voting rights in the General Assembly under a UN charter provision calling for such action if a nation falls two years behind in its assessments. The Soviet Union has indicated it might quit the UN if it is deprived of its vote.

The Russians could avoid a showdown if they pay $5,700,000 of the amount due before the assembly convenes Dec. 1.

$75,000-a-Year Job Offered Salinger

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Sen. Pierre Salinger, who was defeated in last week's election, has been offered the post of president of the National Association of Broadcasters, Sherwood Gordon, his campaign chairman, disclosed Friday.

The $75,000 a year post has been vacant since the resignation of Leroy Collins.

Gordon said Salinger has not confirmed whether he will accept the offer but has confirmed he plans to remain in California.

Fishermen Drown

HOPE (CP) — The bodies of two lower mainland fishermen, who police say apparently drowned, were recovered Saturday at Ross Lake near the U.S. border. Police said it appeared James Irving, 64, and Davie Collins, 40, both of Port Moody, had drowned while fishing in the lake.

Byelection Set In Sask. For Dec. 16

REGINA (CP)—Hanley constituency voters will go to the polls Dec. 16 in the first provincial by-election called since the April 22 Saskatchewan election.

Former Saskatchewan chief justice W. M. Martin, acting in the absence of Lt.-Gov. R. L. Hanbidge, issued the writ of election Tuesday, seven days after the seat was declared vacant under the Controverted Elections Act.

The seat, on the outskirts of Saskatoon, has been a centre of controversy since it was won by Herb Pinder, Liberal industry minister in the government of Ross Thatcher.

Official returns gave him the seat by 30 votes but a judicial recount upset the election and Robert Walker, attorney-general in the former CCF government, won the seat by two votes.

Mr. Pinder, who continued as Industry minister after the recounts, launched an action under the Controverted Elections Act in a bid to prove there were enough irregularities in election procedure to have the election set aside.

ANGERED BY 'HIGH COST' ATTACKS

Drug Makers to Fight Back

TORONTO (CP) — Drug costs were defended at the annual conference of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association Tuesday. Delegates were told to reply forcefully to unfair criticism of the industry's economics.

Etienne Junod of Basle, Switzerland, head of an international drug firm, said that on an average drug manufacturers get only 50 cents out of every $1,000 of family income among their purchasers.

All too often, the public picks on a drug product that is enjoying spectacular success and forgets about the enormous expense of research and development, said Mr. Junod, also president of the Pharmaceutical Industries Association which represents drug manufacturers in several European countries.

The advice that manufacturers should reply forcefully to unfair economic criticism came from Dr. Denis E. Wheeler of London, past president of the British Pharmaceutical Association.

The report of the Hall royal commission on health service, a blueprint for a Canada-wide compulsory public plan proposed to the federal government, drew criticism from three organizations.

'COULD BECOME PAWNS'

Dr. Frank Turnbull of the Canadian Medical Association said "most doctors do not relish the thought of governmental control of medicine. Our worst fear is that we could become pawns in the game of politics."

Prof. J. L. Summers of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association said pharmacists disagree with the report's provision for a $1 prescription fee, suggestions that pharmacists could discount this fee if they wished and proposals for a national drug formulary.

H. D. Cook of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers said the commission's recommendations on massive imports of generic drugs could sacrifice the Canadian industry.

The association awarded Dr. Ray Farquharson, professor emeritus of medicine at the University of Toronto and chairman of Canada's Medical Research Council, a medal of honor in recognition of his contributions as a teacher, research scientist, administrator and doctor.

Ex-President of Turkey Released

ANKARA (AP) — Former president Celal Bayar of Turkey, 81, has been released from jail, Justice Minister Sedat Cumrali announced. A medical team decided prolonged imprisonment could endanger his life, the minister added. Bayar was chief of state from 1950 until his overthrow by the military coup of May, 1960, after which he was tried and sentenced to be hanged. The sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment because of Bayar's advanced age.

Cost-of-Living Bonus On Pensions Explained

OTTAWA (CP)—Existing old age pensions—increased to $75 monthly a year ago—could go up by 75 cents or $1.50 in 1968 and by higher amounts in subsequent years to reflect increases in the cost of living.

This was revealed in the third version of the contributory Canada Pension Plan.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh previously had announced that the contributory pension will rise each year when there is a jump in the consumer price index compiled by the bureau of statistics.

The new flexible feature of the "flat-rate pension" or old age security will work this way:

Each year at June 30, the health department will compute the change in the bureau's consumer price index over the last 12 months.

If the index has gone up by one per cent or more, the monthly pension for the next 12 months will go up by one or two per cent—no less, no more and no fraction in between.

LIMIT ON INCREASE

If the index has jumped by more than two per cent, the pension increase will be held to two per cent, or $1.50 monthly the first time, $1.55 the second time and so on.

If the index has increased by less than one per cent, or has dropped, the pension will remain unchanged.

The resulting pension increases are expected to be covered by increases in government revenues. When consumer costs go up, salaries and income tax revenues normally go up as well.

The changes announced Monday night will come into effect in 1968 if the Canada Pension Plan is passed by Parliament in its present form.

The consumer price index increased by 1.6 per cent in the 12 months ended Oct. 31. If the old age pension was reviewed now, it would go up by one per cent or 75 cents a month for the next year.

The old age pension is paid to all Canadians aged 70 or more.

WHO MOVED THAT POLE?

He Walks His Own Blind Alley For Five Miles Every Morning

By MARGE GILROY

Have you ever returned to a city after a year's absence and found a new telephone pole in the boulevard? Chances are you wouldn't even notice it.

Charles Hornsby, 941 McClure Street, found a new pole at the corner of Government and Michigan, but he found it the hard way. Mr. Hornsby has had two plastic eyes since the First World War.

"Boy, did I hit it!" said Mr. Hornsby when he spoke of his discovery.

The only time the blind veteran ever saw Victoria was during a brief training period here in 1916. It was almost 40 years later before he returned to Victoria to live, but within a short period he could probably have qualified as a guide.

"Take me anywhere you like and I can tell you where I am," said the 72-year-old veteran.

To keep in shape he takes a five-mile walk every morning. His usual route is along Cook, Rockland and down St. Charles to the waterfront, returning to the city by Government Street.

He knows every telephone pole in the district and he doesn't like it when he unexpectedly comes across a new one in his path.

How can a blind man cross busy thoroughfares that cause sighted men to tremble?

GO OUT ALONE

Fear is the biggest handicap of a blind person, said Mr. Hornsby, and the only way to conquer it is to go out alone.

He started to do this while he was in hospital in London, England. Every Sunday morning he walked across town through Regents Park and over to Chelsea.

Within three months he had learned to read and write Braille. When he returned to Canada he was employed as a stenographer for municipal affairs in Edmonton. In 1935 he retired. He was "mentally tired."

'MUCKED AROUND'

For the next 20 years he lived on Savary Island with his wife, and there he built pebble walks and generally "mucked around."

Mr. Hornsby is just one of several totally and partially blind persons who keep on the move from morning to night.

Some are regulars at the movies, and they are usually accompanied by a sighted person who fills them in on the details they cannot follow from the conversation.

HERE'S A TIP

Being blind is a handicap, but here is a tip for sighted persons who want to help.

It is a tip from Mr. Hornsby who personally prefers crossing intersections on his own. But not all blind people feel this way. After helping a blind person across the street leave him by a building and not stuck out in the middle of nowhere, said Mr. Hornsby.

And never, never park a car in a driveway across the street. Mr. Hornsby makes a point of having words with people who do this.

CHARLES HORNSBY . . . "take me anywhere."

GERMS TO FACE SLIDER PITCHES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Slick coats for teeth will provide the next great advance against dental disease, a Canadian dental scientist predicts.

Dr. Gilbert J. Parfitt of Vancouver said the coating will make it harder for bacteria to cling to the tooth surface to cause decay and gum disease.

Before the age of dental hygiene, teeth were commonly coated with "materia alba," which Dr. Parfitt described as bacteria plus substances from the mouth cavity.

That kind of coating causes a wide assortment of tooth and gum troubles leading to eventual loss of teeth.

"Perhaps the greatest advance at the present time is the awareness that materia alba is composed of actively growing and multiplying bacteria which are extremely adherent to the tooth surface and that this material is not food," Dr. Parfitt said.

* * *

"I predict that the greatest advance in the future will be the use of surface agents to reduce adhesiveness of organisms to the tooth surface, rather than an improvement in the mechanical methods of removal of materia alba."

Dr. Parfitt spoke at the 105th annual session of the American Dental Association.

He stressed that current "most effective methods" of cleaning the teeth can reduce the bacterial population to a clinically satisfactory level if they are used at sufficiently frequent intervals throughout the day."

And he said he had made a study on dental students that indicated the electric toothbrush worked better than the hand toothbush for cleaning the teeth. He said polishing the teeth may help.

27% of Teen-Agers Gripped by Smoking

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 27 in every 100 Canadian teen-agers from 15 to 19 years old are regular cigarette smokers, federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh said Monday.

This was one of the basic findings of the health department's first country-wide survey of the habit of cigarette smoking, carried out by the bureau of statistics. A report of the August survey is under preparation.

Forty-four per cent of all Canadians 20 years and older—or 56 per cent of the men and 32 per cent of the women—have the cigarette smoking habit, defined as "usually smoking cigarettes every day."

Cigarette smoking was found to be most common between the ages of 20 and 44, where approximately one in every two Canadians use them every day.

Cigarette smoking for Canadians between 45 and 64 years, while it dips to 19 per cent—lower than in the teen-ager group—for Canadians of 65 and over.

Miss LaMarsh, in releasing the basic findings of the survey now before publication, said she felt they would be immediately useful of "the possibility that Canadians are receiving an impression that the habit is more prevalent than it actually is."

She also said the 27 per cent figure for smoking teen-agers "may be somewhat low" because parents questioned for the survey are "not always aware of their children's smoking habits."

LA PRESSE EDITOR RAPS PAPERS

News Suppression Charged

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerard Pelletier, editor-in-chief of Montreal La Presse, said Tuesday a directive issued by the management of two Quebec newspapers to their newsroom supervisory staffs "was entirely silly and very dangerous."

Speaking during a panel discussion on biculturalism at the annual meeting of the Canadian Public Relations Society, Mr. Pelletier said:

"A very great number of newspapers throughout Canada are doing just that —suppressing news."

Quebec Le Soleil and I'Evenement issued instructions Oct. 22 to their newsroom supervisory staffs to limit in prominence and ban some reports about separatism, nationalism and protests against established authority.

In a front-page statement Monday the two dailies said they will treat news on the basis of recognized journalistic standards, keeping in mind the nature and importance of facts and statements as well as the public standing and authority of persons concerned.

Two additional organizations have aimed protests at the directive.

In Jonquiere, Que., the National Federation of Pulp and Paper Workers, an affiliate of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, asked the management of the two dailies to modify the instructions and expressed the hope that the directive will be changed.

In Quebec City, the executive of the French-language Corporation of Catholic Teachers in Quebec Province (Corporation des Instituteurs et Institutrices Catholiques du Quebec) also adopted a resolution of criticism.

The 70-member executive, representing 40,000 teachers throughout Quebec, urged that the question of fredom of the press be studied in depth to find out how the power of media of information can best be used to serve society.

Nuns' Robes Outdated Cardinal Tells Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A leading European cardinal urged in the Vatican ecumenical council that nuns get rid of outdated practices, saying the robes of many "are a cause of ridicule in the street."

Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens of Brussels said a council document on nuns and religious orders failed to meet present-day needs sufficiently. The document takes up the question of how nuns and religious orders can adapt themselves to modern life.

Cardinal Suenens said many orders "retain ridiculous complications; from past centuries, which give more of an impression of the church growing old than of meeting the needs of today."

He cited the habit of nuns as one "complication." He said there was also "too much insistence for nuns to leave their houses convents with a companion when there is no real need for one." Generally nuns may go out in public only in pairs or in larger groups, but not alone.

Several speakers voiced concern over what they called defections by nuns and other religious persons leaving their convents and monasteries.

VIENNA WOODS FALLING AS AUSTRIA EXPANDS

VIENNA (Reuters)—The world-famed Vienna woods, subject of romantic songs and poems, may be cut down to make room for houses.

They are the likely victim of Austria's constantly increasing standard of living.

For many decades, Vienna boasted about fresh air blowing from the nearby woods, an expansive recreation area on the city outskirts.

Now the woods are vanishing tree by tree as wealthy people build weekend homes in the area.

Officials say the last hope of saving the Vienna woods is to build new highways to the south and southwest. Then, those seeking weekend houses would be able to travel farther into the country.

Overseas Publishers Get Charles' School Essays

LONDON (Reuters) — A spokesman for a Lancashire press agency says he expects more than a dozen overseas publications will print parts of Prince Charles' school essay book within a week or 10 days.

Terence Smith, a director of the Mercury Press Agency of St. Helens, said about 14 overseas publishers have bought rights to material contained in the book by the prince who is 16 Saturday.

Smith said that two or three U.S. publishers and several from Continental Europe plan simultaneous publication of the essays on class distinction, British monarchs, politics and the press.

Smith declined to name any of the overseas publishers.

The book disappeared from Gordonstoun, the prince's exclusive boarding school, six weeks ago and was later recovered by detectives from Scotland Yard.

Smith said he came into possession of the book while visiting Scotland.

The agency last week issued writs on the commissioner of the London metropolitan police and a detective superintendent asking for return of the book, for damages, and claiming that the agency is the rightful owner.

'RE-UNIFICATION SIMPLY INEVITABLE,' SAYS FOREIGN AFFAIRS EXPERT

West Germans Still See Chance for Moscow-Bonn Agreement

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BONN—The collective mind of the German people has always been an enigma to the outside world and in its present confusion is almost indecipherable. But one clear thought, or instinct, is held by all citizens of the free western republic and probably by most Germans in the eastern Communist zone as well—somehow, sometimes, the severed nation must and will be re-united.

The thinking of sophisticated German politicians in all parties goes farther than that. They believe, quite sincerely, that reunification will come during the next few years, if not by some basic shift in the world power struggle then in gradual stages by the laws of nature itself.

Of course the Erhard government says publicly that the existing division must be cured. It can say nothing else if it is to be re-elected next autumn. Much more impressive is the private analysis of experienced officials who are not seeking votes.

'10 Years'

As one of these men, a seasoned expert in foreign affairs, put the prospects to me: "Germany is sure to be reunified within 10 years at most, probably much earlier. Re-unification is simply inevitable. The gravitational pull of history guarantees it."

Since this sounded pretty vague, I asked him to spell out his reasoning.

"In practical terms," he said, "Russia is coming at last to see that even a great power cannot permanently hold and divide a nation like Germany. The cost is just too great, both politically and economically.

"Already the Russian satellites are breaking out of their prison and yearning for contact with the West. They can't be held by Russia much longer, and Russia knows it. Sooner or later a deal must be made to release East Germany. We have only to wait for that day."

For many Germans that day seemed to be approaching rapidly when Nikita Khrushchev decided to visit Bonn early next year.

The cryptic statements of the German government's official spokesman, already quoted in these reports, expressed this hope in guarded fashion. Dr. Erhard's address to Parliament on the same day was more specific.

The chancellor said that perhaps Mr. Khrushchev would see for himself at Bonn that a reunited Germany might be "a better partner for the Soviet Union than a German nation condemned to unnatural and illegal division."

The mystery surrounding Mr. Khrushchev's visit remained next day after his fall. What did this remarkably flexible man really intend? Was he preparing to promote an early agreement with Dr. Erhard because he knew it to be inevitable in the long run and because, in the short, he needed stability on Russia's western flank while he dealt with China on the east?

Many Germans thought so. The same view was held by some eminent figures in remote Ottawa. Khrushchev's promising flirtation with Bonn is now regarded in Western capitals as one of the several reasons for the palace revolt against him.

The world may not hear for a long time to come what the ruined Russian leader actually had in the back of his subtle mind but doubtless Dr. Erhard knows, or suspects, more than he has told his people. For in a negotiation of this sort, if it was possible at all, the German government had to consider the conflicting views of the United States, its protector, and of France, its special ally.

In any case Khrushchev will never reach Bonn. This does not necessarily mean, however, in the German assessment, that his supposed desire for a deal with West Germany is dead in Moscow. Obviously it has been delayed, but if the theory of historic inevitability is valid Khrushchev's successors will be driven sooner or later to his conclusions, as they are generally judged at Bonn.

New Complications

Even if the theory is valid a series of recent events has vastly complicated it.

The first, in order of importance from the German viewpoint, is a definite softening in relations between Paris and Moscow. France's long-term credits to Russia are merely "regretted" by the Erhard government, but the latest rumor that President de Gaulle may actually recognize Communist East Germany, and undercut the whole foreign policy of West Germany, is shattering in Bonn.

Even if the rumor is untrue De Gaulle's increasingly independent line, in many other areas, seems to make a mock of the new French-German treaty.

The second event works in reverse at Paris. There West Germany's decision to join the multilateral nuclear force while France bitterly condemns it is regarded as something like a deliberate German betrayal.

This decision must be conditioned and perhaps altered, in part at least, by a third event now only beginning. The sudden realization that the MLF, as invented at Washington, cannot go ahead on schedule.

Ostensibly the plan to create a surface fleet, equipped with nuclear missiles and manned by crews from the various NATO allies, was a practical military device. In fact, its origin was purely political.

U.S. Belief

The United States, reading or misreading their mind, believed that the German people must be given a sense of participation in nuclear strategy without any final control over it.

Otherwise, humiliated as second-class members of an alliance when the United States, Britain and France all have their independent nuclear weapons, the Germans would turn sour.

They might finally decide to build a nuclear force of their own or join the French force and thus demoralize the free world's already strained unity. The MLF was devised, therefore, primarily as a safety valve for German pride.

If Germany joined the MLF most or all the other NATO allies, except France, would do the same, lest they be isolated. Such was the American calculation. Even a British Labor government, it was thought in Washington, could not long accept isolation and American resentment. This assumption seems sound to me, after my talks with politicians in London.

Sound, that is to say, if the MLF goes ahead as originally projected. But in recent days the whole situation has seemed to change drastically. There are strong indications of second thoughts in Washington.

Impressed

The new British government is proposing not to reject the MLF outright, as its pre-election oratory suggested, but to revise and expand it into something wider, better and more generally acceptable than a fleet of surface ships.

Plainly Prime Minister Wilson's initiative has impressed the Johnson administration which places a new and closer understanding with Britain among its top priorities. Hence the future of the MLF, a scheme never enthusiastically accepted by President Johnson or his predecessor, is exceedingly dubious.

Besides, an influential school of politicians in Bonn thinks that the United States misread the German mind from the start. A representative spokesman of this school told me that the German people really did not seek "a nuclear status symbol" and couldn't care less" about the MLF.

The last thing on earth they wanted, he said, was any nuclear weapon, either under their own control or in association with their allies. Only because the United States was determined to gratify their supposed ambition for nuclear status of some sort, Germany must accept this decision by its protector.

These and other divisive issues in the NATO alliance cannot be considered outside the context of German politics. They are changing fast, as the next report will try to explain.

Gaglardi Sees Murder Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, who is pastor of Calvary in his hometown of Kamloops, has paid a hospital visit to a man charged with capital murder.

Mr. Gaglardi said Tuesday he told the man Sunday that God is at the side of people in trouble, but they must pay penalties if they commit crimes.

He said he had known Daniel Carleton, 28, for 10 years. Carleton was charged after a gunman fired 11 shots on a Kamloops street Saturday.

Paul Rene Viau, 28, died of a massive head wound and Mrs. Doris Mombley was critically wounded.

NECK WOUND

Carelton is under police guard in hospital with a bullet wound in the neck.

His mother, Mrs. Thelma Carleton, said in Kamloops her son fell at work in a mine at Ashcroft six weeks ago, suffering head injuries.

"He complained of severe headaches and couldn't work," she said. "He was being treated here and had also been to Vancouver General Hospital for examination—they thought he had a cracked skull."

She said she had called Oral Roberts' Abundant Life Prayer group in the United States asking for prayer.

"I am praying myself, too, that somehow God will raise the man to life again."

U.S. Commissions N-Sub-Tender

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—The $73,000,000 U.S. Polaris submarine tender Simon Lake was commissioned here Saturday.

She is the most advanced vessel of her kind. Her skipper, Missouri-born Capt. James Osborn, describes her as a submarine hovering station — a little shipyard.

Aboard the Simon Lake is a complete machine shop capable of doing anything a land-based shop can, aside from the biggest projects.

The Simon Lake also has a 42-bed medical ward, a fully-equipped operating room and a print shop.

9 IN MEMORIAM

CAMPBELL—Fondly remembered by father, mother, sister and brother-in-law: George W. Campbell.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach;
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

HILL—In loving memory of my dear father, passed away November 11, 1963.

So many things have happened, Dad,
Since you were called away,
So many things to share with you,
Had you been left to stay.
We cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand we cannot touch,
But we still have our memories
Of one we loved so much.
—Sadly missed by his family.

HILL—In loving memory of my dear husband John, passed away November 11, 1963.

Tonight the silent stars look down
On a grave not far from here,
Where lies the one I can't forget
And always loved so dear.
Without a word you left me,
Your last thoughts were unknown,
And with farewells unspoken
You calmly entered home.
—Sadly missed by his wife Lorna.

PAULDING—In affectionate remembrance of Frances, a devoted wife and loving mother, who passed away November 11, 1958.

But the tender grace of a day that is dead,
Will never come back to me.
—Dearly loved by her husband Frank and son Harold.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

In theory, Bobby Jordan and Arthur Robinson, who starred for the United States in the World Bridge Olympiad, use sound opening bids. Therefore, Arthur really thought that Bobby would have a "slightly better hand than he did for his spade opener.

Hence, he tried for seven and finally settled for six no-trump. When he saw the dummy he wished he had stopped at game but went on to make the best of a tough job.

He won the first trick with the king of diamonds and led a low club. East won and returned a diamond. Arthur won in dummy, came to his hand with the ace of spades, and cashed the ace and king of clubs. The discards from dummy were two small hearts.

Opening lead—♦ Q.

When clubs failed to break, Bobby led a spade toward dummy and was delighted to pick up West's queen. Three more spade leads followed rapidly and one the last spade both opponents were squeezed. East had to go down to two hearts in order to hold a club, whereupon Arthur discarded his last club.

This put the pressure on West. He also had to go down to two hearts in order to keep a high diamond, whereupon Arthur made the last three tricks with hearts.

In case you think that Arthur and Bobby overbid, it turned out that at the other table North also opened with one spade and wound up playing a grand slam in that suit. He also played well, but had to go down one.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Jonathan Winters found a much-needed crutch in his first special of the season this week and was funnier more often than not.

Stephen

Last season he tried on an hour alone and found it a very unwieldy and unfunny vehicle. It proved, too, he didn't have enough to carry 60 minutes on his own. His material just wasn't that good.

This week he called for help from the versatile Mickey Rooney. The diminutive actor has a comedy streak running through him a mile wide and his use of it helped Winters immeasurably.

Their Siamese twins skit in which they hated one another was a very funny piece of business.

For a change of pace there was songstress Connie Francis, who is one of the best singers pound for pound in the business today.

But it wasn't all fun. It had been stated that there was no script written for Winters, while the others relied upon prepared dialogue. This was a bad mistake as the zany one came through with quite a few comments bordering on questionable taste.

Still if his future shows make use of good men like Rooney they should be worth watching.

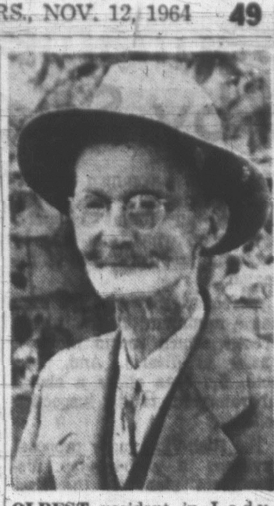
$22,000 Loss Reported By Transit Firm

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—The Tyee Bus Company, which operates the transit system in Port Alberni and Alberni, asked city council this week for a subsidy to meet an annual loss of about $22,000.

Council met behind closed dors to consider a brief from the company.

The company said that because of its weak financial position, wage levels of its employees are lower than those for comparable jobs in other cities and new buses cannot be purchased.

In seeking a civic subsidy, Tyee said operations of B.C. Hydro's transit services in Vancouver and Victoria are subsidized by electricity users and that the city of Nelson, which operates its own transit system, provides a subsidy for its bus service.



OLDEST resident in Ladysmith, James B. Weir, died Wednesday. He was 100. Believed to be the first settler in this area—he arrived in 1899—he is a native of Scotland. He is survived by a son and two daughters. Funeral services will be held Friday in Ladysmith.

SUBSIDY, OR ELSE, BUS FIRM'S REPLY

NANAIMO—David Swithin, head of the Nanaimo Transit Limited, said here Tuesday his company could fold within two months if city council turns down his request for a $14,000 a year subsidy over the next five years.

Mr. Swithin said his company needs $140,000 immediately to purchase seven new buses.

He urged council to reconsider its decision to have his request studied by a consultant. Instead, Mr. Swithin asked that his request be voted on by ratepayers during the Dec. 12 municipal election.

City council voted at a meeting Monday to hire a consultant to make a study of the transit system with a view to the city taking it over.

'Insurance Shot' Held No Excuse

A Wellington man, who fired a gun during an argument with a friend, said in court today: "I was just making sure he didn't shoot me."

Appearing before Magistrate D. K. McAdam at Duncan, Roderick Fredericks pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by discharging a firearm.

He was fined $50.

The court was told the incident took place in the home of Anthony Arnold Burrell Oct. 17.

During an argument, Fredericks picked up the loaded shotgun and fired it into the living room floor.

'BIG GUN'

He told the court: "The gun was sitting in the corner. I said to Burrell: 'That's a big gun for a little man. What do you intend to do with it?' "

He said he picked up the gun, looked at it and it went off.

Said the magistrate: "You could just as easily have shot him."

Replied Fredericks: "I was just making sure he didn't shoot me."

Lyle Reid To Seek Duncan Seat

DUNCAN—It isn't yet certain if there will be a contest in Duncan city council elections.

If there isn't, council will have a new face.

Lyle Reid, a Duncan resident for 26 years, announced Wednesday he will run as an alderman.

Mr. Reid, an employee of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. at Crofton, is active in community affairs as a Kiwanian and forester among other interests.

Alderman Bob Mason has said he will run again. Alderman James Saunders remains uncommitted about seeking another term.

Logger, 19, To Stand Trial For Assault

LADYSMITH (CP)—George Carmichael, a 19-year-old Ladysmith logger, was formally committed for high-court trial Tuesday when he chose to be tried by judge and jury on a charge of indecent assault.

Police said the alleged offence took place July 30 and involved a married woman.

Carmichael was released by Magistrate D. K. McAdam on $1,500 bail.

Large Crowd Attends Service

DUNCAN—The largest crowd in many years attended the Remembrance Day service at the War Memorial Cross, here.

The Canadian Scottish Cadet Pipe Band led the parade of members of Cowichan Branch 53 of the Royal Canadian Legion and other veterans.

Esquimalt Salvation Army band accompanied the hymns.

Piper John Low played the Lament, Flowers of the Forest, while wreaths were laid.

Clergy of the various denominations in the city conducted the joint service.

Mayor Plans Bid To Retain Militia

DUNCAN—Mayor Jack Dobson is unhappy about losing the district's militia unit.

He told council Monday he is getting "facts and figures" with a view to having the unit kept going.

Duncan "A" company of the Canadian Scottish is one of a number of victims of defence department cuts.

Mayor Dobson: "Because of this district's record, one of the highest enlistment ratings in Canada, I am satisfied the unit should not be disbanded."

Major Jack Gallagher, C.O., said the decision would mean Duncan would be without a militia unit for the first time in 35 years. With 59 men it was the second strongest unit on the Island.

The government spoke of relocating it in Victoria "but you can't re-locate men."

DUNCAN — The proposed outdoor swimming pool for the district may cost $120,000.

This revised figure was presented to city council Monday by pool sponsors, the local Rotary Club.

Rotary is offering to put up $25,000 and has asked the city and North Cowichan to share the balance.

The councils have approved the scheme in principle but Mayor Jack Dobson said the city is seeking independent estimates of operating costs before making a final commitment.

Rotary says that if money bylaws are passed in February the pool could be open by July.

Proposed site of the heated, filtered, chlorinated pool is Pioneer Park. Annual operating costs could be $6,000.

DUNCAN — Council Monday donated a perpetual trophy to Cowichan Music Festival.

It will be for competition in the intermediate piano class. Council will provide miniature replicas for class winners.

The trophies are in lieu of previous annual grants of $25.

* * *

NORTH COWICHAN — There will now be a five-way battle for the municipality's three vacant council seats.

The struggle was intensified Monday with the announcement by E. E. Duyvewaardt that he would stand.

The Cowichan Teachers' Association president and Southend Ratepayers' Association director will oppose Louis Shelling and Couns. Dennis Hogan, Gerry Smith and George Whittaker.

CROFTON—Highways Minister Gaglardi, told a three-man municipal delegation Monday he would "look into", its request for re-routing of Crofton Road next year.

Ed Alexander, Crofton Ratepayers' Association delegation member, said today:

"We didn't get much out of him.

"He made no promise although he examined carefully our brief, giving a summary of the heavy traffic using the present road from the Island Highway.

Other members of the delegation were Reeve Donald Morton and John King, Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce.

NANAIMO—Frank Senecovic was ordered to pay a $75 fine or spend 45 days in jail after he pleaded guilty Monday to pointing a loaded shotgun at an RCMP corporal.

Senecovic was charged after a drinking party at his South Wellington home. He ordered a visitor out of the house, then answered the back door bearing a .12-gauge shotgun when Cpl. John Urquehart came to investigate a complaint.

Senecovic said in magistrate's court that he thought the caller was the man he had ordered away and he was using the shotgun for protection. He dropped the weapon on order from Cpl. Urquehart.

* * *

NANAIMO — This city will hire a consultant to survey the economics of a municipally-operated bus service as compared with a subsidized private operation.

The move followed a request by the Nanimo Transit Limited for a $14,000 a year subsidy for the next five years.

COURTENAY—Lorne Wallace Wellman of Cumberland, was jailed 30 days Monday for assaulting his wife. He was also ordered to post a $250 peace bond.

Wellman had been on $500 bail awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of possession of an offensive weapon following a shooting incident at his home.

12-Cent Pay Boost

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Civic Employees Union members will receive across-the-board increases in pay of 12 cents an hour in 1965, and eight cents an hour in 1966 in a new two-year contract negotiated between the union and city.

Bitter Union Rivals Team Up in Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two traditionally rival waterfront unions have agreed to help each other in a current contract dispute.

The local executive of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) agreed to a proposal from the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) that each send observers to the other's conciliation board meetings.

The proposal from Rod Heinekey, SIU west coast vice-president, was made after both unions broke off separate contract negotiations with the Towboat Owners' Association. Both unions asked for establishment of conciliation boards.

Jim Thompson, president of CBRT's local 400, said the representatives would be silent observers and one union would not necessarily support the other in event of a strike.

"That is a different argument which will be faced if it comes up," he said.

The CBRT represents about 375 seamen on the towboats, the SIU about half that number.

SEEK 25% BOOST

The CBRT is asking a 25 per cent increase in wages of $325 a month, plus other benefits. The SIU is asking the same increase in wages of $332 a month and additional benefits.

The unions have been at odds since 1960, when the CBRT moved into the west coast area and supplanted the SIU as bargaining agent at a number of companies.

Last May Heinekey accused the CBRT of being behind an attempt to kill him with a shotgun blast through his car. He received six pellets in his right hip.

The CBRT denied the charges.

City Police Officer Reinstated As Sergeant Before Retirement

Victoria police commission Monday announced reinstatement of Corporal Thomas Stevenson to sergeant effective Jan. 1—a month before he retires.

Longest serving member of the force, he was demoted from sergeant June 10 in a disciplinary action.

WITH SENIORITY

The reinstatement means Cpl. Stevenson will retire Jan. 31 as a sergeant with all his seniority privileges.

In a letter to Cpl. Stevenson, the police commission said it was taking the step on recommendation of Chief J. F. Gregory and after consideration "to your many years of meritorious service with the department prior to (the demotion) and to the satisfactory manner in which you have discharged your duties in the rank of corporal since that time."

NO CHANGE

At the same time, in a statement to the Victoria Policemen's Union, which had applied for a grievance procedure in connection with demotion the commission said it would not rescind the demotion or accept the suggestion that a disciplinary matter was subject to grievance proceedings.

After advising the union of the reinstatement, the commission said it "should be clearly understood" that the commission has not altered in any respect its earlier decision to order the demotion.

Arctic Disarmament Plan Proposed by Scientists

WASHINGTON — Two scientists, an American and a Soviet, have jointly proposed a three step disarmament plan for the Arctic which could eventually bring arms control to Alaska, Siberia, Greenland, Canada and regions of Norway and Sweden.

The scientists are biophysicist Alexander Rich of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and geochemist Aleksandr P. Vinogradov, a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences and director of the Varnadsky Institute in Moscow.

Neither scientist speaks officially for his respective government, though, significantly. plans were made for publishing the joint proposal in the Soviet Union at the same time that it appeared in the November bulletin of the Atomic Scientists in the United States.

Essentially what the two scientists are proposing is to make the Arctic a zone free of nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles.

RADAR REMAINS

"Military installations, per se. airfields and bases," the authors of the plan state, "might be allowed to remain and defensive installations such as radar would also remain intact and operational."

A model for what the two scientists have in mind is the successful Antarctica treaty, which for all intents and purposes set that continent aside as a military-free, science preserve.

In the view of Rich and Vinogrador the Arctic offers even more promise for progressive disarmament. It is the only area, they say, in which the United States and the Soviet Union have a common frontier, thus making it possible to achieve an initial bi-lateral agreement, which can then be extended to other parts of the region.

Moreover, they say, the area has a minimum of arms at the present which should make it easier to disarm. And, they note, the area offers a choice laboratory for testing inspection schemes.

The Rich-Vinogradov proposal envisions a step-by-step disarmament plan. In the first stage, only the United States and Soviet Russia would agree to disarm portions of Alaska and Eastern Siberia, in such a way "as to give no military advantage to either side.

The next step could be to extend the plan by including Greenland and taking in a larger portion of eastern Siberia.

Finally, a broader plan might include the entire arctic zone meaning Canada as a major signatory and minor regions of Norway and Sweden.

European-Type Hall Sets Opening Here

A new-style teenage dance hall is being opened here.

Tony Else, owner of the Secret coffee house, is opening Uncle Jake's discotheque room in partnership with his brother Ian.

The discotheque room is to be a place where young people can dance to popular recorded music, and the idea started in Europe.

Uncle Jake's will open Friday evening at 7:30 in premises at 823 Pandora, opposite the B.C. Hydro building.

"If the idea catches even half as well as I hope it will, it'll be the first in a chain," said Mr. Else.

"We have an organization ready to set up 40 similar rooms in a chain as far east as Winnipeg. The first three would be in Vancouver."

His brother Ian will manage Uncle Jake's.

Music source will be "the biggest juke box on Vancouver Island."

The juke box will play—free—whatever the patrons select. It will hold 120 singles, and 30 long play records.

Most of the singles will be hit-parade music.

Admission will be on an hourly basis, with patrons paying 20 cents an hour Monday through Thursday, and 25 cents on Fridays and Saturdays.

Hours will be 3:30 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 3:30 to 1 a.m. Friday, and 11 a.m. to midnight on Saturday.

Lady Runcorn, an active supporter of the Conservative party in England will speak on "the Commonwealth—a Woman's View" at the Royal Commonwealth Society meeting in the Empress Hotel, Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

TWO-YEAR COURSE RECOMMENDED BY HALL REPORT

Nurses' Training 'Unnecessarily Long'

By ROGER STONEBANKS

One-third more nurses could be trained at existing facilities —if the training period was cut by one year.

This is one of the recommendations of the Hall Royal Commission on Health Services, an exhaustive inquiry into the whole field of health.

"The period of training is unnecessarily long," the commission said in Volume 1 of the report released earlier this year.

"A three-year program in which two-thirds of all formal instruction is given in the first year is obviously oriented to some purpose other than education."

Pressure on hospitals to provide increased service tended to make the student nurse essential to the operation.

SUFFERED

"The teaching function of the hospital school of nursing has assumed less importance and as a result nursing education programs have suffered."

Several attempts have been made to train nurses in two years and the commission quoted the result of one in Windsor, Ont.

"The conclusion is inescapable.

"When the school has complete control of students, nurses can be trained at least as satisfactorily in two years as in three, and under better conditions, but the training must be paid for in money instead of in services."

SEPARATED

The commission made 16 specific recommendations on nursing.

Broadly, the commission wants schools of nursing separated financially from the nursing service of hospitals so they become wholly educational.

The school would reorganize their curricula so nurses could graduate in two years and provincial legislation amended accordingly.

Since nurse training would then have to be paid for in money rather than service, financial assistance should be provided in the form of bursaries.

And to encourage suitable girls to enter nursing, salaries should be commensurate with their training and responsibilities, and comparable to those in similar fields.

The commission said it will take time to accomplish "this major and long-overdue reform" and there would be many difficulties to overcome.

At first, more nurses would be needed as students gave less time to service. But in the long run, one-third more nurses would be trained than at present.

Despite transitional difficulties, the commission said the longer the reform is delayed "the greater will the obstacles become."

The changes would have to be introduced in stages and some hospital schools would be able to make a more complete change than others.

Hospital insurance agencies would have to reduce the number of student nurses counted in the nursing complement authorized by the agencies.

START NOW

"But we are convinced the time to start is now," said the commission.

It stressed there was one factor on which the change would depend — "an all-out effort to prepare more highly-qualified instructors."

Studies showed 75 per cent of instructors at hospital schools and 56 per cent at university schools don't have minimum university degree qualifications.

The commission recommended university schools of nursing be expanded and bursaries made available to nurses to pursue university degrees without loss of income.

It also recommended at least 10 more university schools of nursing be established when qualified personnel are available. University of Victoria was one where such a school might be provided as an additional faculty.

The commission said two categories of nurses are needed and nurses in both groups would be RNs.

1. Graduates of an integrated university program to provide the 25 per cent of nurses needed as instructors, supervisors and administrators.

2. Graduates of a new type of two-year training plan who would function as a clinical or bedside nurse.

CHAMPION of racial equality in the U.S. south, Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans died last weekend. He was 88. The German-born prelate integrated parochial schools in 1962 and then excommunicated three segregationists who vigorously opposed his order.

Endowment Fund To Run Museum

Full operating expenses for University of Victoria's Maltwood Art Museum will be covered by a $200,000 endowment fund established by the donors.

There need be no necessity for setting admission fees for the general public as suggested last week as a means of providing for capital outlays such as a renovated heating plant.

John Maltwood, who handed over keys to the Thatch, as it is known, in a ceremony last week, said purpose of the endowment was to ensure that others would not be called upon to meet expenses incurred.

The endowment returns $10,500 annually.

"That is what it cost us to run the house annually, and that should be sufficient to provide a caretaker and curator," Mr. Maltwood said.

The Thatch was home of Mr. Maltwood and his sculptor wife Katharine, whose bequest was that it become a university trust.

Specialty Nurses In Big Demand Says RN Official

By MARGE GILROY, RN
Times Staff Reporter

Not enough hospital beds, not enough nurses, not enough money — but who knows what is enough?

In British Columbia there are 88 acute general hospitals, four rehabilitation centres and 77 private hospitals, making a total of 169.

At the Registered Nurses Association office in Vancouver there are 129 vacancies listed at the present time for the entire province.

Personnel director Miss E. lyn Hood said this figure is about 30 higher than for the same period last year, but it has dropped from the 300 vacancies listed in the summer months.

Each year the number of vacancies is reduced during the fall months, until mid-winter when the average number is about 30.

Miss Hood also said it is not a problem of not having enough nurses in the province but the problem is there are not enough nurses for specialized work, or who want to work in particular locations.

She said there are no unemployed nurses waiting for general duty positions, but there are nurses waiting for jobs in specific fields, or with specific hours of work.

NO VACANCIES

Contrary to this the director of nursing at Veterans' Hospital in Victoria said she has three applications on file from general duty nurses. There are no vacancies at DVA at present.

At Royal Jubilee Hospital, nursing director, Miss Muriel Thompson said she could employ nine more nurses if they were available, and she foresees needing 12 more for replacements at the end of the month.

At St. Joseph's Hospital Sister Mary Lucita said, "right now I could use about 18 more nurses."

During the summer months two sections of St. Joseph's Hospital were closed down as nurses went on holidays. They are being reopened now as staff becomes available.

Miss Thompson said there has been more or less a shortage at Royal Jubilee Hospital since the new wing opened, but she added "we could cope with it so long as the beds in the old wing were closed."

Where did the 1,152 nurses go that registered in B.C. last year. Some married and will never join the nursing force again, some left for eastern Canada where the salaries are now as attractive as the western province, and some left for the United States, but many of these nurses are expected to return.

At the last annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario it was reported that nurses are leaving Canada at the rate of 1,400 a year.

Neither the immigration department nor the American consulate service in B.C. have any statistics on the number leaving here. And nobody knows how many return.

Most training school hospitals estimate that they average retaining 50 per cent of their graduates for a short period at least. Of the number who leave many return to join the labor force in later years.

Some hospitals need nurses while at the same time there are nurses looking for work. When this is the situation can it be said there is a shortage of nurses?

SURVEY

Spearheading a survey to find the answer is a provincial labor relations committee.

Within the next few months it hopes to determine if there is a shortage of nurses and other technical personnel in B.C., and if so what are the reasons for it, said Duncan Bradford executive secretary of the B.C. Hospitals Association.

He said it is expected that the committee will have completed its survey and prepared recommendations by early spring.

'IT HAPPENS EVERY YEAR'

LONDON (UPI) — Thieves stole Scotch whisky valued at $168,000 during the weekend, officials said Monday.

Authorities immediately alerted police throughout the country to watch for cut price whisky being sold "under the counter" to Christmas shoppers.

"It happens every year," a police veteran said. "It's almost like sending Christmas cards."

Side Effect Of Drugs Spotlighted

OTTAWA (CP)—About five per cent of all hospital patients are admitted because they suffer from the ill or side effects of drugs, a Toronto professor of medicine told the Commons food and drug committee Tuesday.

Dr. K. J. R. Wightman of the Banting Institute, University of Toronto, testified that another large group of patients develop drug side effects while undergoing hospital treatment.

He said these finds emerged from a recent study in a university hospital in the United States.

To track down side effects and their causes quickly, hospitals should name a staff doctor or a committee to whom all doctors report suspected side effects.

PASSED ON

He said such a specialist has been appointed at the University of Toronto Hospital to co-ordinate and investigate the reports. Once substantial evidence of side effects was collected, it was passed on to the federal food and drug directorate for government action.

Dr. Wightman said many drugs have a serious effect on blood pressure or other undesirable side effects when they are taken simultaneously with certain other drugs. Harmful chemical reactions sometimes occurred between two drugs that are perfectly harmless when taken separately.

To combat this danger, he said, it would be helpful if the main ingredients and purposes of a drug were specified on the label.

"In this day and age, there is very little justification for secret remedies and patent medicines," he said.

The special committee is investigating methods of promoting the safety of drugs and pesticides.

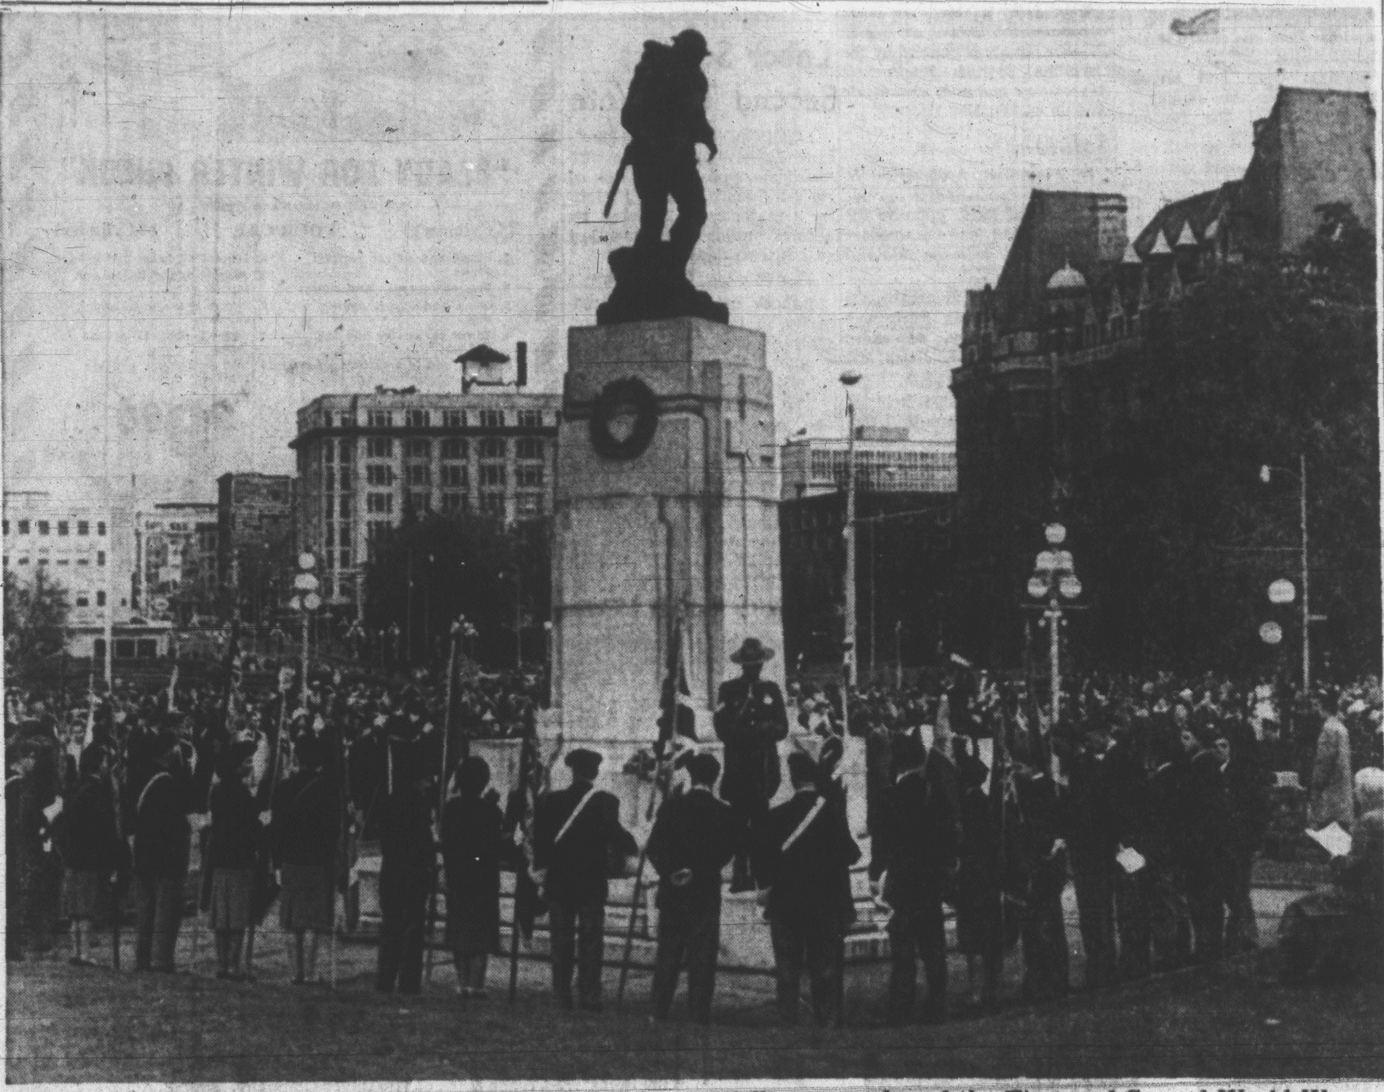
HIKE INADEQUATE, CLAIM WAR VETERANS

OTTAWA (CP)—The 250,000-member Royal Canadian Legion today described as "grossly inadequate" the 10-per-cent increase in war disability pensions announced Tuesday by the government. (See story Page 8.)

In its annual submission to the cabinet, the Legion said the increase "falls far short" of the requirements of war pensioners as set out in previous briefs to the government.

Britain Boosts Taxes On Incomes, Gasoline



MEN AND WOMEN of the Royal Canadian Legion gather at Victoria Cenotaph for annual Remembrance Day service organized by the Legion in memory of fallen comrades of the First and Second World Wars and the Korean War. Total attendance at the service was estimated at about 4,000. (See Pages 2 and 19.)

U.S. Decides To Abolish War Excise Tax

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has decided to recommend a 1965 excise tax cut that may approach $2,000,000,000. It would stretch the spending money of almost every person in the United States.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, an overnight guest at the LBJ Ranch near here, reported Wednesday that Johnson had agreed to a basic decision to abolish all $550,000,000 of excise taxes added to the retail price of cosmetics and toilet goods, jewelry, furs, luggage and pocketbooks.

These war-born taxes boost purchase prices by 10 per cent.

In addition, Dillon told a press conference, Johnson will ask Congress in January to reduce still other excise taxes that would add "a good bit more" to the total size of the proposed tax cut.

Dillon said the maximum possible tax saving would be $4,000,000,000. And he emphasized that such a figure was sure to prove too high.

At another point, he spoke of possible action on 65 to 70 different excise levies that net the government nearly $2,000,000,000 a year.

Most experts believe the total tax cut to be recommended by Johnson—and this decision still was up in the air — would amount to somewhere between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

Dillon said he thought "this would be a rather easy bill to pass" in Congress and he expects the proposed tax cuts to take effect next July 1.

Labor Budget Raises Pensions

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Britain's first Socialist budget in 13 years lifted the spirits of widows and pensioners Wednesday but caused stabs of pain among many others with its increased gasoline and income taxes.

The Tory opposition opened its main attack in the House of Commons today, following up Sir Alec Douglas-Home's initial comment that the budget is only the "tip of the iceberg" in Labor government taxation.

The general newspaper reaction is that the dose of strong medicine is no more powerful or distasteful than had been expected from James Callaghan, 52-year-old chancellor of the exchequer.

Delivering his autumn emergency budget, Callaghan said his main aims were to remedy Britain's big overseas trading deficit, combat inflation at home and apply taxation to ensure social justice for the needy.

SIXPENNY HOISTS

The budget slapped a sixpence (7½-cent) tax hoist on a gallon of gasoline, lifting premium prices to about 80 cents.

It also placed a sixpence increase on the basic income-tax rate, meaning that a married couple with two children and an income of £1,600 ($4,800) annually will pay £233 12s ($700.80) compared with the present £224 6d ($672.07). The new rate, effective April 6, means Britons will be paying 4¼ per cent of wages in tax.

Callaghan announced he will introduce a tougher capital gains tax in his main spring budget and will also propose a new corporation tax to replace the present 15-per-cent company profit tax and company income levy.

The budget did little to answer the big question of how long Prime Minister Harold Wilson, with a margin of only five in the 630-member House of Commons, is likely to continue before calling a new general election.

"No government would willingly face the country soon after putting sixpence on petrol and income tax," says the Conservative Daily Express.

TIPS MAY ELECTION

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph reports many Tories see the budget as the forerunner of an election next May or June.

"The main burden of the April budget is clearly intended to be borne by business and the investor, rather than by the individual wage or salary earner," says The Telegraph.

Callaghan said he is determined to plug tax loopholes and make sure rewards go to workers and diligent businessmen rather than speculators.

He said his measures were important "in creating the climate that will make possible the achievement of an incomes and prices policy. No country in

LESAGE
. . . 'no importance'

Lesage Dined By De Gaulle; Envoy Absent

PARIS (UPI)—Quebec Premier Jean Lesage was entertained at lunch by President Charles de Gaulle today but Canadian Ambassador Jules Leger was not invited.

Immediately after the Elysee Palace lunch, Premier Lesage drove to the airport where he boarded a plane for Montreal.

Diplomatic observers believed de Gaulle did not invite Leger because he still feels irritated over a statement the ambassador made while presenting credentials June 1.

In his statement Leger had hinted that France should keep out of Canadian internal problems.

Later Lesage said that de Gaulle has agreed to a considerable increase in cultural exchanges between Quebec and France.

At a press conference Wednesday, Lesage told French reporters extremists advocating Quebec's independence from the rest of Canada were "a little band of no importance."

Riot Squads Stand Ready

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Cabinet ministers tumbled out of bed before dawn today and hurried into meetings amid reports of unrest in the Argentine armed forces.

Without explanation, officials ordered police riot squads to their barracks — a standby alert.

HEAVY FLOODS

Viet Nam Toll 5,000

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The most disastrous floods in more than 60 years swept across 10 provinces north of Saigon today and relief officials estimated 5,000 or more persons have perished.

U.S. aircraft defied downpours and Communist guerrilla fire to ferry supplies to the disaster area and to bring out refugees. The United States flew in more supplies from bases in Okinawa and the Philippines to help cope with the mounting disaster.

Officials estimated 7,000 square miles had been swept bare and isolated from the rest of the country. Thousands of persons were homeless, some areas were almost denuded of livestock, and bridges and railways were washed away.

Flood waters ripped out about 200 miles of the country's only north-south railway and arterial road between Saigon and the stricken area. The lines run to Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, the capital. Officials estimated it might take years to get these lifelines operating again at capacity.

Many of the victims were drowned when flood waters burst out of the mountains in Wuang Tin province, where relief officials estimated 14,000 houses were washed away.

A U.S. military spokesman said 1,400 homes were destroyed in Quang Nam province and 36,000 others were damaged.

DRAFT RING UNCOVERED BY POLICE

SAIGON (AP) — A military draft scandal showed up Wednesday among flood relief, political and other problems besetting South Viet Nam.

Police sources said they uncovered a ring, involving officials in the former government of Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh, that has sold exemption papers to South Vietnamese youths conscripted for military service against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The price for avoidance of duty in the U.S.-supported South Vietnamese armed forces, they said, ranged from the equivalent of $750 to $1,500. That would be too high for peasants, but within the means of wealthy families.

PAIR BLASTS PATH WEST

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI) — Two East German border guards machine-gunned a safe path through an iron curtain mine field Wednesday and fled to the west, it was announced today.

West German customs officials at Northeim said the pair, a 25-year-old private first class and a 20-year-old private in the East German "people's army," were not injured as they sprayed bullets in front of them on their escape route.

Pension Test Set Before Flag Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A reliable informant said today the government plans to test how quickly the Commons is prepared to put the Canadian Pension Plan through the next legislative stages before starting the flag debate.

Debate on second reading—approval in principle—on the pension plan is expected to open next week in hopes of getting it into a parliamentary committee to which interested persons and groups can make representations.

An informant said that if it appears the plan can be put into a committee in four or five days the government probably will hold off the flag debate until toward the end of November.

U.S. Atom Sub Sparks Riots Across Japan

By KEVIN GARRY

SASEBO (Reuters) — Police today clashed with thousands of demonstrators throughout Japan protesting the arrival of the first U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to visit the country.

The 2,552-ton Sea Dragon nosed its way through heavy rain into the U.S. naval base at Sasebo and set off a wave of left-wing protest.

While 1,800 police dealt with some 2,000 socialists and students outside the base here, demonstrators in Tokyo broke the windows of police armored cars and blocked traffic on main streets.

National police estimated about 27,000 left-wingers staged anti-Sea Dragon demonstrations in 23 other Japanese cities today.

The demonstrations at Sasebo fizzled out before the strength of the police. They arrested 15 students who tried repeatedly to charge the 10-deep police lines 200 yards from the base's main gate.

Nine persons were reported injured in the Sasebo demonstrations.

WELCOME SKIPPER

The mayor of Sasebo, Japanese naval officers and U.S. embassy official were taken aboard the Sea Dragon to welcome the skipper, Cmdr. Douglas Guthe, 37, of Pawling, N.Y.

The security measure headquarters of Sasebo City collected sea water in the harbor to check on any possible radioactivity discharge from the submarine.

Later in the day about 100 members of the Sea Dragon's crew went ashore and entered the city in small groups, unnoticed by the demonstrators.

The officially-announced purpose of the visit was to provide shore leave for the crew of the nuclear-powered vessel.

The Sea Dragon, commissioned five years ago, has since sailed 140,000 miles, mostly under water.

As the demonstrators outside the base's gate kept up a barrage of chanted slogans, townspeople at Sasebo mounted a small counter demonstration with a fleet of cars led by a loudspeaker truck which proclaimed a "welcome to the U.S. Navy".

The leftists claimed the sub's visit is a step toward introduction of nuclear weapons into Japan.

LACK NUCLEAR TIPS

But Washington officials have pointed out the Sea Dragon and other attack-type submarines in the Pacific Fleet which may call in the months ahead are not armed with nuclear-tipped weapons. They presumably will be in the more distant future.

Canada Joins Appeal To Avert UN Crisis

(See story page 32)

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Representatives of Canada, Japan and Italy met with Secretary-General U Thant today to put forward a suggestion that would avert a preliminary showdown Monday on the United Nations financial issue.

They suggested the postponement, until about Dec. 8, of Monday's scheduled pledging conference for technical assistance programs.

The United States has threatened to withhold its annual pledge to these voluntary programs if the Russians refuse to pay up on overdue peace-keeping assessments.

A qualified source said the U.S. was "not unhappy" about the suggestion that the conference be put off.

NO STONE LEFT UNTURNED TO PROVE TON WAS SHORT

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—David Preece, who ordered a ton of paving stones for his garden, sized up what had been delivered and decided it wasn't enough.

He removed his scales from the bathroom, took them to his garage and piece by piece weighed the delivered stones.

"It took me 45 minutes to weigh them," he said. "And it was jolly hard work, but I proved my point."

Preece said he found the stones were 605 pounds short of a ton. He telephoned the quarry from which he had ordered the stones and told them of the shortage.

"They got a shock when I told them I used my bathroom scales," he said, "but they sent me another load of stones."

ENCOUNTER IN U.K.

Gad, Sir, It's a Mountain Lion

LONDON (AP)—A mountain lion stared down two British bobbies today and then took it on the lam.

The brief encounter occurred at Stoke Poges in Buckinghamshire, which thus became the fourth English county to be included in the beast's roaming area. He had previously turned up in Hampshire, Surrey and Sussex.

What a mountain lion is doing in the south of England is a mystery. It is native to North and South America but not to the British Isles.

There is some evidence that the roving animal has thought of trying to make it back to the Americas by plane — he has twice been spotted loping around the runways of an airfield at Farnborough.

GOLFERS STUNNED

Astonished golfers at the West Surrey Club in Godalming recently saw him sniffing at the 17th hole.

Near Horsham, Sussex, a woman found him scratching in her garden.

In each case the animal fled.

He turned up today in the Stoke Poges churchyard made famous by Thomas Gray in his poem, Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard. Two highway patrolmen saw him and stopped their car.

From a distance of 10 feet, the policemen stared at the mountain lion and the mountain lion stared at them. British policemen do not carry guns on their normal rounds, so there was nothing much the patrolmen could do.

The mountain lion finally strode off into a nearby meadow.

Armed police with tracker dogs were called to the area. They found paw marks of the five-foot cat but that was all.

'Financial Position Alarming'

LONDON (CP)—Garfield Weston, Canadian-born industrialist and supermarket magnate, told his annual meeting of shareholders this week that he found Britain's present financial position "alarming."

The 66-year-old chief of the £108,000,000 Associated British Foods group and subsidiary companies in Europe and North America said "something drastic has to be done to pull ourselves out of the hole."

Weston said Britain must hope that "this little man,"—Prime Minister Harold Wilson—"has the energy and fire to make us all work."

Weston added that Britain has "no alternative but to help South Africa through these difficult days."

"I believe in the future of South Africa and the body of people who are trying earnestly to work out one of the world's greatest problems—a problem that has not been solved in the U.S. and has not yet been solved in Britain."

$4 Million Loss By Curtis Pub.

NEW YORK (AP) — Curtis Publishing Co., rocked by internal dissension in recent weeks, has reported a third-quarter loss of $4,219,000.

The publisher of the Saturday Evening Post and other national U.S. magazines said net operating revenues in the July-September period fell to an indicated $32,313,000 from $35,838,000 in the same period last year.

Latin-America Markets Eyed By Ottawa

REGINA (CP)—The federal government is looking for markets for grain and other products in Latin America, Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said here.

Mr. Sharp said that he planned a trip to Latin America early next year to discuss trade.

"The population of the Latin American countries is growing more rapidly than that of any other part of the world today and the government believes there is a large need for Canada to create closer ties with these countries.

Canadian Papers In Healthy State

TORONTO (CP)—A trade magazine has taken a close look at newspapers and decided they're in good health and may even be on the verge of a boom.

A report, in a 44-page special section of marketing, turns up these facts and figures:

There are 112 daily newspapers in 86 Canadian cities compared with 96 papers in 1941.

Total circulation in 1964 is 4,313,316 compared with 4,190,890 in 1963.

On a typical day, seven out of 10 Canadian adults, 20 years old and over, read a daily newspaper.

Despite radio and television, people keep reading newspapers. Canadians will spend about $82,500,000 this year to get their daily papers.

Canadian dailies will end this year with at least a six per cent increase in national advertising lineage. Revenues are estimated at $191,000,000 with "good prospects" for $200,000,000 next year.

Color advertising in dailies increased about seven per cent in the first six months of this year.

Seven cents is the most common price for a newspaper with 10 cents the next most frequent price. A total of 41 papers sell at seven cents and 31 to 10 cents.

The report says people could not get along without newspapers. Interviews carried out in New York City during the 1962-1963 newspaper strike showed "people seemed to feel that their lives lost meaning without newspaper reports."

Boeing Sales, Profits Show Solid Gain

SEATTLE (AP)—The Boeing Co. has reported sales of $1,459,539,000 and net earnings of $32,315,000 or $4.02 a share for the first nine months of this year.

In the same period last year the aero-space firm's sales were $1,314,314,000 and net earnings $14,045,000 or $1.75 a share. This was at a time when heavy development costs were being charged off.

For the third quarter this year sales were $436,507,000, and net earnings $11,147,000 or $1.38 a share, down slightly from the second quarter. Based on current delivery schedules, company president William M. Allen said, sales should increase in the fourth quarter.

Allen said unfilled orders Sept. 30 this year totalled $1,985,000,000 compared with $1,815,000,000 Dec. 31, 1963.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Dec. 11 to stockholders of record as of Nov. 17.

Arthur Mayse

The Americans have their Thanksgiving still to come, a festival so late in November that one turkey is still fresh in memory when the next doublebreasted monster arrives drumsticks-up at the table.

We Canadians; less or more lucky, have only weekends to interrupt time's flow until Dec. 25. That suits me fine! Perhaps now we can settle down to a few long-delayed minor projects which somehow or other have been shoved aside since spring.

We have a couple of rooms to paint . . . and if earth hasn't sufficiently rewarded the genius who invented paint-rollers, I trust heaven will.

Excellent though fibreglass has proved itself, we've never yielded to it in the matter of flyrods. Our fine old light-weight sticks need minor attention which will consume several evenings. There are colored silk windings to be renewed and the rods could stand varnishing.

Susan's boat had a busy summer; it could use seam compound and a slap of marine white.

We may not get around to all those worthy endeavors, but it gives us a comfortable feeling to review them, while the paint is still in the cans and before we discover someone forgot to clean the brushes after our last bout.

★ ★ ★

These weeks before holiday joys and worries overtake us are precious for other reasons.

The pace slackens; the garden will be less a thorn in the conscience, because who can rake and sweep and delve when the rain-gales slash in from the Pacific. On those late afternoons and weekends, the whipping, streaming world is best shut out by walls and roof and firelight.

So we will read a lot, and talk a lot, and see the friends who have been busy as we since spring. We will walk, too — not in Gordon Head where a couple out strolling must dodge cars and traipse the soggy road-strip — but in Oak Bay and Beacon Hill.

We lack a dog these days and a dog is needed to give such walks their full flavor. But we'll admire other people's pooches, and renew the amiable argument as to whether our next should be a sturdy working type or a daschund like the one who lives down the road.

★ ★ ★

The run of easy weeks will, I hope, bring a further gift. This is the opportunity for leisured thought.

Busy modern life tends to scamp us in that department; and too often, we must think on our feet and hope our answers turn out right.

I find myself today with no satisfactory compromise worked out between the mores of my generation and the new one. If a man must attempt the Roman riding of two horses, it's well if his foothold be secure on each back!

I would like to weigh these two worlds as best I can, and perhaps stumble at least a little way toward a conclusion.

But somewhere short of boredom, I expect we'll put heavy thinking aside, and start haggling out a properly wide trail to the bluffs above the home cove.

We like such work, especially when we burn as we go, advancing foot by foot against our pocket jungle of ocean spray and Pacific willow.

Some afternoon when the sky sits low and the tang of greenwood smoke is sharp in rainy air, we will come upon one or other of the lost evergreen buried deep in deciduous growth. It will be about nine feet tall and probably flat on one side.

But if it isn't—if it happens by lucky chance to be a nicely-pyramided little tree fit for tinsel and glitter, I'll knot a strip torn from a red bandana around a branch and we'll keep that tree in mind.

MY SHATTERED NERVES and shattered windows moans homeowner Hans Norby after Remembrance Day experience he hopes he'll never have again. (Ryan Bros. photo.)

War Dead Salute Shatter Windows

Esquimalt's Remembrance Day observance became a shattering experience for at least three householders.

Following local tradition, a 105-MM. Howitzer was fired at 11 a.m.

Departing from tradition, the detonation shattered at least 16 windows in three nearby houses.

Army officials today were still trying to determine what went wrong. They suggested atmospheric conditions might be to blame; but a contributing factor might have been that this year for the first time, the gun was pointed away from, not into, memorial park.

In past services, the gun was pointed facing the park but this year it was set up facing north on Drake Street.

Major Edward Hobbs, adjutant at Work Point Barracks, said the rocky ground of the area and atmospheric conditions could be determining factors.

WILL PAY

"We have received no official damage claims yet, but if we do and they are found valid, the defence department will pay the damages," he said.

Hardest-hit house was at 1262 Park Terrace, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hans Norby.

"Ten windows were broken—three after the first round and seven after the second round," Mrs. Norby said.

"Most of the glass flew outside but several pieces were found inside. One sliver was imbedded about three-quaterrs of an inch in a tree six feet from the house.

"We were lucky no one was around at the time."

Mrs. Norby said municipal works crews boarded up the windows soon after the blasts, leaving several of the rooms in darkness which she termed "an unnecessary nuisance."

Three double-paned windows were shattered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hennon, 1264 Park Terrace, where glass also pitted the family automobile.

Two medium-sized panes were broken by the shock waves at 609 Drake St., owner by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Badyk.

Farmers Ask Medicare For Everyone

B.C. farmers today asked the Cabinet to extend to all citizens the government medicare scheme already in operation for civil servants.

The advisory council of the B.C. Farmers Institute urged extension of the B.C. Government Employees Medical Service.

A spokesman said this is the first time the farmers have made such a pitch for medicare.

The farmers were presenting their annual brief to the Cabinet.

The GEMS plan currently covers approximately 45,000 people, including members of the legislature and their families.

Premiums are $10 a month for married people and $4 for a single person.

The government pays half the premium.

The farmers suggested this scheme be extended to all members of the public.

It would be adapted to allow employers to pay half of the premiums.

10-MEMBER GROUP

The scheme is run by a 10-member commission, half appointed by the government, the other five elected.

The farmers' delegation was led by Arthur Shelford of Omineca, uncle of Social Crediter Cyril Shelford who represents that area in the legislature.

Their brief also urged the government to set up a land utilization board which would coordinate the use of Crown lands for industry, agriculture, forestry, recreation and highways.

Such a boarde is needed in B.C. immediately, the farm brief said.

The brief also asked for a greatly increased program of rural electrification.

Gala Welcome For Linda

A proud and excited crowd will line the streets of Sidney, Sunday afternoon, as they welcome home their own village queen, Linda Douma — Miss Canada 1965.

The reception for the fairybook princess, who was named Miss Canada in Toronto last week, will begin in Vancouver at 1 p.m., when she will be met at the airport by John Callard, president of the Sidney Lions Club.

Plans are to charter a plane from Vancouver to Patricia Bay airport. Provided the Miss Canada Productions Ltd., sanction the charter flight, the five-foot-nine-inch beauty queen will be back home at 1:20 p.m.

Accompanied by Mr. Callard, Miss Douma will be met at the airport here by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Douma and family, A. A. Cormack, chairman of the Sidney Village Council, Mrs. Cormack and Mrs. Callard.

From the airport the welcoming party will proceed to Sidney in a motorcade, and on Beacon Avenue the North Saanich high school band and the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club band will join the march.

The parade will terminate at Sanscha Hall where Miss Joan Gardner, who was Miss Sidney in 1964, will present a bouquet to Canada's new beauty queen.

At the request of Miss Douma a public buffet-style reception will be held in the hall in order that all the children in the district may take part in the fanfare.

Burned-Out Family Fund Begins Again

A fund to help a burned-out mother and her seven children has been started—by the same trust company that ran a fund the last time she was burned out.

Cash donations for Mrs. Christine Crosby will be accepted by the saving department of the National Trust Company, 727 Fort.

Mrs. Crosby's home at 2741 Victor went on fire about 3 a.m. Tuesday, burning clothes, furniture and household linen.

"We will attempt to meet whatever needs there are in the way of clothing, blankets and food from our own funds," says assistant city welfare administrator Gerry Sommers.

The family has been on welfare for over a year.

Mrs. Crosby and her children were driven by fire from their home at 1020 Queens on July 2. National Trust then started a fund to help her out.

Employees are kicking off the fund with cash donations themselves.

Rustlers Said Running Wild In Province

Vigilantes rode into Victoria today to ask Chief Marshal W. A. C. Bennett to be harder on the rustlers.

From the ranges of B.C.'s interior cattle country came the advisory council of the B.C. Farmers Institutes.

They asked Premier Bennett for higher penalties to be imposed on cattle rustlers.

They said rustlers are running wild because of the light sentences they get if caught.

B.C. laws provide up to five years in jail for stealing strays and up to ten years for rustling cattle from pens or regular grazing lands.

But magistrates in the interior are only imposing minimal fines.

Sheriff Sale Planned For Mural Building

The new building with the exotic Mexican murals on Fort Street near Cook is to be sold at a sheriff's auction here next month.

The building, which was opened by Premier Bennett on Aug. 20, 1963, is owned by Victoria Financial Centre Ltd.

Its sale by the sheriff has been ordered in County Court to satisfy a judgment against the owners favor of Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd., the main contractors.

The court fixed a minimum upset price of $720,000 for the building, which will be sold at a public auction in the sheriff's office at Victoria Law Courts before the middle of December.

"The sale will be advertised across Canada," a spokesman for the sheriff's office said today.

The building is fully occupied; there is a licensed restaurant in the basement and the RCMP recently rented two floors of office space.

The Montreal Trust Company, a beauty parlor, a barber shop, and several doctors occupy other parts of the building.

When it was completed last year, a fierce controversy arose regarding a colored mural made up of 16,000,000 tiles which was put up on the Fort Street facade.

ONE-MAN SHOW

The mural was designed by Andres Salgo, a Hungarian artist now living in Mexico, whose one-man show at Victoria Art Gallery caused a sensation in 1959.

He was commissioned by Victoria doctors J. G. Patterson and J. W. E. Hunt to design, construct, ship and assemble the four-part mosaic, which some art critics described as "deplorable."

MOTORBIKE RIDERS BEWARE

There's a Victim for Every Accident

By PETE LOUDON

If you're driving a car and have an accident, there's a 50 per cent chance someone is going to be hurt.

But if you are driving a motorcycle, keep the splints and iodine handy. For every reportable accident so far this year, someone has needed a doctor.

This is the essence of statistics received today from the Motor Vehicles Branch. They underline a growing concern by safety officials over the trend to motorcycles.

In the last year there has been a 100 per cent increase in the number of motorbikes on the road, largely because new foreign imports mean a boy can put himself on wheels without a heavy cash outlay.

You can buy small machines for under $400, insure it for $25 and obtain 100 miles of highway time for the price of one gallon of gasoline.

There are 7,936 motorbikes on the road today, most of them light, low-cost machines. Between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30, there have been 275 accidents reported which involved motorbikes.

The accident rate has doubled with the number of machines on the road and its comparable to the accident rate among cars.

But where there were about 10,600 people injured in 23,000 motor vehicle accidents, there were 301 persons hurt in 275 motorcycle accidents.

Police are scratching their heads and wondering whether the heavy influx of motorcycles doesn't indicate a need for some special laws.

For instance, there is no regulation now which says a motorcycle rider MUST wear a crash helmet. Helmets can cut injuries up to 40 per cent according to the experts.

And there's the problem of testing drivers. Anyone who holds a car driving licence is qualified legally to straddle a motorbike and take to the highway, whether or not he has ever driven one before.

Only the person who applies for a motorbike licence but who never has held a car licence, is subject to a test on his machine by the testing bureau.

There are places where you may rent a motorbike by showing a car operator's licence, whether or not you have ridden a motorcycle before.

Victoria traffic inspector Brooke Douglass today said: "We don't like to think of inexperienced riders on the street without examination."

But they are there.

He favors a law requiring crash helmets. But there isn't one.

The accident rate probably will bring these things about — after many more riders are injured.

In the meantime, it's up to riders and drivers to take care.

Youth 15, Dies On First Dive

'Pal' Near Drowned In Rescue Attempt

DOUGLAS GILLAN
. . . scuba enthusiast

Douglas Gillan died on his first dive.

The 15-year-old Mount View High student drowned in about 40 feet of water off the Dallas Road waterfront just after noon Wednesday.

He would have been 16 on Nov. 24.

Douglas, of 160 Burnside East, was dragged from the ocean by his "buddy" on the dive, James Nuttall, 22, of 1744 Lee.

Nuttall nearly drowned while making the rescue and was still exhausted from the ordeal today.

Firemen were at the scene with a resuscitator by the time Nuttall towed Gillan to the shore.

Both divers were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Nuttall was treated for shock and asphyxiation.

His young companion was dead on arrival.

Navy divers tested Gillan's rented air tank today, and said it worked properly.

Wednesday's fatality culminated more than a month of SCUBA diving enthusiasm on the part of Gillan.

"He'd been after me for a long time to let him try it," said his father, C. R. Gillan.

Doug tried it . . . and Nuttall this morning told The Times what happened.

"We went in just before noon, off Holland Point," said Nuttall.

With them, standing on the shore as spectators, were friends David Beaumont, 3958 Douglas, and David McGregor, 668 Canterbury, and Nuttall's brother-in-law, Allen Brasch, 1231 Pandora.

"I showed Doug how the gear and tank worked and how to drop the weight belt in a hurry," related Nuttall.

"The sea bottom there is smooth, and I thought it would be a good place to start.

"We went out, and I held his hand all the way.

"After a while, I surfaced because I had cramps in my legs and we started to go back to shore.

LOST FLIPPER

"Doug told me he'd lost one of his flippers.

"I told him to head for shore and I'd dive for it.

"I went down, and I couldn't find it. When I came up, I couldn't see Doug.

"I shouted to the guys on the shore, and they said he'd gone down again.

"We looked in towards the shore and around some rocks and we still couldn't see him.

"I told the boys to get an ambulance. I knew something was wrong.

"I saw a spot of yellow in the water and I thought it was the flipper he'd dropped, so I went down for it.

"The yellow spot was Doug's helmet.

"He was about 40 feet down.

"I dropped his weight belt. I brought him up and put his head on my shoulder.

"I think he was still alive then.

"I started to take him in to shore and there was no strength in my legs or body.

"I fainted some time before we got to the beach."

Brasch had telephoned for an ambulance and the two other youths pulled the divers from the water just as the inhalator crew arrived.

On the crew were first-aid men Jack Gillies and Doug Chudleigh, and firemen Ray Woodbine, Bob Christianson and Bill Stark, led by Lieut. Edward Ball.

Mr. Nuttall said: "I'd kept saying 'no' to Doug when he asked me to take him out, but you can only say that to a friend for so long," he said.

"It was the first time Doug had ever been out," said his father.

Surviving are the mother and father, a brother, Paul, 11, and grandparents, aunts and uncles.

McCall Bros. are in charge of funeral arrangements.

CRY OF HUNGER AGAIN HEARD

As familiar as the cry of hunger in a Korean village is the cry of Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova in Victoria for money to buy food.

Ever since Dr. Hitschmanova organized the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada in 1945, she has conducted an exhausting campaign for funds to feed, clothe and educate children in Europe, Asia and the Far East.

Her job is rewarding. Each year Canadians enthusiastically respond to her appeal, and she is able to return to these far-away countries and see children clothed and housed, who were previously starving urchins in the streets.

But her job is never ending. Each year she sees new babies crying out for food.

Next Wednesday Dr. Hitschmanova will be here to tell you about her recent trip abroad—to tell you what your money has already done in the past—and to tell you what you can do in the future.

The meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Kirk Hall, 680 Courtney Street, 7:30 p.m.

Topic of Dr. Hitschmanova's address will be Tomorrow Without Fear.

Aldermen were holding their first council meeting today in the new legislative wing of City Hall but not in the council chamber.

The meeting was being held in the main committee room instead because Mayor R. B. Wilson is out of town at a special Union of B.C. Municipalities executive meeting.

First session in the new council chamber has been scheduled for Nov. 23 and will include an invocation and other ceremonies to mark the event.

Ask The Times

Q. Can private schools in B.C. hire teachers without teaching qualifications? I mean teachers with no professional teaching qualifications at all.

Also, are these schools under obligation to teach the required work as specified by the public school inspectors? R.K.

A. Teachers without qualifications can be hired by private schools as they are responsible for the hiring of their staffs.

Private schools are not required to teach the curriculum laid down by the department of education but most of them realize the advantages of doing so.

Many private schools are also inspected by department of education personnel, although this is not required.

Canadian Papers In Healthy State

TORONTO (CP)—A trade magazine has taken a close look at newspapers and decided they're in good health and may even be on the verge of a boom.

A report, in a 44-page special section of marketing, turns up these facts and figures:

There are 112 daily newspapers in 86 Canadian cities compared with 96 papers in 1941.

Total circulation in 1964 is 4,313,316 compared with 4,190,890 in 1963.

On a typical day, seven out of 10 Canadian adults, 20 years old and over, read a daily newspaper.

Despite radio and television, people keep reading newspapers. Canadians will spend about $82,500,000 this year to get their daily papers.

Canadian dailies will end this year with at least a six per cent increase in national advertising lineage. Revenues are estimated at $191,000,000 with "good prospects" for $200,000,000 next year.

Color advertising in dailies increased about seven per cent in the first six months of this year.

Seven cents is the most common price for a newspaper with 10 cents the next most frequent price. A total of 41 papers sell at seven cents and 31 to 10 cents.

The report says people could not get along without newspapers. Interviews carried out in New York City during the 1962-1963 newspaper strike showed "people seemed to feel that their lives lost meaning without newspaper reports."

our chefs keep secrets
(from even their wives)

Ask our chefs the secret of their Caesar salad. They'll hint about lettuce flown-in twice daily. That's all they'll say.
Then about Georgia coffee. They'll admit it's ground each morning from special coffee beans. But they'll never tell you how it's brewed.
And they won't tell why the Georgia's succulent beef and Puree Mongole and Parisian pastries are better than anybody's.
There's no finer food in this food-loving city. That's no secret.

Crowd Watches As Haitians Executed

PORT AU PRINCE (AP)—Two Haitians convicted of rebellion died before a firing squad in a cemetery today before a crowd invited by the government to witness the execution.

The doomed men were Marcel Numa, 21, and Louis Drouin Jr., 28. The government newspaper Le Matin said they had lived in the United States, joined a New York organization called Young Haiti and landed with other rebels Aug. 6.

Snow Not Expected for Calgary Game

CALGARY (CP)—Only a slight chance of snow is likely for the first game of the best-of-three-game, Western Football Conference championship series between British Columbia Lions and Calgary Stampeders, weather officials said today.

'Freedom Dive' Made By E. Germans

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—Four passengers dived into the treacherous currents of the Strait of Messina today from an East German Mediterranean cruise ship.

They told Italian coast guardsmen who hauled them into a patrol boat they had been willing to risk their lives to get to West Germany.

Mahovlich In Hospital for Checkup

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League was admitted to hospital today for a complete medical checkup.

Coach Punch Imlach said he does not think Mahovlich will be out of the lineup long, although there is no indication how long he will be in hospital.

Thant Rejects Bid to Delay Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Secretary-General U Thant Thursday turned down a proposal from Canada and two other countries that would have delayed the first shots of the coming showdown over United Nations finances. (See story Page 32.)

SOUTH VIET NAM

Flood Toll Hits 5,000

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The most disastrous floods in more than 60 years swept across 10 provinces north of Saigon today and relief officials estimated 5,000 or more persons have perished.

U.S. aircraft defied downpours and Communist guerrilla fire to ferry supplies to the disaster area and to bring out refugees. The United States flew in more supplies from bases in Okinawa and the Philippines to help cope with the mounting disaster.

Officials estimated 7,000 square miles had been swept bare and isolated from the rest of the country. Thousands of persons were homeless, some areas were almost denuded of livestock, and bridges and railways were washed away.

Flood waters ripped out about 200 miles of the country's only north-south railway and arterial road between Saigon and the stricken area. The lines run to Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, the capital. Officials estimated it might take years to get these lifelines operating again at capacity.

Many of the victims were drowned when flood waters burst out of the mountains in Wuang Tin province, where relief officials estimated 14,000 houses were washed away.

A U.S. military spokesman said 1,400 homes were destroyed in Quang Nam province and 36,000 others were damaged.

WEST COAST PAPER WORKERS STAGE STRIKE

PORTLAND (UPI) — The first major strike in the U.S. West Coast pulp and paper industry in 30 years began today after negotiations for a new contract broke down and an appeal for postponement by Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz was rejected. The walkout affected 21,000 workers in 49 plants in Washington, Oregon and California.

U.S. Decides To Abolish War Excise Tax

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has decided to recommend a 1965 excise tax cut that may approach $2,000,000,000. It would stretch the spending money of almost every person in the United States.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, an overnight guest at the LBJ Ranch near here, reported Wednesday that Johnson had agreed to a basic decision to abolish all $550,000,000 of excise taxes added to the retail price of cosmetics and toilet goods, jewelry, furs, luggage and pocketbooks.

These war-born taxes boost purchase prices by 10 per cent.

In addition, Dillon told a press conference, Johnson will ask Congress in January to reduce still other excise taxes that would add "a good bit more" to the total size of the proposed tax cut.

Dillon said the maximum possible tax saving would be $4,000,000,000. And he emphasized that such a figure was sure to prove too high.

At another point, he spoke of possible action on 65 to 70 different excise levies that net the government nearly $2,000,000,000 a year.

Most experts believe the total tax cut to be recommended by Johnson—and this decision still was up in the air — would amount to somewhere between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

Dillon said he thought "this would be a rather easy bill to pass" in Congress and he expects the proposed tax cuts to take effect next July 1.

DRAFT RING UNCOVERED BY POLICE

SAIGON (AP) — A military draft scandal showed up Wednesday among flood relief, political and other problems besetting South Viet Nam.

Police sources said they uncovered a ring, involving officials in the former government of Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh, that has sold exemption papers to South Vietnamese youths conscripted for military service against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The price for avoidance of duty in the U.S.-supported South Vietnamese armed forces, they said, ranged from the equivalent of $750 to $1,500. That would be too high for peasants, but within the means of wealthy families.

15 Students Under Arrest

By KEVIN GARRY

SASEBO (Reuters) — Police today clashed with thousands of demonstrators throughout Japan protesting the arrival of the first U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to visit the country.

The 2,552-ton Sea Dragon nosed its way through heavy rain into the U.S. naval base at Sasebo and set off a wave of left-wing protest.

While 1,800 police dealt with some 2,000 socialists and students outside the base here, demonstrators in Tokyo broke the windows of police armored cars and blocked traffic on main streets.

National police estimated about 27,000 left-wingers staged anti-Sea Dragon demonstrations in 23 other Japanese cities today.

The demonstrations at Sasebo fizzled out before the strength of the police. They arrested 15 students who tried repeatedly to charge the 10-deep police lines 200 yards from the base's main gate.

Nine persons were reported injured in the Sasebo demonstrations.

WELCOME SKIPPER

The mayor of Sasebo, Japanese naval officers and U.S. embassy official were taken aboard the Sea Dragon to welcome the skipper, Cmdr. Douglas Guthe, 37, of Pawling, N.Y.

The security measure headquarters of Sasebo City collected sea water in the harbor to check on any possible radioactivity discharge from the submarine.

Later in the day about 100 members of the Sea Dragon's crew went ashore and entered the city in small groups, unnoticed by the demonstrators.

The officially-announced purpose of the visit was to provide shore leave for the crew of the nuclear-powered vessel.

The Sea Dragon, commissioned five years ago, has since sailed 140,000 miles, mostly under water.

As the demonstrators outside the base's gate kept up a barrage of chanted slogans, townspeople at Sasebo mounted a small counter demonstration with a fleet of cars led by a loudspeaker truck which proclaimed a "welcome to the U.S. Navy".

The leftists claimed the sub's visit is a step toward introduction of nuclear weapons into Japan.

LACK NUCLEAR TIPS

But Washington officials have pointed out the Sea Dragon and other attack-type submarines in the Pacific Fleet which may call in the months ahead are not armed with nuclear-tipped weapons. They presumably will be in the more distant future.

WIDOWS, PENSIONERS GET BREAK

Britain Boosts Taxes On Incomes, Gasoline

LONDON (CP) — Britain's first Socialist budget in 13 years lifted the spirits of widows and pensioners Wednesday but caused stabs of pain among many others with its increased gasoline and income taxes.

The Tory opposition opened its main attack in the House of Commons today, following up Sir Alec Douglas-Home's initial comment that the budget is only the "tip of the iceberg" in Labor government taxation.

The general newspaper reaction is that the dose of strong medicine is no more powerful or distasteful than had been expected from James Callaghan, 52-year-old chancellor of the exchequer.

Delivering his autumn emergency budget, Callaghan said his main aims were to remedy Britain's big overseas trading deficit, combat inflation at home and apply taxation to ensure social justice for the needy.

SIXPENNY HOISTS

The budget slapped a sixpence (7½-cent) tax hoist on a gallon of gasoline, lifting premium prices to about 80 cents.

It also placed a sixpence increase on the basic income-tax rate, meaning that a married couple with two children and an income of £1,600 ($4,800) annually will pay £233 12s ($700.80) compared with the present £224 6d ($672.07). The new rate, effective April 6, means Britons will be paying 41¼ per cent of wages in tax.

TOUGHER TAX DUE

Callaghan announced he will introduce a tougher capital gains tax in his main spring budget and will also propose a new corporation tax to replace the present 15-per-cent company profit tax and company income levy.

The budget did little to answer the big question of how long Prime Minister Harold Wilson, with a margin of only five in the 630-member House of Commons, is likely to continue before calling a new general election.

"No government would willingly face the country soon after putting sixpence on petrol and income tax," says the Conservative Daily Express.

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph reports many Tories see the budget as the forerunner of an election next May or June.

"The main burden of the April budget is clearly intended to be borne by business and the investor, rather than by the individual wage or salary earner," says The Telegraph.

Callaghan said he is determined to plug tax loopholes and make sure rewards go to workers and diligent businessmen rather than speculators.

He said his measures were important "in creating the climate that will make possible the achievement of an incomes and prices policy. No country in

PAIR BLASTS PATH WEST

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI) — Two East German border guards machine-gunned a safe path through a mine field Wednesday and fled to the west, it was announced today.

West German customs officials at Northeim said the pair, a 25-year-old private first class and a 20-year-old private in the East German "people's army," were not injured as they sprayed bullets in front of them on their escape route.

Pension Test Set Before Flag Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A reliable informant said today the government plans to test how quickly the Commons is prepared to put the Canadian Pension Plan through the next legislative stages before starting the flag debate.

Debate on second reading—approval in principle—on the pension plan is expected to open next week in hopes of getting it into a parliamentary committee to which interested persons and groups can make representations.

An informant said that if it appears the plan can be put into a committee in four or five days the government probably will hold off the flag debate until toward the end of November.

ENCOUNTER IN U.K.

Gad, Sir, It's a Mountain Lion

LONDON (AP)—A mountain lion stared down two British bobbies today and then took it on the lam.

The brief encounter occurred at Stoke Poges in Buckinghamshire, which thus became the fourth English county to be included in the beast's roaming area. He had previously turned up in Hampshire, Surrey and Sussex.

What a mountain lion is doing in the south of England is a mystery. It is native to North and South America but not to the British Isles.

There is some evidence that the roving animal has thought of trying to make it back to the Americas by plane — he has twice been spotted loping around the runways of an airfield at Farnborough.

GOLFERS STUNNED

Astonished golfers at the West Surrey Club in Godalming recently saw him sniffing at the 17th hole.

Near Horsham, Sussex, a woman found him scratching in her garden.

In each case the animal fled.

He turned up today in the Stoke Poges churchyard made famous by Thomas Gray in his poem, Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard. Two highway patrolmen saw him an

Canadian Papers In Healthy State

TORONTO (CP)—A trade magazine has taken a close look at newspapers and decided they're in good health and may even be on the verge of a boom.

A report, in a 44-page special section of marketing, turns up these facts and figures:

There are 112 daily newspapers in 86 Canadian cities compared with 96 papers in 1941.

Total circulation in 1964 is 4,313,316 compared with 4,190,890 in 1963.

On a typical day, seven out of 10 Canadian adults, 20 years old and over, read a daily newspaper.

Despite radio and television, people keep reading newspapers. Canadians will spend about $82,500,000 this year to get their daily papers.

Canadian dailies will end this year with at least a six per cent increase in national advertising lineage. Revenues are estimated at $191,000,000 with "good prospects" for $200,000,000 next year.

Color advertising in dailies increased about seven per cent in the first six months of this year.

Seven cents is the most common price for a newspaper with 10 cents the next most frequent price. A total of 41 papers sell at seven cents and 31 to 10 cents.

The report says people could not get along without newspapers. Interviews carried out in New York City during the 1962-1963 newspaper strike showed "people seemed to feel that their lives lost meaning without newspaper reports."

(from even their wives)

Ask our chefs the secret of their Caesar salad. They'll hint about lettuce flown-in twice daily. That's all they'll say. Then about Georgia coffee. They'll admit it's ground each morning from special coffee beans. But they'll never tell you how it's brewed.
And they won't tell why the Georgia's succulent beef and Purée Mongole and Parisian pastries are better than anybody's.

$22,000 Loss Reported By Transit Firm

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—The Tyee Bus Company, which operates the transit system in Port Alberni and Alberni, asked city council this week for a subsidy to meet an annual loss of about $22,000.

Council met behind closed dors to consider a brief from the company.

The company said that because of its weak financial position, wage levels of its employees are lower than those for comparable jobs in other cities and new buses cannot be purchased.

In seeking a civic subsidy, Tyee said operations of B.C. Hydro's transit services in Vancouver and Victoria are subsidized by electricity users and that the city of Nelson, which operates its own transit system, provides a subsidy for its bus service.

OLDEST resident in Ladysmith, James B. Weir, died Wednesday. He was 100. Believed to be the first settler in this area—he arrived in 1899—he is a native of Scotland. He is survived by a son and two daughters. Funeral services will be held Friday in Ladysmith.

SUBSIDY, OR ELSE, BUS FIRM'S REPLY

NANAIMO—David Swithin, head of the Nanaimo Transit Limited, said here Tuesday his company could fold within two months if city council turns down his request for a $14,000 a year subsidy over the next five years.

Mr. Swithin said his company needs $140,000 immediately to purchase seven new buses.

He urged council to reconsider its decision to have his request studied by a consultant. Instead, Mr. Swithin asked that his request be voted on by ratepayers during the Dec. 12 municipal election.

City council voted at a meeting Monday to hire a consultant to make a study of the transit system with a view to the city taking it over.

'Insurance Shot' Held No Excuse

A Wellington man, who fired a gun during an argument with a friend, said in court today: "I was just making sure he didn't shoot me."

Appearing before Magistrate D. K. McAdam at Duncan, Roderick Fredericks pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace by discharging a firearm.

He was fined $50.

The court was told the incident took place in the home of Anthony Arnold Burrell Oct. 17.

During an argument, Fredericks picked up the loaded shotgun and fired it into the living room floor.

'BIG GUN'

He told the court: "The gun was sitting in the corner. I said to Burrell: 'That's a big gun for a little man. What do you intend to do with it?' "

He said he picked up the gun, looked at it and it went off.

Said the magistrate: "You could just as easily have shot him."

Replied Fredericks: "I was just making sure he didn't shoot me."

Lyle Reid To Seek Duncan Seat

DUNCAN—It isn't yet certain if there will be a contest in Duncan city council elections.

If there isn't, council will have a new face.

Lyle Reid, a Duncan resident for 26 years, announced Wednesday he will run as an alderman.

Mr. Reid, an employee of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. at Crofton, is active in community affairs as a Kiwanian and forester among other interests.

Alderman Bob Mason has said he will run again. Alderman James Saunders remains uncommitted about seeking another term.

Logger, 19, To Stand Trial For Assault

LADYSMITH (CP)—George Carmichael, a 19-year-old Ladysmith logger, was formally committed for high-court trial Tuesday when he chose to be tried by judge and jury on a charge of indecent assault.

Police said the alleged offence took place July 30 and involved a married woman.

Carmichael was released by Magistrate D. K. McAdam on $1,500 bail.

Large Crowd Attends Service

DUNCAN—The largest crowd in many years attended the Remembrance Day service at the War Memorial Cross, here.

The Canadian Scottish Cadet Pipe Band led the parade of members of Cowichan Branch 53 of the Royal Canadian Legion and other veterans.

Esquimalt Salvation Army band accompanied the hymns.

Piper John Low played the Lament, Flowers of the Forest, while wreaths were laid.

Clergy of the various denominations in the city conducted the joint service.

HIKE INADEQUATE, CLAIM WAR VETERANS

OTTAWA (CP)—The 250,000-member Royal Canadian Legion today described as "grossly inadequate" the 10-per-cent increase in war disability pensions announced Tuesday by the government. (See story Page 8.)

In its annual submission to the cabinet, the Legion said the increase "falls far short" of the requirements of war pensioners as set out in previous briefs to the government.
